

Ms. Gina Wilson submitted the paper written for the Writing Seminar.

I am delighted that Adam Merah's essay "A Day Dream" is being so deservedly honored. It is a rarity for a professor to receive such an evocative, lyrical piece from a student in an introductory Writing class. Adam's essay describes the timeless beauty of Egypt through the lens of an international student's poignant experience during his first week at RIT. Congratulations, Adam, and may your writing continue to enchant and inspire.
