RIT Trustees Endorse $42 Million Development Campaign For Endowment Funds

The Board of Trustees of RIT has unanimously endorsed a $42,000,000 capital campaign to raise additional endowment funds it says are critical to the educational goals of the decades ahead.

Board Chairman Arthur Stern and Vice Chairman F. Ritter Shumway also announced the appointment of Trustees Walter A. Fallon and Maurice R. Forman as co-chairmen of the Institute's 150th Anniversary Campaign. Trustee Brackett H. Clark, treasurer of the Board, will also assume major responsibilities.

RIT, founded in 1829, will celebrate its sesquicentennial in 1979. President Paul A. Miller said the anniversary years provide an opportunity to take pride in past accomplishments and to focus community attention on important development plans for the next quarter century.

"We have been planning this major capital drive and related anniversary activities for the past three years," Miller said. "In fact, this effort has received priority attention at every board meeting since the fall of 1970."

According to Stern, campaign programs are now being organized, and will extend over several years.

"The Institute is fortunate, indeed, to have three such respected leaders in our community willing to share direction of this vital undertaking," Stern said.

Fallon is president and chief executive officer of Eastman Kodak Company; Forman serves as chairman of the board of B. Forman Company; and Clark is chairman of the board and President of Rapidac Machine Corporation.

In effect, the campaign will meet the goals spelled out in the Master Plan, an effort completed in 1972 that itemized both the strengths and needs of RIT -- and the role it would play in a changing technological and educational environment.

"There will be a concerted effort to establish 16 endowed chairs," Miller said. "At the same time it is imperative that we raise the necessary funds to make our faculty salary scale competitive with comparable institutions."

Jacques Brel Set In Ingle Tuesday

"Jacques Brel Is Alive And Well And Living In Paris," a musical stage production of songs by French composer Jacques Brel, will be performed at Rochester Institute of Technology's Ingle Auditorium Tuesday, December 4 at 8 p.m.

The production is sponsored by RIT's College Union Board and staged by the Alive Company, a two-year-old group that tours college campuses throughout the United States.

"Jacques Brel" was first performed in New York in 1968 and ran there for four years. During its New York run, productions of it were opened in Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and most other major cities.

Development

The campaign, Miller added, is not for major new facilities but for the financial resources that will enable us to respond quickly to the needs of a complex society, and to operate effectively as a private, innovative institution with a long record of service to industry and the Rochester community.

In addition to faculty salary improvement, funds will also be earmarked for student financial aid and scholarships; campus improvement (such as lighting, walkways, inhouse plant completion); new library books to keep pace with today's information explosion, and increased microfilm potential to store the old. RIT plans to reserve a sizeable portion of endowment for innovative educational development including curriculum advancement and broadening the scope of cooperative education programs; and for instructional technology with emphasis on computer services.

The 150th Anniversary Program focuses on educational needs while the RIT drive in the mid-sixties concentrated on construction.

Known as the New Campus Fund, the 60's drive raised $18,800,000 for the move to Henrietta where the Institute has an entirely new campus, completed and occupied in 1968.

RIT currently enrolls 20,130 students, approximately 7,115 on a full-time basis; 13,015 part time, from 46 states and 19 foreign countries.

It employs 1,310 full-time employees, including 440 day faculty; and 463 part-time persons with 375 serving on the faculty.

RIT awards 11 degrees, plus numerous certificates and diplomas, under the direction of nine distinct colleges.

Tennis Fund Committee Formed

The RIT Tennis Fund Raising Committee has been formed to raise money to purchase windscreens for the tennis courts on the Henrietta campus.

Committee founders Paul Peterson and Bob Witmeyer say the courts could be screened on all four sides for about $1,800, and are asking anyone who uses the courts, to contribute to the fund by contacting Lou Alexander's office at 464-2615.

TV Center Has New Portable Equipment

The RIT Television Center now has available a portable television unit which enables the 'on location' recording of special events. The new unit includes the use of two television cameras, lighting units, audio, video mixer with special effects capabilities, a video tape recorder, and an experienced crew.

Once a program is recorded on video tape, it can be played back over the campus closed circuit system; placed on reserve in the library for use on the video cassette players; or mailed to other interested groups who have similar playback facilities available to them.

To make arrangements for use of the new remote service, or to obtain more information, call William Lehman, associate director of Instructional Research & Development, 464-2581.

NTID Tours Planned

The RIT Community will have the first opportunity to tour the Institute's new facilities during NTID dedication activities in 1974.

While the dedication weekend is planned for October 4-6, in-depth tours of the facilities, which will house many NTID programs, are scheduled for Institute faculty and staff on September 27 and 28 from 1 to 5 p.m.

Special conferences are planned for October 4, with dedication the afternoon of October 5. A community open house is set for October 6.
