Crafts Club, Lockwood Top Winners Of Annual Spring Weekend Awards

Climaxing weeks of hard work for campus organizations, Crafts Club walked off with the coveted Spring Weekend Trophy for the group participation in the weekend. Presentation was made at the jazz concert Sunday, May 3.

One of the most successful weekends in RIT history, saw a record number attending the Saturday evening dance, where Bud Lockwood (Photo 4) was awarded the Mr. Campus title. Music for the dance was provided by Elliot Lawrence and his band. This group, plus Abbe Lincoln and her trio, presented the jazz concert on Sunday.

Other prize winners in the SW competition were: best float, Crafts Club; second prize float, Gamma Phi; third prize float, Alpha Psi; best participating booth, Delta Omicron; second booth, Art School Art Society; third booth, Crafts Club; best non-participating booth, Gamma Phi; second booth, Kappa Sigma Kappa; third booth, Phi Upsilon Phi; all around advertising, PUP; second prize advertising, Crafts Club; third prize advertising, KSK; Alumni trophy for outdoor advertising, KSK. The Alumni Association also gave certificates to all of the participating organizations.

On Friday evening at the carnival, a door prize made up of the components for a Hi-fi phonograph was given away by the Alumni Association. The drawing for this doorprize was only open to full time day students of the Institute. The phonograph was won by fourth year SAC School student Sue Joyce.

Bookstore Aids Scholarship Fund

The sum of $178 has been contributed to the RIT scholarship fund by the Institute bookstore. The money was the proceeds of books and prints held on Monday, Apr. 3.

Held in conjunction with the maintenance department and the library, the sale featured books obtained from lockers the previous year and still unclaimed, prints and print portfolios, books from outdated stock of the store, and books from collections which had been given the library, and which it did not wish to keep.

Approximately 1,000 books, 123 prints and 38 print portfolios were sold. Eighteen individuals paid over and above the actual price of the items in contributions to the scholarship fund.

According to Miss Margaret Vetter, the bookstore will continue to stock the prints and portfolios for general sale to students and faculty.

"Enchanted Evening" was the dance's theme, and violet, green and aqua trees against an olive green background made up the decorations. A newly-purchased false ceiling, dark blue in color, was used for the first time.

Opening Spring Weekend on Friday, May 1, was the parade and rally in the afternoon. The parade started at 12:30 and included floats from more than ten school organizations. The Holley Central High School Band also marched in the parade to provide music.

An expanded parade route was started on Livingston Park, proceeded west on Spring Street, north on Clarissa, east on Broad, south on Plymouth, west on Troup, north on Washington, and east on Spring to the Quadrangle.

The parade disbanded here, and organizations put on skits to advertise their booths at the Friday evening carnival. Rollie Shoemaker and John Absalom acted as masters of ceremonies of the events. The Mister Campus candidates were also presented at the rally, and the Spring Weekend permanent trophy was awarded to Phi Upsilon Phi sorority, which has won the trophy three years in a row.

RIT's highest non-scholastic award for a male student was awarded to Bud Lockwood as the 1959 Spring Weekend Mr. Campus.

The tension-relieving announcement was made at the Saturday evening dance by Student Council President Jack Lloyd. Lockwood was elected through the votes cast by those in attendance at the dance.

Following the announcement of his victory, the congenial Bud Lockwood said, "For the first time in my life I'm speechless." He went on to extend his thanks to Alpha Psi for promoting him as their candidate and to the rest of his supporters.

Lockwood is a fourth year photography student majoring in applied photography. Lockwood has been active on the RIT campus in many ways. He was this year's Spring Weekend chairman, a member of Delta Lambda Epsilon; he has also been social division chairman of the Student Council for the past two years, and is presently the public relations manager of the Reporter.

To follow along with his social activity, Bud also is a Dean's List student.

His home is in Wolcott, N. Y., and his hobbies include sports and music.

