Guest Educator Discusses 'Qualities of Leadership'

"The ability of an individual to unify a group by personal understanding and the manipulation of symbols constitutes leadership," expressed Dr. Ralph W. Tyler at the final session of the annual Leadership Training Conference Thursday, Jan. 21.

Dr. Tyler, head of the Center for the Advanced Study of Behavioral Sciences located at Stanford University, discussed the techniques, qualities, and operations of leaders. These depend essentially upon the purpose of a group.

"A leader must be mindful of two things," declared Dr. Tyler, "the needs of the group, and the task to be accomplished."

"It is fundamental," he continued, "that the members of a group be known to each other. Every group must have one person capable of and willing to express the goals and ideas of all participants."

Autocratic vs democratic methods of leadership were judged by Dr. Tyler to depend on the particular group and what is expected of it to become effective.

This is the twenty-ninth year that Dr. Tyler has visited RIT to address students and attend various convocations with the faculty.

Theta Gamma Fined By Inter-Fraternity

Breaking of rules cannot be taken lightly; this is the philosophy of RIT's Inter Fraternity Council.

In a decision made last week it was decided that Sigma Theta Gamma fraternity should be fined for an infraction of rules.

All fraternities sent out their bids on Tuesday morning, January 12. Sigma Theta Gamma, in what Fraternity President Larry Albertson alleged was an act of negligence, sent out their bids one day ahead of time. Tried and found guilty, they were given a choice of penalties. Before them was a choice of 1) a larger fine or 2) a smaller fine and having this infraction printed in the Reporter. They chose the second option.

In other business carried on at last week's meeting Sigma Theta Gamma fraternity brought action against Sigma Pi Colony for destruction of snow sculptures in front of the Burke House at Washington and Spring Streets.

Plans for Drive Made by Alumni

Plans for the RIT Greater Alumni Fund Campaign for 1960 are progressing rapidly, according to Messrs. James Hayden, Mech. '38 and Harold Roberts, Ret. '50, co-chairmen of the fund drive.

The program is built around the need not only for additional funds but for a greater number of participating alumni. Last year's percentage of participating alumni was 5.3 percent of the 11,000 alumni and friends solicited.

Percentage of participating alumni is becoming increasingly important according to members of the committee. This figure is frequently used by foundations and corporations in determining the aid which is given to a particular college.

According to Paul C. Hassenplug, Institute Director of Alumni Relations, the percentage of alumni participating in the RIT Find is "well below" the national average which is approximately 24 percent. He also stated that RIT's figure is well below that set by other institutions of similar character.

In discussing the forthcoming campaign, Mr. Hayden stated that RIT needs "an ever increasing and broadening base of support", if it is to remain financially strong enough to carry out its role in today's system of higher education.

Operations of Council Explained to Members

Orientation of Council representatives by members of the executive committee composed the greater part of the Jan. 25 Student Council meeting. A report to Council about the mailing of the Reporter to students on work block, announcement concerning the sale of class rings, and two items of new business completed the meeting.

After the usual division reports the Student Council representatives were given brief information talks by the five division heads of the Council's executive branch: Joe Burroughs (Ret 4), Legislative and Financial Division; John Beush (Mech. 4), Leadership Division; John Sturge (Photo 3), Student Affairs Division; Jim Brennan (Pr 3), Publicity Division and Fred Guevara (Photo 4) Social Division.

"I would like to recognize at this point that all division heads have done a fine job so far this year," President Jack Lloyd related to the Council at the conclusion of the orientation session.

Ring committee reported that a policy has been instituted and will be carried out henceforth that students can only buy class rings in the year prior to graduation. This move was instigated to give more prestige to graduating students, the ring committee related at a previous Council meeting.

The possibility of students on work block receiving the Reporter in the mail was investigated. A member of the Reporter staff told Council members that there were two possibilities.

First, if enough students were interested (about 400) the Institute's mail room may consider mailing the publication. Second, in the event that not enough people showed an interest in the first proposal students would have to pay themselves to get the Reporter by mail, (a fee of $.75-$1.00 per three months would be charged). Representatives were directed to poll their constituents to determine how many students would be interested in the program.

"This is the first of a number of proposals I am going to introduce to Council in an effort to improve our student government the way I think it should be to operate efficiently."

With this introduction Student Council President, Jack Lloyd, started a program to make major changes in the operation of RIT's Student Government.

His first proposal, which was withdrawn due to lack of support, was that the Council secretary be elected on a school-wide basis as is the president and vice-president.

Arguments against the proposal were that a "campus queen" not qualified for the job might get elected and that since the secretary was concerned mainly with Council business and not the entire Student Association, the Council should be able to elect its own secretary.

