$50 Per Quarter

Tuition Hike Announced By RIT Administration

An increase in tuition of 50 dollars per quarter was announced by the Institute administration on Monday, March 23. To go into effect next September, the increase will be used to improve faculty salaries.

Action to raise tuition was taken by the Board of Trustees. The first announcement of the change was made to Student Council on March 23 by Mr. Alfred Davis, director of public relations for RIT.

According to a prepared statement released at the same time as the announcement, the increase will still leave RIT's tuition well below the majority of upstate New York schools offering approximately the same courses of study. When the increase goes into effect, only six of nineteen area colleges will have tuitions lower than the Institute's.

With this adjustment, tuition will cover only 55-60 percent of the actual cost of running the

Evening Division Grads To Receive Diplomas: Paul Miller to Speak

Over 170 graduates of RIT Evening Division's management courses will receive diplomas at the city's largest gathering of business administrators Monday, April 13. Site of the Thirty-third Annual Management Convocation is the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to diploma presentation and dinner, the convocation will include awarding of two service citations and a talk by a local newspaper publisher.

In noting Rochester's 125th anniversary as a chartered city,

Dr. Mark Ellingson, president of RIT, will present Mayor Peter Barry a Distinguished Service Citation. A similar award will go to the Democrat and Chronicle "In recognition of that paper's school. The balance will come (as it has in the past) from endowment income and gifts of business and industry, alumni and friends.

Institute president, Dr. Mark Ellingson, commenting on the tuition increase, stated, "The Board realized that this increase will be a hardship for some students. On the other hand, the Board recognizes its immediate and pressing responsibility to maintain the strength of this institution by increasing the salaries for its faculty. This can be done only as students, the direct beneficiaries of higher education, continue to share a reasonable portion of the cost of their education.

"For those students who find it difficult to meet the new tuition charges, the Institute will endeavor to find assistance for them through loan funds or scholarship aid."

The increase will bring tuition in the Chemistry, Electrical, Mechanical, Photography and the Printing Department to 825 dollars a year. In the Art and Design, Business Administration, Food Administration, School for American Craftsmen and Clinical Laboratory Technology programs, the tuition will be $750 a year.

In addition, laboratory fees ranging to 75 dollars and a Student Association fee of 26 dollars are charged.

Final RAA Dinner

Following an invocation by the Rev. John Demcheck and a chicken dinner, the third and last RAA Dinner for this school year was under way on Sunday, April 5. This dinner was sponsored by Hillel at RIT and the meal was prepared by women of the Jewish organization, Bnai Brith.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Harry Rosenthal, district attorney for the city of Rochester. Mr. Rosenthal was introduced by Hal Goodman, the president of Hillel.

Speaking for RAA, Ben Goldberg (Ret 3), president of RAA concluded the dinner with the annual report of the activities of RAA for this year. He stated, "We have sponsored three dinners, Brotherhood Week, established a silk screen workshop, designed a RAA crest and revised the RAA constitution." Ending on a note of optimism, Ben Goldberg remarked, "I am sure that next year will be a bigger and brighter year for the RAA."

'Study Weekend' Planned by SCF

A "study weekend" will be taken by members of the Student Christian Fellowship at Silver Lake on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 8-10.

Mr. John Adamczyk, assistant minister of the First Presbyterian Church will be the leader of religious study. There is a possibility he will be assisted by fellow Rochester-Colgate divinity students who will act as group leaders in study of "The Meaning of Christ", a book published by the Laymen's Theological series.

The members of the SCF will leave Friday from Kate Gleason Hall and will return Sunday afternoon.

New Date Announced For Alumni Banquet

Mr. Victor Boris, President of the RIT Alumni Association, has announced that the Annual Alumni Banquet normally held during May has been discontinued. Action by the Executive council of the Association has replaced the yearly spring affair with a meeting scheduled to take place in October.