RIT Reporter Staff Chosen for '59-60

Appointments of Reporter staff positions for the 1959-60 school year were made this week, along with announcement of a reorganization in the top editorial posts.

Retaining the job as editor-in-chief will be Mary Alice Bahler (A&D 3); Les Greenberg (Ph 2) will act as managing editor, and Janet Murray (A&D 2) will take over as associate editor.

A reorganization of these top editorial positions will allow the editor-in-chief to act more in an administrative capacity to coordinate all of the paper's various areas. In the past held for a school year, the editorship will be changed to a February-to-February schedule.

Tool Engineers To Hear Editor

Mr. Elmer J. Tangerman, the editor of "Product Engineering," will be the principal speaker at the Inaugural Banquet of ASTE May 11.

The student chapter of the American Society of Tool Engineers will hold its banquet at the Towne House; and various awards will be presented at this time.

Mr. Tangerman, as editor of the trade magazine "Product Engineering," completed a tour of Russia, recently. While in the Soviet Union, he studied the engineering teaching methods used in that country. "Product Engineering" is a magazine of wide circulation in the engineering field.

Awards at the banquet will include student awards for work in RIT's chapter of ASTE and the presentation of the organization's award to the outstanding faculty member.

Jack Lloyd, president-elect of the Student Association, will act as toastmaster for the occasion. Dr. Mark Ellingson, president of RIT, will also be in attendance at the gathering. Dr. Ellingson recently received the national ASTE award for furthering tool engineering in education.

An informal discussion period will be held in Nathaniel Rochester Hall before the banquet to allow members of the faculty and students to meet the chief guest of honor, Mr. Tangerman.

Mr. Tangerman is a graduate of Purdue University, earning both his bachelor and master's degree. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and Kappa Phi Sigma. Mr. Tangerman began his work with "Product Engineering" in 1929 and has held various positions with the magazine including editorship.

Mrs. Bahler will hold the position until February 1960, when a new editor will be chosen.

The new plan also calls for the organization of an editorial board, consisting of the top editors, to make policy, and schedule events for the paper.

As managing editor, Greenberg will be responsible for coordinating page layout and make-up, writing editorials, and editing copy. The associate editor, Miss Murray, will be in charge of assignments, and will also write editorials and edit copy.

Other staff positions were also filled this week. Co-mechanical superintendents will be Dick Ferris (Pr 2), and Frank Sartoris (Pr 2). Gene DePrez (A&D 1) will take over the public relations manager job, and Wes Kemp (Ph 3) will take over the new position of color coordinator.

The other newly-named editors and their posts are; Melvin Gross (Ph 1), news editor; John Taylor (Pr 1), campus editor; John Spear (Pr 1), sports editor; Yvonne Stinson (A&D 1), alumni editor; Arlie Smith (Ret 1), copy editor; John Conboy (Ph 2), photo editor; Morris Kirchoff (A&D 3), art director; Gary Webeck (Pr 2); and Irving Van Silkye (Bus Ad 1), co-business managers; and David Wurtenberg (BA 1), circulation manager.

Institute to Host Local ISA Meeting

A special meeting of the Rochester section of Instruments Society of America will be held on Tuesday, May 12, in Eastman 125 at 7:30. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the latest development in process control equipment. Gerald Atkins, of Eastman Kodak, will present a program of slides and designs. A question and answer period will follow.

The meeting is sponsored by the educational committee of the ISA. Mr. Austin A. Fribance of RIT's Mechanical Department is a member of the committee. Anyone interested in the meeting is cordially invited.

RIT Needs Its Alumni

In less than two weeks, over 800 students will participate in the Institute's convocation exercises at the War Memorial. Of the 800, a good number will return for further schooling, but the rest will go into the "wide, wide world" and become members of RIT's ever growing alumni. As graduates, they will automatically become members of the Alumni Association.

Much has been written about the Association, some good, some bad. Now, when seniors are leaving the Institute, is the time to view the accomplishments and contributions of the Association.

