

20 Year Anniversary for Communication Honor Society

Bruce A. Austin baagll@rit.edu

22 July 2005

The National Communication Association's honor society for Communication majors, Lambda Pi Eta, celebrates its 20th anniversary this year. There are more than 400 chapters on college campuses nationwide and more than 18,000 students have been inducted in the organization. Membership is earned by outstanding academic performance by Communication majors.

The Department of Communication has had a chapter – Xi Upsilon – for just over three years, since 2002. DOC students eligible for membership include Professional & Technical Communication, Advertising & Public Relations and Communication & Media Technologies majors.

The DOC's Chapter advisor is Dr. Susan Barnes. Watch for information on the Department's Fall 2005 induction ceremony in a forthcoming eNewsletter.