Mr. Boris noted that this is a significant change in the pattern of alumni activities as the banquet has been held during the spring season for many years. Prior to 1954 the alumni affair also served as a senior banquet.

The Executive Council has set October 24, 1959 as the date for the revised program. Tentative plans for the fall affair call for the annual meeting to be expanded to a two day alumni weekend. However, Mr. Boris emphasized that this is still in the planning stage.

In moving the meeting to the fall season, the Council felt that greater promotion and planning could achieve a more successful event. It was stressed that greater planning would be necessary due to the probable expansion of the affair.

Plans are also being developed to increase the class reunion activities that normally take place in conjunction with the annual banquet. In recent years, the number of persons returning for the reunions has diminished. Several members of the Council expressed the feeling that this should be made a more integral part of the program and promotion for these activities increased.

Another notable change will be the location of the banquet. This year's affair will be held in the recently remodeled Manger-Seneca Hotel which was formerly known as the Hotel Seneca. In recent years the banquet has been held at the Hotel Powers.

A series of meetings of special interest groups, such as the "Greek letter" organizations is also being considered for the weekend. In recent months the "Greeks" have greatly increased

Candidates Begin Active Campaigns

With school-wide elections rapidly approaching and campaign week in full swing, the students of RIT will soon select the next president for the Student Association. Election day for the second school-wide election will be next Tuesday, April 14.

Working behind the scenes to assure the smooth running of this election is the Senate of Student Council, which acts as the Election Board of Control. For next Tuesday's election, the Senate has made plans for the voting and a victory party in the evening in which the winners will be announced.

Four candidates—John Beusch and Jack Lloyd running for the office of president, and Jim Anderson and Joe Burroughs running for vice president, have already begun their campaigning with posters, coffee hours, brochures and other methods of publicity. These are all under the direct supervision of the Senate, which makes sure each party is given a fair amount of space for advertising, and that each event meets with the specifications set up.

The actual voting will take place from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. next Tuesday. Two voting machines will be set up in Room E-125, each machine to be used by five departments. Students voting will be required to show their Student Association cards, which will be marked. Their names will then be crossed off a departmental list, and they will be allowed to vote.

Members of the Senate will supervise tabulation of the votes after five o'clock and will count the absentee ballots. The official announcement of the election's winners will come sometime after 7 p.m. at the victory party to be held in the Nathaniel Rochester Hall.

Who's Kidding Who?

A platform is a structure largely intended to support something. And when the politicians chose the word "platform" to designate those principles and policies for which they stood, they knew what the word meant.

RIT is now in the midst of an activity in which that word plays an important role: school-wide elections and the campaigns leading to them. There's one difference, however about the RIT version of a platform—it's about as sturdy as a dike built out of sponges.

If it were a case of only one candidate having an especially weak platform, there would not really be much to write about. But when both have so-called "platforms" which display the same weakness, it's a different matter.

One may argue that there are not actually enough issues at this school on which a strong, effective platform can be based. If this is true, then the election might as well be reduced to nothing but a popularity contest, in which the man with the most pleasing personality wins the presidential gavel. As a matter of fact, the Mr. Campus election might as well be made the presidential election.

With Mr. Beusch and Mr. Lloyd, we find two different approaches to the problem of platforms. Mr. Beusch chooses the method of making a series of vague, generalized statements about what should be done, while Mr. Lloyd prefers to state his policies with questions—"should something be done?" Both are equally vague and generalized. It would be extremely refreshing to come across one definite, detailed statement of fact in either of their "platforms."

A substantially built platform should be the basis for the type of action taken by student government, and the president should be able to stand firmly on it. True, in some cases, campaign promises are just a means of winning an election, and there is no intention of using them constructively. The "platform" is torn down before it can be used. Then there are cases like the one facing RIT now: if either one of the candidates tried to "stand firmly" on his platform, it would probably collapse beneath him. It has to be made out of something a little more sturdy than twigs.