In recent years, the Alumni Association has expanded with the addition of new personnel and setting up of the Alumni Relations Office in Nathaniel Rochester Hall. This separated the office from the Evening Division where it had previously been located.

This year, as in past years, the Association has been responsible for the mailing of the Reporter to all alumni. Mailing plates have also been established for the fraternities and sororities on campus, in order to enable them to have contact with their alumni members.

The RIT Tech Tournament, held for the first time this spring saw active support by the alumni organization. Speaking of spring brings up Spring Weekend, where the Association donated a door prize and presented an outdoor advertising trophy.

All of these things students see. Behind the scenes, the Alumni Association also functions to make RIT a better place in which to go to school, and to add to the Institute's prestige.

First on this list is alumni contributions to the scholarship fund, both by individuals and from the general alumni fund. These gifts have allowed many students to continue their educations.

Alumni chapters have held meetings throughout the year, a healthy sign of what might be a new era in their participation. Members of the Association have even attended the inaugurations of college presidents as the representatives of the Institute. Assistance to other alumni groups from RPI, Clarkson, Lawrence and Baldwin-Wallace have helped improve RIT's public relations.

Last year, the final issue of the Reporter for the school year carried an editorial in which this paragraph appeared. It is still timely, and still applies to the situation:

"Beneath our thin shell of concrete lies a terrific potential. Although our institute is 128 years old, it is a young college. It is a restless college, a college on the move, a college bound to grow. The future of RIT looms bright. It is you, our present alumni and our alumni to be, who will make it bright. Within your numbers is a strength of unity which could wield tremendous influence. We need this strength: we need you."

Heaps of Laurels

With the big weekend past, RIT looks decidedly barren without tons of advertisement floating about. Spring Weekend, 1959, is over.

From the Clark Tower, the festivities were a huge success. Publicity was good (both Rochester dailies gave good coverage), participation was good (biggest crowd at a Saturday dance), and a new winner emerged to collect the weekend trophy.

A closely knit and very small group, the Craft Club, walked off with the coveted Spring Weekend trophy this year. While fraternities and sororities and larger clubs racked their brains for ideas, this small group took the honors. No offense intended against the Greeks, but it is a welcome change.

Heaps of laurel should go to all those brave souls who worked long hours in planning Spring Weekend, and a truckload of laurel to the Craft Club.

Forensic Society Again Victorious

Good habits are hard to develop—but not for the Forensic Society. Again last weekend, RIT copped both trophies in a debate tournament at Cortland. Kay Finley was judged best affirmative speaker, and the four man team consisting of Bob Kohler, Charles Botsford, Joe Burroughs and Kay Finley won the over-all tournament. This was both Finley's and Kohler's last debate after four years of inter-collegiate competition and membership in the Forensic Society.

Kohler, president for the past two years and Mr. Joseph E. Fitzpatrick, coach of debate, were quite pleased with the winless record of the society this year. RIT was the only college in the area to win any tournaments.

On Monday, April 20, a group of debaters left for a long weekend at West Point and N. Y. U. The national debate tournament is being held at the Point this year for the top schools from all over the country. Although RIT is not entered in actual competition, a few practice rounds were scheduled with the cadets.

After viewing the afternoon debates, the team was entered in the N. Y. U. debate. This debate will conclude the year's activities for the Forensic Society.

Norton Named Assistant

Russell A. Norton today was named Assistant Director for Applied Science for the Evening Division of Rochester Institute of Technology, according to Division Director Burton E. Stratton.

Norton, who has been associated with the Institute since 1946, has previously held the title of Assistant Director for Industrial Technology. In his new post he will have direct responsibility for heading up the new Bachelor of Science Degree Program in the mechanical and electrical areas of study of the division.

Norton, with degrees from Middlebury College and the University of Michigan, resides at 184 Harding Road, Rochester.