Dorm to Sponsor Films

"Due to the difficulties encountered in reaching a working arrangement with the Men's Dormitory Council for the running of the movie program TEP fraternity is pulling out of the program."

TEP originators of the Sunday feature movie program joined forces with the Dorm group after running the first two movies themselves. When it was learned that the council wanted the dorm dining area for the same purpose as TEP and that they had priority, the fraternity agreed to join with them.

Now that TEP has pulled out of the program, the Men's Dormitory Council plans to continue the movie program on its own.

The Rewards are Many: The Effort Slight—Give!

Only a pint, and it takes but five minutes to give. Such a small inconvenience which may save a life, give hope to a sick child, strength to a new mother, existence to a disaster victim.

Each year millions of people give blood, yet each year the demand increases until it has become greater than the supply. Your one pint may seem small and insignificant but multiplied by all other people who should furnish blood to this cause, the supply might meet the demand.

Let's be realistic. Most of us are strong, healthy human beings — we could give — we should give. This sacrifice is basic to our life on earth, a debt to our existence.

Student Council has offered a trophy to be presented to the fraternity which gives the most blood, and the same for a sorority. These trophies to the "bloodiest" fraternity and sorority are an incentive that should not exist. The stimulus to give should be inborn.

On the other hand, the sorority and the fraternity which win these trophies have justification to a greater dignity than that which accompanies all the scholastic and athletic awards combined.

For all those who will be unable to attend when the bloodmobile is here on Wednesday, Feb. 17. The blood center located at 276 Clinton Avenue South is open every Wednesday from twelve noon to five p.m. Accounting for the trophies will be held up one week in order to give all a chance to participate.

Sign up in the lobby of the Eastman Building today, give on Wednesday Feb. 17.

RIT Will Host News Conference

Newspaper editors and staff members from twelve colleges have been invited to attend RIT's first College Newspaper Conference on Friday, Feb. 12.

The conference program will include clinics on news and feature writing, editorial writing, advertising, photography, art work, printing and public relations. Panel discussions, composed of students from the visiting colleges, will be held on newspaper staff organization and college newspaper ethics and policy.

Co-sponsored by The Democrat and Chronicle, The Times-Union, and the Rochester Institute of Technology, the conference program participants will hear from members of the Democrat and Chronicle, Times Union, local advertising people and members of the Reporter staff.

Barking Dog Now Has Teeth

Rules are made to be observed. This is really a very silly thing to say, yet at RIT the rules which are set up by Inter-Fraternity Council in the past were completely unenforceable. This year we are pleased to note a change in the character of this body.

Previously if an infraction such as damage to another fraternity's house would occur there was very little that could be done to rectify the situation. Those who were around last year will see a marked difference in the attitudes of the various fraternities toward their brother fraternities during this pledging period. More and more emphasis seems to be on development of the man and not to see how much he can take.

IFC is to be congratulated for being a group of men who can make fair and just rules. There's more to it than this. These rules have been accepted by each of the four fraternities and it appears as if they are all abiding by them. Now that a lot of the pranks have been cut out, one would think that a pledge would have more time.

We suggest that this time be put to the improvement of the student and perhaps in a contribution to the community. Let's show the people of Rochester that RIT has a heart and that we have grown past the stage of the average college student. If we now think that we are more mature, then let's go out and prove it.

Are The Elevators Running?

"Are the elevators running," is getting to be the favorite question around the men's dormitory in recent months. There seems to be a persistent breakdown of the elevators with some of the blame being cast solely upon the men residents.

From the adult-advisors viewpoint, we can agree with them on some of their aspects. Overloading the elevators has been a prime evil with the students. Most of this overloading takes place when they are rushing for classes or when they are just plain "showing off." The point of "no smoking" serves the purpose where in case of an elevator breaking down between floors and a fire starting in the "elevators well" simultaneously could be disastrous. We may be pessimists, but accidents do happen, for if we could foresee them, we would be able to prevent them.

As it stands now, rent at the dorm isn't too expensive, but the men residents wouldn't like to see it boosted. As soon as possible these elevators should be repaired and put in number one condition. If rebuilding the elevators does mean an increase, let's at least get the job done right. There is nothing like pouring money continuously into a broken-down automobile, hoping it will run perfectly. The results are always the same, for the odds are against you.

If it were mentioned to the residents that an increase in the rent would be on account of the elevators, the tallons of abuse might reverse their call of the wild. Whether this abuse is continued or not, the men's dormitory will always be in dire need of elevators that are in the safest operating condition. An ounce of safety now, is worth a million dollars of health in the future.

Thank You Mr. Neblette!