Specifically, let us take the issue of the reorganization of Student Council, which both candidates have advocated (or have they, it's hard to tell). Mr. Beusch states that he favors, "The careful re-evaluation of the Student Council and Inter-org structures." Mr. Lloyd asks, "Can the Council be made to function more smoothly—at the same time maintaining adequate representation?" IF something should be done, what? The voters would like to know. Just one definite, detailed plan from either candidate would be a step in the right direction.

However, these gentlemen have arranged for everything in the last statements of each of their platforms. They both promise to meet any unheralded problems facing Student Council with the utmost of their abilities. There are just two points to make here: (1) nearly all of the action coming up in Council IS unheralded anyway, and (2) this ability, which is the essence of leadership, is so obvious that it should not have to be mentioned at all as part of a platform.

Although Mr. Beusch and Mr. Lloyd have found fine sounding phrases to indicate their abilities to handle almost any situation, they have not made any definite stand.

We Were Just Joking

Although the editors of the Reporter appreciate the power of the press, some people seem to have taken the April Fool edition too seriously. Don't do it. Especially when it comes to Institute pranks. A good joke is a lot of fun, but past students who spent a little "time" can tell you that panty raids are for the birds. Keep it clean boys.

Letter to the Editor

Skepticism Indicated On Tuition Addition

Dear Editors:

Just recently on our campus, a campaign to find the causes for friction between the student, the faculty and the administration was conducted and it was hoped that upon finding the causes they would be eliminated by adapting new policies. I commend the people who worked so hard in formulating this campaign and their hopes for a "brave new college". But I'm afraid that their efforts will go down the drain just as all the other campaigns did.

This past December, RIT held a leadership conference and out of this conference came some very good concrete ideas about how to alleviate the apathy of the student to the school and the administration. One of these ideas that came out of the conference was whenever the administration was going to put a new policy into effect, there would be an open letter in the RIT Reporter in order that the new policy of the administration is not just "sprung on the students".

To sight an example: the new increase in tuition. Why wasn't the Reporter notified in advance, so that the students would have been notified by their school, rather than read it in the local paper or hear it from city people who have nothing to do with RIT—but do read local papers!

Then the administration wants to know why there is student apathy on the RIT campus!

I am writing this letter because I am a student who is about to graduate and I am searching my feelings as to whether I should become an active contributory member to the Institute alumni. I feel that as long as policies such as the above continue, there will never be a strong alumni; until these changes come about, you may consider the majority of the graduating body as "The lost generation".

Success and Popularity Claimed By Admad Jamal

Commercial acceptance is considered somewhat of an enigma. Ahmad Jamal is the case in view. Within the past few months he has risen to quite successful heights; record sale-wise as well as in personal appearances.

His playing is quite pleasant, there is a definite style, but what makes him so popular when there are a number of pianists (with and without trios) who are far superior to Jamal?

To begin with, Jamal has been around for several years. From Pittsburgh, his name was originally Fritz Jones. He changed his name to Jamal, upon conversion to Muslim. His religion, I think, has a great bearing upon his playing. It is a matter of restraint imparted upon him. He states that he is saying with the sweat and fire of an Oscar Peterson. This reserved quality requires a good deal of listening to what is happening, rather than being absorbed with sheets of sound; you are more concerned with detail than with mass.

Upon first listening to the Jamal group, the impression that this is just another cocktail lounge group creeps into thought. After the record is over, an afterglow of what was played remains. This trio works as a well-planned improvising trio, not as three different men with instruments, playing music to talk and click drinks over. Each man has a definite part to produce.

Israel Crosby, the bassist, is outstanding in this respect. His bass lines are rhythmically sound, and are also melodic, more than playing changes. One of the first records Crosby cut was "Blues of Israel" in 1936 with a small group out the Goodman band. This melodic quality was quite apparent then; firmness in sound, and natural concern for thematic statement. All from this sixteen-year-old just discovered by Fletcher Henderson.

