

DOC Summer 2009 Co-op Stories

Bruce A. Austin baagll@rit.edu

13 July 2009

Department of Communication undergraduates are busy this summer working in a variety of professional positions and fulfilling their Cooperate Education requirement. The present eNewsletter is one edition of a series reporting on the students and their work.

Nicole Sherman (APR) works at the Association for the Blind and Visually Impaired-Goodwill (Rochester, NY) in their Marketing Department. Her responsibilities include creating signage for programs in the organization's store and the agency, writing content for a monthly radio show, and writing articles for a monthly and a quarterly newsletter as well as press releases and media alerts for special events.

Kimberly Reeb (PTC) is Information Security Communications Assistant at RIT and is working on the Information Handling Course designing the course for e-learners.