FROM HERE to Obscurity

FRED GUEVARA

A final word about Student Council reorganization . . . With the defeat of a plan for a smaller Council, written and endorsed by a committee including the president and the president-elect of Council, the group will assuredly consist of sixty-plus members again next year.

Credit for the fact that the group will remain large and unwieldy is largely attributable to Mr. Bob Kohler who, snowed the group with his fine debating abilities. Congratulations, Bob. It is because of your salesmanship that the plan for a Council parliamentary circus, which could find no supporters in the early part of the meeting, was favored over a practical twenty-one member Council, so sorely needed at RIT.

I thank you and MEMO thanks you . . . this will assure him of a job next year.

The turtle tips his shell to the winning organizations in the Spring Weekend competition . . . to the outstanding Camera Club exhibition, the photographs reflect the progress of the nation's top photo school . . . to the people who worked so hard to change the Senior Banquet to a Senior Ball that ended up with a $2-a-head luncheon in the gym . . . and lastly, to the fall of the Eastman Building!

Letter to Editor

Student Disappointed About Social Program Offered by RIT Groups

Dear Editor:

Last September, I transferred from an all men's college to RIT with great anticipation of a well rounded, variegated social program. Although I am fairly satisfied with the academic side of the sphere, I am very disappointed to see the students of this college still clinging to the sentiments of high school.

When nothing is done about departmental segregation of the males and females in classes, when certain tables are reserved for certain groups in the snack bar, and worst of all, when men and women are reprimanded and practically ostracized by their respective fraternity or sorority for dating outside the coteries, then it is time for an outsider to expose this as an antiquated, snobbish, and sharply defined social caste system.

Aren't cliques a pretty good sign of puerility and insecurity in the ranks? Hasn't anybody in this college ever heard of individual autonomy? Let me say that a lack of social mobility and adequate communications is strongly synonymous with student apathy, and I think that few people will doubt that apathy is in all its full bloom and glory here. But, as Huxley says in his Brave New World, "You pays your money and you takes your choice."

Eye Transplants Now Successful, Sight is Restored

Wouldn't the students of RIT be lost without their eyesight?

For restoring the sight of an awaiting blind person through the modern miracle of corneal transplant, the Rochester Eye Bank and Research Society has already achieved a notable record. So far it has furnished 300 eyes used in the surgical restoration of sight.

The independent incorporated organization with its volunteer officers and supporting workers has already the names of over 13,000 persons who have pledged their eyes. In 1935 as the result of a one night campaign in Rochester and Monroe County, the Eye Bank was able to provide a $3,000 grant and $600 fellowship for the use by the University of Rochester Medical Center in the support of eye research.

The donation of one's eyes will not disturb appearance after death. Eyes have to be removed when the cornea is healthy. All major faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—have endorsed the humanitarian work done by the Eye Bank.

Panel Discussion Held by STWE

The Society of Technical writers and Editors held their second panel discussion of the year on the subject of training technical writers at their April meeting.

Although a previous meeting on the same subject was held two months ago, the two were not interrelated.

Highlighting the meeting were talks given by Robert G. Koch of the General Education Department who, from a recent survey, found out that the majority of persons in the club favor technical writing instruction rather than advertising, reports, catalogues and other areas.

Once upon a time there was a little college named RIT. The students there were very industrious, but one weekend each Spring they lay down their books to spend a weekend in fun and merrymaking.

Each year the students would decide upon a different theme for their weekend. This year they had decided to take a trip to "Storybook Land." And so opens the story of Spring Weekend 1959.

However, even before their weekend began, the RIT campus was visited by statues of Pinochio, Mice, Riverboats and other "Storybook Land" characters.

On Friday afternoon, a gala parade led by a marching band wended its way along Clarissa Street, to Broad Street, Plymouth Avenue and other local thoroughfares. Following the parade the students gathered before the Rochester City Bandstand for a rally. All the weeks of mental and physical preparation were climaxed that evening as a carnival air pervaded the Ritter-Clark ice rink.