Jamal does not overpower the listener with a torrent of notes for measure after measure. His playing contains many short melody and interludes; phrases which imply much more than is actually played. All of this sometimes adds a sameness to his approach, along with his fondness of the upper octaves of the piano. It is distinct, but it can also become monotonous.

To me, there does not seem to be too much difference in approach between the group now (with a drummer) rather than a previous version (guitar instead of drums). His individual technique on piano is good. He knows the instrument, and does not try to make his presence felt by treating the piano as a percussion horn.

FROM HERE to Obscurity

FRED GUEVARA

As I looked over the platforms of the pretenders to the Student Council pinnacles, I couldn't help but wonder why these men, promising dynamic leadership to Mr. and Miss RIT, limited themselves to such static statements. When I talked this over with the candidates, their hesitancy to state specifics was disappointing. Let's hope that these men, surely capable of dynamic leadership, and prove to you, the students, that Council has a chance of being a successful, much improved organization in 1959-60. Points of

The case for air conditioning . . . Have you been gasping for class-room air on these warm days? RIT's modernistic air conditioning system, known as the "will somebody please open the cotton-pickin' window" method, leaves something to be desired. It will be a long time before anything can be done along these lines, and yet air conditioning is a must in any institution of learning. ## Nuclear Weapons Prime Topic for Forensic Society

By Jan Murray

Nuclear weapons experts at RIT? Since September, about forty of them have developed in departments ranging from art, to printing, to mechanical. These students are members of the Forensic Society who have been debating the resolution: "the further development of nuclear weapons should be prohibited by international agreement."

The fact that a solution has not been reached in six months does not seem bad compared to the years the U. S. has spent trying to come to some agreement on this same question.

With less than six major tournaments remaining for the season, Forensic's record of two tournament wins and two best speaker awards taken by its varsity debaters is fairly impressive. Responsible for these four trophies are Kay Finley and Bob Kohler, probably the RIT's champion talkers and friendliest rivals.

The society has attended tournaments at Hamilton, Vermont, Pittsburg, Toronto, Brooklyn and Notre Dame as well as many area colleges during the past year. At all these, they have impressed competing debaters with the size of the squad and the interest shown in debate for a college of this size.

In addition to attending tournaments, the Forensic, with the aid of Bob Kohler, president, and Mr. Joseph E. Fitzpatrick, debate coach, has been active at RIT. February 14 and 15, the annual Canadian - American debate tournament was held at the Institute. Over 15 schools participated in this debate, one of the largest in the area.

March 13 and 14, debates were held in Brooklyn and Cornell. A four man team, consisting of Botsford, Finley, Harrity and Moore went to Brooklyn. Two novice teams were sent to Cornell. Two teams also went to Pittsburg March 20-21.

Remaining tournaments were held at Cortland, N.Y.U., West Point and Rutgers. The Rutgers debate, March 3-25, was an invitational debate held by Tau Kappa Alpha, an honorary fraternity.

manager, mechanical superintendent, public relations manager, office manager and copy editor.

In addition to the editorial positions open, many assistants, reporters, photographers, artists, and mechanical assistants are required. Students interested in working on the Reporter staff in this capacity should make application at this time.

Briefly, the position of editor-in-chief includes overseeing of the entire newspaper production; the associate editor assists the editor-in-chief in supervision and editorial writing; the work of the news editor includes assignment and coverage of general Institute news events; the copy editor corrects all copy for spelling, grammar, etc.; photo editor is in charge of both color and black and white photography; business manager acts as controller of all newspaper advertising.

The alumni editor works in cooperation with the Alumni Association, gathering news of RIT graduates; art director plans center-spread layouts and any art work included in the paper; circulation manager is in charge of Reporter distribution and the circulation room; public relations manager is in charge of press conferences, public relations affairs and the Miss RIT contest; the mechanical superintendent supervises type setting and page make-up; campus editor is in charge of reporters covering campus news events.

