

RIT Communication Conference Showcases Undergraduate Research

Bruce A. Austin baagll@rit.edu

2 April 2004

On Thursday, April 8, 24 students from six area colleges and universities will present research papers at the 2004 Conference for Undergraduate Research in Communication. Among those presenting are three Professional & Technical Communication students: David Marion, Kevin Ptak and Kayla Zerby.

The conference, the first of its kind in New York State, is hosted by RIT's Department of Communication and will take place in the Student Alumni Union. Attendance at all the day's presentations and events is free and open to the public.

Look for further information, including the conference program, in your mailbox next week. If you can't wait until then, please visit the conference website:

<http://www.rit.edu/%7Epmsgsl/2004%20Communication%20Conference/index.htm>