

The development state of higher education for deaf students and the characteristic of the network education are introduced in this paper. The function played by the current network system and its existing problems are described. To solve the above problems and promote the further development of national higher education for deaf students, a scheme which the network higher education for deaf based on the Internet is presented. The implementation of this project will greatly improve the development of higher education for deaf students.