All Institute sports events are under the coverage of the Reporter sports editor; feature editor is in charge of material published in center-spreads of the newspaper; the office manager's work includes care of the morgue and general office work.

Evening Grads...

Continued from Page 1 public service in the community," according to Vernon Titus, Assistant Director for Management and Business.

"An unprecedented number of Rochester's leading businessmen and industrial leaders are expected at the convocation," said Titus.

Addressing the management assemblage will be Paul Miller, president of Gannett Co., publishers of the Rochester Times-Union and the Democrat and Chronicle. Mr. Miller is a trustee of RIT.

Miller, 52, who began his journalistic career at 18, has traveled widely. He visited London and Cairo in 1956 to observe the Suez crisis. Last October he was part of a local delegation on a return goodwill trip to Rennes, France. Switzerland, Italy, and Israel were also included in the 1958 junket.

Starting as a reporter in Oklahoma, Miller joined the Associated Press in 1932, and later became Chief of the Washington Bureau and assistant A.P. general manager. Presently, he is a director and first vice president of the wire service. He is also president of radio station WHEC and WHEC-TV.

Management graduates represent four programs offered by the Evening Division.

General Education Head Announces Resignation

Frank A. Clement, chairman of the General Education Division, has announced his resignation from that position in order to resume full-time teaching on the General Education faculty. The change will take effect June 30 of this year.

As successor to Mr. Clement, the Institute administration has announced the appointment of Dr. James W. Wilson who will be the subject of an article in a future issue of the Reporter.

In discussing his decision with Smith, Mr. Clement pointed out that recent growth of the Institute had multiplied the administrative responsibilities of his position at the expense of the more enjoyable occupation of working with students in their educational programs.

After weighing the factors involved, Mr. Clement found that a teaching position would be more satisfying to him.

Mr. Clement came to the Evening Division of the Institute in 1940 as a teacher of effective speaking and joined the day-school faculty in 1944 as teacher of art appreciation, economics, and human relations. In 1950, upon the retirement of Calvin C. Thomason, Mr. Clement was appointed head of the General Education Division, which has, in the last nine years, seen its courses doubled and its faculty tripled.

Mr. Clement earned a Bachelor of Music degree at the Eastman School of Music and for a brief time served as a professional theatre musician in Rochester.

After the advent of sound film he studied accounting and business law at Rochester Business Institute. He joined the Rochester-Erie Foundry Corp. as bookkeeper and later became the accountant and then Secretary-Treasurer of the firm. While in this position, he attended evening school at RIT, earning the Industrial Management diploma. Upon being attracted to teaching, Mr. Clement returned to the University of Rochester to earn a Master of Education degree.

Mr. Clement was for several years critic of the "Opportune Club" in Rochester and has given book reviews and lectures before several local groups. He is co-author with Mr. Calvin C. Thomason of the 1953 revision of the textbook, "Human Relations In Action", used for many years in the Institute's psychology and management courses.

Mr. Clement created and developed the art appreciation and art trends courses for the general education program.

Delta Omicron Sorority Active in Charity Work

founded in 1921 by eight girls. From this original charter membership, the sorority has grown to include an active membership of 51 girls and an active alumnae organization.

The aim of Delta Omicron is to promote firm bonds of friendship and unity throughout the sisterhood and to maintain the high ideals of sincerity, truth, and patriotism in the sorority and the school.

The scotch terrier is the sorority mascot and the red rose, the sorority flower. Black and orange, the colors of DO, have become a familiar sight on the campus.

The Delta Omicron alumnae annually awards a scholarship of $100 to an outstanding senior within the sorority. This year two such awards were made, one to Pat Young (Ret 3), and one to Sally Marsh (Ch 2). The sisters are particularly proud of the high scholastic record which they have maintained and of the Intersorority Scholastic trophy which they have been awarded for 15 consecutive years.

