

DOC Students Have Articles Published

Bruce A. Austin baagll@rit.edu

10 January 2005

Recently, two Professional & Technical Communication (PTC) students and one Communication & Media Technologies (CMT) student had articles published in local media.

Joette Hartman (CMT) has a column, "The Littlest Students," in the new issue of Student Matters, a quarterly publication from RIT's Division of Student Affairs. In the same issue, PTC senior Jonathan Bove has a column entitled "What's the Deal With . . ." And, in the most recent issue of Reporter, first PTC student Brenna Cameron wrote an article on the RIT Kwanzaa celebration.