PTC ('04) alumni Kevin Ptak recently wrote us to alert Department of Communication students to internship opportunities at his firm, Text 100.

Text 100, a global technology public relations agency, is seeking a fall intern to support multiple clients from our Rochester office. We're seeking bright, energetic students interested in a full-time position working and learning alongside account teams responsible for driving awareness around several prominent technology brands. Qualifications include a passion for technology, strong research and analytical skills, exemplary writing, and an acute eye for detail. Applicants interested in this paid position should forward a resume and cover letter to Jessica Troskosky, JessicaT@Text100.com. For more information, visit our Web site, www.Text100.com.

Helpfully, Kevin invited interested DOC students to write him directly with their questions prior to applying for the position: kevinp@text100.com
