The public is invited to attend an oral thesis Presentation by Ms. Lydia Palmer on Wednesday, August 5, 2009 beginning at 11:00 a.m. in 01-4287. Ms. Palmer, a Communication & Media Technologies M.S.

student, will discuss her research entitled “The State of Media Education Implementation in Rochester, NY K-12 Schools.”

A series of interviews with education professionals in the Rochester, New York area assessed the status of media education programs in the area’s schools. Interviews focused on curricula currently in place in three grade level spans, facilities and resources available to students, and the degree to which public and private/faith-based schools differ in their implementation of media education programs.
