

Science Writing Internship In Washington, D.C.

Bruce A. Austin baagll@rit.edu

8 November 2005

Summer internships at SCIENCE magazine are available for PTC and APR students with an interest in science writing. The 10-week internship in Washington, D.C. carries a $450 a week stipend plus travel expenses; housing costs are the intern's responsibility.

Interested? Please see Ms. VanHemel for more information or write to Stacey Pasco, Manager of the Mass Media program at American Association for the Advancement of Science (spasco@aaas.org). Deadline for applications is 1 March 2006.