

Summer Internship (Co-op) Program for PTC Students

Bruce A. Austin baagll@rit.edu

18 October 2001

The Dow Jones Newspaper Fund is offering up to 12 positions as business reporters at daily U.S. newspapers and news services for the Summer of 2002. Their program is entitled "Business Reporting for Minority College Sophomores and Juniors."

If you were selected, this position would count as one of your Co-ops.

The program includes one week of training at the New York University, free round trip travel to New York City, $1,000 college scholarship and ten weeks of work at a paid reporting job. Applications must be postmarked by November 1, 2001.

Application forms and instructions are available from Cathy Smith, Department of Communication Staff Assistant (cvsqpt@rit.edu) or from the Dow Jones Newspaper Fund, Inc., P.O. Box 300, Princeton, NJ 08543-0300; call 609-452-2820; email: newsfund@wsj.dowjones.com or check their web site <http://www.dowjones.com/newsfund/college.html>
