

March 2--8, 1973

Published by Communications Services

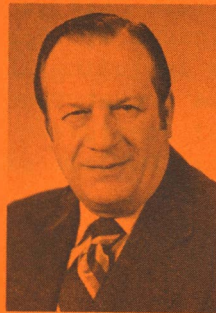

Rochester Institute of Technology

H. J. Raphael Is New Packaging Director

Dr. Harold J. Raphael has been named Director of RIT's new program in Packaging Science, according to Dr. Roy I. Satre, dean of the School of Applied Science and chief administrator for the Department of Packaging Science.

Dr. Raphael brings to the directorship a career in the field of packaging, both academic and industrial, spanning more than 25 years. His most recent position has been manager of package research and evaluation for Avon Products, Inc., at Suffern, N.Y.

Prior to that Dr. Raphael had spent 20 years at Michigan State University, East Lansing, where he became a full professor in the School of Packaging in 1966. Michigan State offers the only other degree-granting program in packaging in the country.

Raphael

Dr. Raphael is no stranger to Rochester or RIT, having participated as faculty supervisor for short-term professional seminars offered here for many years by RIT in conjunction with the Rochester Area Packaging Association. He has also chaired seminars provided by the Packaging Education Foundation, and has lectured extensively in this country and abroad.

Commenting on the appointment, Dean Satre stated, "The program in packaging, recommended by the packaging industry and for which RIT is particularly suited, called for the unusual expertise and background that Dr. Raphael possesses. He can build upon his academic experience at

Legal Education Series

Set By Social Work

The Social Work Department at RIT, in cooperation with area social agencies, will sponsor a series of seminars designed to acquaint social workers and other staff with a variety of legal procedures which may affect clients.

The seminars, to begin March 13, are sponsored by the Social Work Department at RIT, in cooperation with the Monroe County Coalition for Welfare Rights, the National Association of Social Workers, and the Monroe County Legal Assistance Corporation.

Seminars will be held Tuesday mornings at 10.a.m. in the auditorium of the Marine Midland Bank, One Marine Midland Plaza, from March 13 through May 22. Each session will be run by a professional trained in the field.

Topics to be covered include: Family Court; Family Law; Rights to Health Care; Mental Health; Criminal Matters; Welfare and Administrative Law; Education and Student Rights; Consumer Problems; Landlord-Tenant Relationships; Drug Addiction and Rehabilitation; and Social Security--Unemployment Disability.

Registration must be made by contacting the Social Work Department, RIT, 464-2018.

Alley Named Food Admin Head

George Alley of 536 Kimball Drive, Henrietta, is the new director of the department of food administration in the College of Business at RIT.

Alley brings 20 years' experience in the hospitality industry to the position, which he assumed Feb. 5. He has worked at a hotel and gaming casino in Reno, Nev., for a franchise company, and at country clubs, inns and hotels and several resorts. He also has teaching experience at Cobleskill Agricultural and Technical College in Cobleskill, N.Y.

Among his responsibilities Alley will investigate new course departures in tourist industries management.

In addition, he wants to increase the recognition that a foods curriculum is interdisciplinary.

Alley

"We must recognize that the student trained for today is out of date for tomorrow. Therefore, teaching must emphasize principles and analytical processes so the individual will be ready to enter

Raphael, cont'd.

Michigan State, and his close association with industry to develop the interdisciplinary curriculum in packaging design and packaging management now to be offered by RIT. We think the program and the man are singularly matched to provide the specialized education in this expanding field."

Dr. Raphael received his B.S. degree at Michigan State, and M.S. at Oregon State, and the Ph.D. at Michigan State. He holds memberships in the Packaging Institute, the American Society for Testing and Materials, the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry, and the American Management Association. In 1962-63 he was executive director of the Packaging Education Foundation. Dr. Raphael is married and has four children.