Each year for 27 years, DO has worked diligently to produce their annual minstrel show which is one of the highlights of the year. The traditional opening lines of "You all know there's not a show like DO can throw . . ." bring a torrent of memories of the long hours of rehearsal, the anticipation and excitement of the opening night, grease paint, costumes, lights, and the satisfaction of a job well done which culminates in the ending chorus of "Toot, toot, tootsie, goodbye . . ."

At Christmas time, the sisters help a needy family with gifts of food and toys. With the brothers of Gamma Phi, the sisters also stage a program of Christmas carols for residents of various old people's homes.

In addition to their numerous community activities, the sisters of DO support and are active in all phases of school life and extra-curricular activities.

The sorority is led this year by President Sue Joyce (SAC 4), Vice president is Marilyn Fox; recording secretary, Joan Morris; corresponding secretary, Sharyl Way; treasurer, Joanne Taylor; social chairman, Brenda Armstrong; -chaplain, Judith Chambers; historian, Janet Ross; Balfour representative, Peggy Luther; Inter-sorority representatives, Judith Chambers, Judith De Rocher, and Judith Upton (the latter is also the president of Intersorority Council).

On Wednesday, April 1, at 4:00 p.m., in the Henry Lomb dining room, the Division of Business held a coffee hour for the division students who placed on the dean's list in the winter quarter.

This is the second such coffee hour to take place. The first, held last quarter, was deemed a success. The purpose of the tea was to honor the students who have merited dean's list recognition.

That potpourri of speeches, platforms and promises known as campaigning has hit the RIT campus again. Last Monday campaign week for the school's second school-wide election got underway, Tuesday, April 14, is the big day when weeks of work for the four candidates and their committees will climax in election day.

Four candidates meeting the qualifications set by Student Council are running in this year's election. Presidential candidates are John Beusch (Mech 3) and Jack Lloyd (Mech 4). Running for the office of vice-president are Jim Anderson (Pr 2) and Joe Burroughs (Ret 3).

John Beusch, a third year student in the Mechanical Department, has served as a member of Student Council for the last two years. Working in Council activities, he has assisted in planning the leadership training conference and has been active in the student affairs division.

Beusch's other activities have included membership in the American Society of Tool Engineers, the Mechanical Students Association, Student Christian Fellowship and Gamma Phi fraternity. He has served as social chairman of the fraternity.

Through the Mechanical Department program, Beusch has participated in the cooperative work system and has worked in the engineering departments of General Electric Company and General Railway Signal Company. Next year, as a fourth year student, he will attend school full time.

Jim Anderson is the vice-presidential candidate running on the same platform with Beusch. He is a second year printing student who has served as the secretary and president of the dormitory council of Nathaniel Rochester Hall.

As a member of Student Council, Anderson has served on the Senate. His other activities are membership in Gamma Epsilon Tau, honorary printing fraternity, Inter-org council, and secretary of the Pi Club.

The platform advocated by Beusch and Anderson includes: (1) An adequate, centrally located, used book store operated by the Student Association. (2) The careful re-evaluation of the Student Council and Inter-org structures.

(3) An effort to increase tradition and promote a more college-like atmosphere here at RIT. (4) Training program for Student Council representatives and organization leaders (5) An earnest attempt to allocate every dollar of Student Association fees, insuring the student maximum benefit.

"With the student's best interests in mind, we dedicate ourselves to meet every arising situation with careful analysis and effective action."

A fourth year Mechanical Department student, Jack Lloyd has been active on Student Council this year as a member of the social division and the co-chairman of the student affairs division.

Before coming to RIT, Lloyd attended Broome County Technical Community College, where he was president of three organizations. From 1951-53, he served his hitch in the army, and is now attending RIT on educational leave of absence from IBM. Lloyd is 29 years old, married and has a two-year old daughter.

Joe Burroughs, a third year retailing student running for vice president along with Lloyd, has been a member of Council for the last three years. Besides being chairman of the awards committee for two years, he has served on the Senate, the social division, and election board of control.

