

Technical Writing – IT Co-op Available

Bruce A. Austin baagl@rit.edu

3 March 2004

A Co-op position at a major Rochester-area firm is available. This paid, full time position requires good organizational skills, technical writing experience and IT (information technology) knowledge. The job involves managing the administration and tracking of various training courses, developing new training materials and maintaining web-based training through utilization of Quarbon with HTML

For more information call, write or stop by and see Bruce Austin.