Saturday, after a pause to catch their breaths, they all joined the Elliot Lawrence Orchestra in the Ritter-Clark Forest for an evening of dancing.

Jazz at the gym was the keynote Sunday afternoon, as Abbe Lincoln and the Lawrence orchestra polished off the weekend with songs and a blare of the trumpets.

In the future when reading stories to their children, those people who were a part of the Spring Weekend 1959 can turn back to these pages and re-live the days they spent in "Storybook Land."

The photographs on this page were taken by John Conboy, Leslie Greenberg and Bucky Hoeffler. The layout is by an Art and Design student, Dick Burandt.

Oswego Defeats Baseball Team

Tennismen Rout Potsdam

Alan Lupton, with a 6-4 and 7-5 win over Johnny Burrows of Potsdam, led RIT to a 7-2 victory over the visiting teachers last Saturday.

The win for Lupton marked his 10th straight in college competition. He is yet to be defeated. RIT took five of the six singles matches and 2 of three of the doubles. Bob Gelder, bouncing back from his loss to Brockport last Wednesday, swamped Groves 6-0 and 6-2. Dick Greene turned in two love sets over Schwartz, while Dick Beals then stopped Worthington 6-1 and 6-3. The only match in singles lost by RIT was by Jerry Mattison as he dropped a 2-6, 6-2, and 6-4 decision to O'Reilly of Potsdam.

Brockport Ruins Tennis Record

Hopes of an undefeated tennis season went fizzling last week as Brockport State Teacher's College edged RIT's netmen 5-4. Alan Lupton kept his perfect record intact by routing Morrie Dzwigal. After losing his touch in the first set which he lost 6-1, Alan came back to top Dzwigal in the next two 6-1, 6-1. Bob Gelder had his nine match winning streak broken though, as he fell victim to Tom Pope 6-2, 4-6, and 7-5.

Lupton and Okun combined to take the first doubles while Compo and Drazin dropped a 6-3 and 6-4 match to Groves and Worthington. Potsdam forfeited a singles and doubles match.

Dick Greene picked up RIT's only other win in the singles as he topped Dick Freed 6-2 and 6-4. Jerry Mattison, Dick Beals and Gene Okun were each beaten by their Brockport opponents.

Gamma Phi Victor

Gamma Phi remained unbeaten in IFC softball as they downed Theta Gamma 6-4 last week.

After Lupton and Mattison and Gelder and Greene won their matches to tie the score at 4-4, Bill Steele and Dick Zaretsky stopped Beals and Okun 7-5 and 6-0 to take the match for the teachers.

Four runs in the bottom of the third carried GP to a 5-4 lead which they held for the rest of the game. They added an insurance run in the bottom of the sixth.

The loss dropped the Tigers record to 1-1 on the year.

Albertson was on the mound for the losers while Moffit tossed the pitches for Gamma Phi.

Smith Stops Brockport; Halts Tiger Losing Streak

Marty Smith's six hit, one run pitching performance broke the RIT's 4 game losing streak as the Tigers upset Brockport 3-1.

Gaining revenge for the 2-1 defeat he suffered at Golden Eagle's hands the previous week, Smith struck out 9 as he was credited with his third win of the year. Brockport was able to collect 6 hits off the southpaw's tosses but in the clutch, Smith stopped them cold.

RIT Bows in 1-Hitter

Sam DiGinnaro, a Brockport State senior, pitched a one-hitter against RIT as the Tigers lost their second game in a row 2-1.

Marty Smith, RIT's star southpaw gave up only five hits himself, but single runs in both the sixth and seventh innings brought his downfall. His record is now 2-2 while the Tigers as a team stand a 2-3.

However, DiGinnaro gave up but one hit while striking out 16 and didn't pass anybody. Smith struck out 9 but walked 4.

Don Paladino got RIT's only hit and scored the run, which was unearned.