Outside of Student Council, Burroughs has been a member of the Forensic Society, Newman Club and Masquer's Guild.

The Lloyd-Burroughs platform follows: (1) What can be done to reduce this communication triangle — faculty — administration-student. (2) Can the Council be made to function more smoothly — at the same time maintaining adequate representation? (3) Is there a need for an honor system at RIT?

(4) Does the Inter-org council best serve the interests of the students represented? (5) Is the Student Union serving the needs of the student?

"Problems of this nature have been successfully resolved in the past by positive action through your support and election the qualified Student Council officers."

Rackets Prepare For Opener

Preparing for its opening match against Fredonia, RIT's tennis squad is working out at the Ritter Clark gym under coach Bill Toporcer.

Losing only two men from last year's squad, Randy Clark and Charles Prey, the racketeers have the nucleus of a team that can go undefeated.

A valuable addition to this year's team will be Dick Greene, who didn't play last year but two years ago was the second man on the team. According to coach Toporcer, Greene, will likely play in the third spot this year, following Alan Lupton and Bob Gelder.

Huffman Wins Trophy

RIT's Jerry Huffman walked away with the outstanding wrestler trophy in the finals of the Niagara Dist. AAU Tournament.

Huffman decided Dick Kohlback of the Windsor Olympic Club in the feature match during last Saturday's activities. Friday night, he pinned his two opponents in just over 3% minutes.

The tournament, which is sponsored by the Central YMCA, was held in RIT's Ritter-Clark gym.

Other RIT wrestlers participating were Ken Klaus in the unlimited division and Ramon West in the 147 lb. class.

Huffman was defending his championship in his division.

Several other RIT wrestlers wrestled unattached.

Charles Mattison and Dick Beals will be fourth and fifth men unless they can upset one of the first three to move up. The sixth spot is still up for grabs among Gene Okun, Dave Drazin and Dick Compo.

This year's schedule includes two teams that RIT hasn't faced before in tennis, Fredonia and Canius. Brockport, Potsdam Buffalo State and Alfred will fill out the rest of the schedule.

Practice will move to the ice rink when the ring is put in proper condition. Home meets will be played at the Ellison Park courts (County Park).

Coach Toporcer also reported that a freshman team would be formed if at least six freshmen were interested. If any students have a desire to form a freshman team, contact Bill Toporcer in the veterans office.

Baseball Season Arriving Soon

Under Coach Lou Alexander Jr., RIT's baseball team is preparing for its opening game against Buffalo State on April 17.

With nine returning lettermen, six of them starters on last year's team, Alexander feels that the outlook is bright.

However, there are some weak spots on the team, the most notable being the thin pitching staff. Besides Marty Smith, who is returning from a successful 7-1 record last year, there is no one on whom the team can rely. According to Coach Alexander, "As long as Smithy is on the mound, we're pretty safe. After that, we have a big question."

Offensively, the team has not been able to show its power since practice is still inside. Although the team is doing limited hitting, the coach would not commit himself about the prospects in this category until it moves outside.

Some of last year's starters who are expected to return are Don Paladino, regular center fielder last year but who may be moved to shortstop; Dud Armanini, peppery second baseman; Zeke Zilka, last year's RBI leader and Jim Wharmby. Expected to move into starting positions are Gary Alger and Ron Shurtleff, both in the outfield.

One addition to this year's team will be Tom Rubla, who is slated to take over the catching chores. He is a transfer from

Hockey Team Captures First In Monroe County League

Mandell's move into an offensive position during encounter with Power's Club at War Memorial.

The RIT representative hockey team, Mandell's, won the senior title of the Monroe County Amateur Hockey Association by one percentage point Tuesday night, March 10, at the Community War Memorial by tying the second-place Powers Club 2-2.

The Mandell's, who had suffered two defeats earlier in the season by the Powers Club, managed to hold them down the rest of the season with three ties and one win.