The RIT program in Packaging will become fully operational in September.

the food industry prepared to contribute to innovative managerial techniques and function with an expertise that will make the student of immediate value to his new employer," he adds.

About 100 students are enrolled in the 88-year-old program, one of the oldest at the Institute.

A native of Rye, N.Y., Alley graduated from Paul Smiths College in Paul Smith's, N.Y., received a bachelor's degree in restaurant management from Michigan State University, and a master's degree in administration from Rutgers University in New Jersey.

Witmeyer To Chair

School Art Jury

Stan Witmeyer, associate dean of the College of Fine and Applied Art, will be chairman of the staff of jury members who will judge the winners of high school art portfolios from throughout the United States in New York City in March.

Winners win top scholarships to art schools including RIT, throughout America.

The competition is sponsored by the National Scholastic Magazine in conjunction with institutions providing scholarships.

Scholarship Dance

Set By Women's Club

The RIT Women's Club will sponsor a Scholarship Dance Saturday March 10, at 8:30 p.m. in the College-Alumni Union.

Previous plans to hold a Monte Carlo night were cancelled due to confusion over the interpretation of New York State gambling regulations.

All proceeds from the Scholarship Dance will go to the Women's Club scholarship fund.

Free door prizes and a hot midnight breakfast will be included at the dance.

Tickets are available from Ed Steffens, College Union information desk (464-2308), or Mrs. Jean Crawford, Bursar's office, (464-2180).

Spong Named CCE Manpower Specialist

Edwin D. (Ted) Spong, widely known in the Rochester industrial community for placing thousands of men and women in jobs, has joined the College of Continuing Education at Rochester Institute of Technology as manpower specialist.

Spong, who retired on January 1 as manager of Rochester Industries Placement Service, will serve as liaison between RIT and local industries to determine the training needs of those industries and how RIT's facilities and programs can best be used in the industrial training effort.

He was employed by two machinery companies in Rochester in the 1920's, and worked for state, local and federal personnel organizations before becoming head of RIP in 1946. In his job with RIP, Spong aided workers who lost their jobs with one company being placed with another. RIP

RIT To Host

National Merit Scholars

RIT will be host to approximately 150 of the nation's top high school students this weekend (Feb. 23-24).

The students, many of them National Merit Scholars, will be competing for two $9,000 scholarships; in addition each participant who chooses to attend RIT will receive a $50 book prize for his or her freshman year.

The candidates, representing the top applicants to the Institute for the September 1973 freshman class, will meet with department heads, faculty and students on Friday afternoon. On Friday evening, at a banquet in the students' honor, Dean Richard Kenyon of the College of Engineering will speak on "Citizen Social Responsibility and a Relevant College Experience."

On Saturday, the students will compete for the scholarships.

Transportation, housing and food arrangements for the visiting students will be coordinated by Professor Thomas Upson of the College of Science.

is now involved with about 100 local firms and is part of the Industrial Management Council.

Spong resides at 71 Soneleigh Court, Pittsford.

Criminal Justice Staff

Sets Criminology Session

A series of workshops designed to help police, probation, and other criminal justice agencies deal effectively with riots, personal confrontations, and other conflict situations will be held by the Department of Criminal Justice March 9 and 10 on the Henrietta campus.

Dr. Alexander Bassin, associate professor of criminology at Florida State University and director of several projects in police training in community relations and emotional control, will run the sessions.

"We hope to work largely on emotional control and sensitivity techniques available for use in crisis situations," said Father Edward MacKinnon of the Criminal Justice Department.

Father MacKinnon said Dr. Bassin will explain and demonstrate techniques of Reality Therapy as they apply to the juvenile and adult offender and his rehabilitation.

Further information about the workshops is available from the Department of Criminal Justice at 464-2432.

Communication Design Show

Opens In Bevier Gallery

An exhibit of graphic design for communication, including a visual representation of recommendations made by the recently-concluded Brookings Institution Urban Policy conference, will be on display in RIT's Bevier Gallery through March 7.