Golf Club Formed

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Mitchell, a golf club has been formed at RIT.

It is hoped that this club is to be the forerunner of an inter-collegiate golf team possibly next year or the year after.

However, the club still has no coach nor place to play. This year it has been able to arrange matches with surrounding colleges in place of the cancelled matches.

At the present time there are 17 members in the club, with the ones who have had the lowest practice score being given the call to play in the matches.

Oswego Wins

Led by center fielder Tom Flaherty's 3 hits, Oswego State Teachers College handed RIT its fourth straight defeat 5-3 at the Genesee Valley Park last Saturday.

Flaherty and shortstop Maru combined to produce four of the Teachers five runs. Flaherty who was 3 for 4 at the plate and drove in three runs, while Maru had one run-batted-in as he collected two hits including a double in four times at bat.

Armanini, Alger, and Dengler supplied the power for the Tigers as they collected seven of the ten RIT hits. Kubala and Armanini had doubles for the home team.

Theta Gamma

With Spring Weekend now past the brothers of Theta Gamma are looking forward to May 15, their annual Dinner Dance. This year the dinner dance is being held at the Echo Valley.

At the recent convention of Theta Gamma fraternity here in Rochester, RIT's Sigma chapter received the Payson Trophy, awarded annually to the outstanding chapter. Along with this award came the grand historian award.

Theta Gamma recently became the recipient of the RIT Red Cross blood drive trophy for giving 110 percent participation of the brotherhood.

Summer marriages are in store for brother John Bartholomew who will marry Betty Dunn, and brother Jerry Sahlin who will marry Pat Hutt.

Newly elected officers of TG include: president, Larry Albertson; vice president, Dick Martin; secretary, Andy DeMarco; treasurer, Bruce Jaworski; corresponding secretary, Corky Burt; chaplain, Don Boyle; and historian, John Channell.

Kappa Sigma Kappa

Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity now owns and operates the second fraternity house on campus. In the planning stages for quite a while, the house recently acquired Miss Margaret Lawrence as house mother. Brothers spending summer vacation in Rochester are planning some extensive remodeling to be completed by the coming school year.

Much advice and help was received from Theta Gamma in obtaining KSK's new house.

Anyone want to buy a river boat? KSK followed the Spring Weekend theme with "Life on the Mississippi." After many sleepless nights, the brothers were proud to do their share in the weekend festivities.

Tomorrow night, May 9, KSK's dinner dance will close out the fraternity year. At the dance, awards will be presented for the Brother of the Year, the Richard Sperlic Award, the Bull Thrower Award and the Grade-Point Average Award.

The Richard Sperlic Award is given to a faculty member that the fraternity feels has done the most to further the progress of the school and student body. After being retired for two years, this year the trophy will be presented to Dr. James Wilson for his work with the Middle Atlantic States Accrediting Association and RIT's accreditation. Dr. Wilson was recently named as head of the General Education Department.

Kappa Sigma Kappa wished to congratulate Joe Zigadlo who was married to Jeanette Vandenberg and Joe Sperazza, who was married to JoAnn LaVolla. Ken Tornval recently pinned Barbara Magin and Steve Tregnaghi pinned Helen Cestelli.

Alpha Psi

New officers of Alpha Psi were elected for the coming year on Wednesday, April 29.

Alpha Psi was recently honored by receiving the Inter Sorority Scholastic Award given to the sorority with the highest cumulative average for the last quarter of last year and the first two quarters of this year.

Fun was had by all who attended last Saturday's party given by the brothers of Theta Gamma. Other chapters of Theta Gamma were also there and new and old acquaintances were established.

As the sisters look back to the beginning of the year, one can hardly believe that a year could have gone by so quickly and eventfully. The sisters of Alpha Psi would like to wish each and everyone a wonderful summer vacation and especially good luck on finals which are coming up soon.

Congratulations to alumni sister Joanne Bruno who recently became engaged.
