Michelle Cometa, a Communication & Media Technologies student in the Department of Communication, has been promoted to a new position as Communications and Public Relations Manager in RIT's Information & Technology Services (ITS). In her new role, Michelle will develop or approve communication plans to introduce new ITS products and services, coordinate strategic ITS communications both internal and external, and serve as the liaison to University News Services, and the editors of other Newsletters and Publications on campus. Michelle will be responsible for researching and developing strategies for ongoing communications with all levels of the RIT Community. Congratulations, Michelle!