The exhibit is the work of junior, senior, and graduate students in the Department of Communication Design, College of Fine and Applied Arts.

The Bevier Gallery, located in the James E. Booth Memorial Building, is open daily 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

EVENTS

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 23

VARSIITY WRESTLING: New York State Intercollegiate Championships at RIT, 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

TALISMAN FILM FESTIVAL: "The Beguiled," Clint Eastwood portrays a wounded Union soldier who, after being rescued by the girls of a small Southern school, becomes the subject of seething passions, vengeance and jealousy, 7:30 and 10 p.m., Ingle Aud.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 24

TALISMAN FILM FESTIVAL: "The Devils," Vanessa Redgrave stars as a sexually repressed hunchback nun and Oliver Reed as a sensual priest in this study of religion, psychology and sex, 7:30 and 10 p.m., Ingle Aud.

BASKETBALL: RIT at Fredonia, Junior Varsity at 6:15 p.m., Varsity at 8 p.m.

SWIMMING: RPI at RIT, 2 p.m.

VARSIITY WRESTLING: New York State Intercollegiate Championships at RIT, 1 p.m. and 6 p.m.

AMBASSADOR COLLEGE: Assembly of God, 2 to 5 p.m., Booth Aud.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 25

TALISMAN FILM FESTIVAL: "Finnegan's Wake," Mary Ellen Bute, one of the foremost women filmmakers of the past decade, has made in "Passages from Finnegan's Wake" a joyously Joycean, fascinating and imaginative film, 7:30 and 10 p.m., Ingle Aud.

HOCKEY: St. John Fisher at RIT, 8:15 p.m.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 27

NUCLEAR POWER CONTRAVERSY: Video tape, "Thermal Discharges: The Problem and Some Solutions," A subject of great concern in the production of power by either fossil or nuclear fuel is the discharge of heated water from the plant. Professor L. C. Wilbur outlines the problem in the first half of the tape. During the last half an internationally recognized expert, Professor Laurence C. Neale, director of the Alden Research Laboratories of WPI, analyzes the problem in more detail, 1 p.m., Channel 7

BASKETBALL: RIT at Oswego, Junior Varsity at 6 p.m., Varsity at 8 p.m.

"FUTURE" FILM SERIES: "Universities: Tearing Down the Ivy," Kenneth Keniston and other Professors discuss current trends toward moving university learning out into the mainstream of society, 1 p.m. and 8 p.m., Room A-205, College of General Studies.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28

BUSINESS LECTURE: "Business Success Depends on People," with Professor Herbert Mossien, 8 p.m., Booth Aud.

SWIMMING: Ithaca at RIT, 4 p.m.

HOCKEY: Finger Lakes Championships at RIT, semi-finals at 6 p.m.

TALISMAN FILM FESTIVAL: "Between Time and Timbuktu," Kurt Vonnegut, 7:30 and 10 p.m., Ingle Aud.

AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY LECTURE SERIES: 7 to 10 p.m., Booth Aud.

THURSDAY, MARCH 1

CHEMISTRY SEMINAR: "Marketing and the Chemist," with Mr. A. D. Baitsholts, coordinator of Product Planning, Professional, Commercial and Industrial Markets Division, Organic Chemical Markets, 4 p.m., Room 2178, College of Science

EXHIBITS

WALLACE MEMORIAL GALLERY: Photographs by Herman Goustin, through March 6

MASTER OF FINE ARTS CENTER: Exhibition of work by graduate students in the Photo School, through February 28. (Room 3030, Gannett Bldg.)

BEVIER GALLERY: Exhibition of graphic design for communication by junior, senior, and graduate students in the Department of Communication Design, 9 a.m., to 4:30 p.m., daily

The next edition of News and Events will cover the period of March 2 through March 8. Deadline for material for that issue is Monday, February 26. Send material to News and Events c/o Communications Services, or call 2337.