Hypothesis

The type of digital representation of sign language (e.g., avatar, video and notation) will affect the acceptance rates of the systems and ultimately the efficiency of the information delivery. It is hypothesized that there is a perception of DRSL in delivery contexts.