This year's senior league was started with three teams—Mandell's, Powers, and the Speedy's. Later in the season, the University of Rochester formed a team; though the University of Rochester played in the league, they were not in competition for any title because they were not in full strength as a hockey team. Toward the end of the season, the U of R acquired new players, therefore enabling them to have a complete team.

Another new team will be in competition in the senior division next season. A representative team from St. John Fisher College will enlarge the senior amateur league to five teams.

The high scorer of this season was Don Williamson of the Mandell's. He received the high scorer's trophy, which is donated by the MCAHA, on March 18, at a banquet given by the Association at the Lion's Den. Also in the event, the first-place Mandell's received their trophies from the Monroe County Amateur Hockey Association. With the awarding of these trophies, the season will be closed officially.

Soccer Team Holds Spring Training

To discuss rules and practice times for a soccer team, a meeting was held last Saturday in the gymnasium. Mr. James Dickie, coach of RIT's first soccer team, conducted this spring training meeting. "Anyone who missed this meeting and is interested in soccer can see me for further details," Mr. Dickie added.

Tentative dates have been set for games this fall with the junior varsity teams of the University of Rochester, Brockport, Fredonia and Geneseo State. This spring's practice will consist of practice for six weeks. One night a week conditioning will be held in the gym. Actual practice will be held on Saturday mornings at eleven. "Our future depends on how well we do right now," Mr. Dickie emphasized.

Hoopsters Finish With 16-2

The veteran RIT basketball team racked up its best record under Coach Lou Alexander Jr., when it finished the season with a 16-2 record.

It was also the best season since the 1955-56 Tigers went undefeated.

The setting of a new career record for total points by the Kentucky Colonel, Ed Baucum highlighted the years season. Baucum topped Ken Hale's 3-year-old mark of 1,044 and then finished the season with 1,352 career points. In all four years he reached the 300 points a season goal.

The Tigers as a team, opened the season with a 79-60 win over their traditional rival, Brockport State. They followed their opening night victory with four more, but they dropped a 79-74 decision to Baldwin-Wallace.

Following Christmas, the Tigers rolled to six straight victories, including a 102-69 win over a highly touted Oneonta State. On Feb. 11, though, their winning streak was brought to a halt by Oswego State Teachers College, 58-57. A NCAA ruling about the numbering of uniforms gave Oswego a technical foul and the ball at the beginning of the game, which played an important part in the end result.

The Tigers then finished the season with five straight wins, which included the second 100 plus game of the season in the 103-100 victory over Fredonia.

All five starters averaged in the double figures. Baucum led the team with 325 total points, for an average 18.1. Junior Ron Milko followed with 291 total points for a 16.2 average followed closely by Arnie Cardillo with 289 and a 16.1 average.

Finishing out the starting five were Ken Rhoades, with a 10.1 average while the only sophomore to break into this year's lineup, Don Paladino, averaged 10.6 points a game.

As a team, RIT scored 1,465 points during the 18 game season for an 81.4 average while holding their opponents to 1,204 points for a 66.9 average.

Contributors To The 1958-59 Greater Alumni Fund Campaign

Mr. Eugene T. Natale, general chairman of the 1958-59 Greater Alumni Fund Campaign, has announced the official closing of the drive will be regarded as March 31, 1959. The campaign for alumni support to assist in meeting the cost of operating the Institute began with the mailing of a brochure to all alumni in November 1958.

Mr. Natale noted that the final tabulation of the results of the Fund Campaign are being prepared by the staff of the alumni office and should be available in the near future. He added that despite increased efforts on the part of the committee and the alumni office staff, this year's campaign has not shown marked increase over previous years. However, Mr. Natale expressed the feeling that several trends in alumni support can be noted in the drive. These will be evaluated and incorporated into next year's campaign by the committee.

Listed below are the names of the contributors to the 1958-59 Greater Alumni Fund Campaign to March 31, 1959 inclusive.