Posted on a bulletin board in the Department of Photography is a notice which in the mind of the Reporter should be duplicated in other departments of RIT. It is a memo from Mr. C. B. Neblette, head of the department, asking for ideas from students in his department for increasing the teaching efficiency of his faculty.

As a reward for the best suggestion, Mr. Neblette is offering twenty-five dollars, which will not come from the Institute, but from his own pocket. He feels that in the face of rising tuition costs, a way should be found to allow each faculty member to teach more students without destroying his teaching effectiveness, and thus keep the amount each student pays in for faculty salaries to a minimum.

This is a commendable attempt to allow students to do something about a subject which they too often are left out of: tuition. Even if no workable suggestion is made, the psychological benefits of being allowed to try, and of being considered important enough to ask, are many.

What about the rest of the school? Increase the number of students participating, and the number of good ideas is likely to increase too. Perhaps ways of improving effectiveness as well as efficiency could be put into the suggestion system on a school-wide basis.

This is not to imply that all department heads should contribute twenty-five dollars to the cause. There are other rewards that could be used, and other ways of raising the money.

As one student (a printer) commented, "If my department would do this, I'd chip in five dollars myself."

Art and Design Holds Seminar

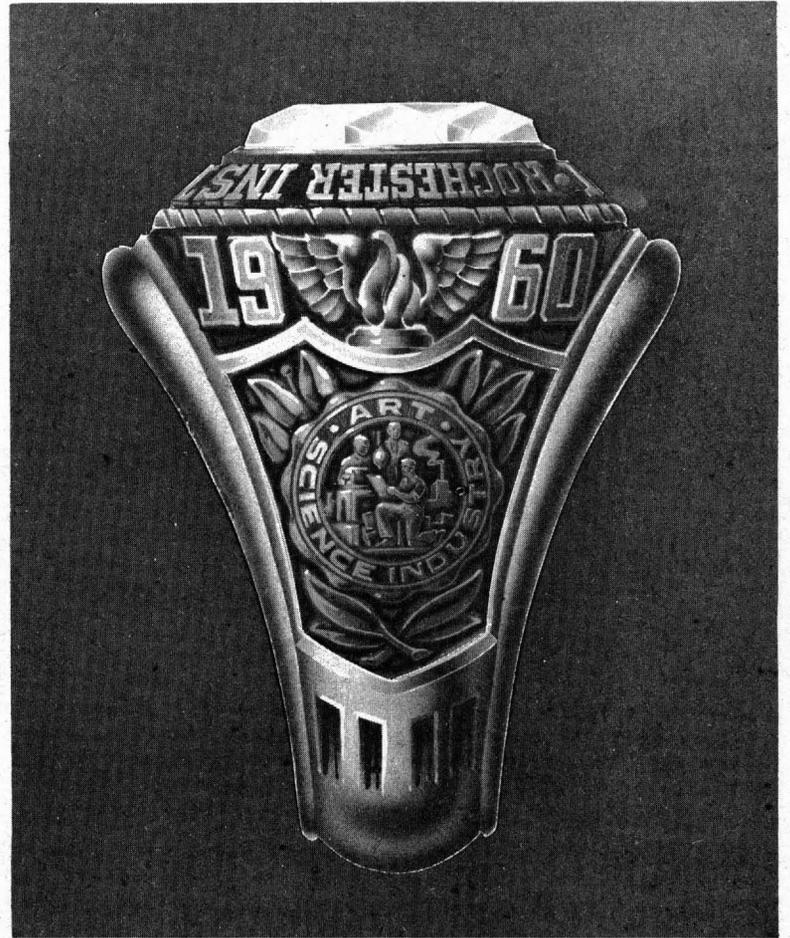

The "average music man" was enlightened and educated by a program presented by the fourth year art and design students on Wednesday, Jan. 20.

An "average music man" was described as a person with a small knowledge of music, but no great amount of technical familiarity. The program attempted to scratch the surface and to create a greater understanding of classical music in these individuals.

Scene of the presentation was the seminar class for fourth year students under the instruction of Mrs. Sylvia Davis. The class deals with many areas of the arts in an attempt to familiarize the future artists with other fields' culture.

Third year art and design students were guests for the performance, as were several members of the Institute faculty. The entire program was organized and presented by students, and was aided by the use of phonograph records and tape recordings.

Sections covered included a definition of terms, instrument history and instrument sounds, composers, a short history of music, composition, the conductor, seating arrangements of the orchestra, and the orchestra broken down into parts.

RING DAY—On Feb. 7, Mr. Killup, representative of the ring company will be at RIT to take orders for the new ring.

Alumni Council Honors Retiring Burton Stratton

Members of the Executive Council of the RIT Alumni Association paid tribute to Mr. Burton E. Stratton, retiring Director of Alumni Relations and head of the Institute's Evening Division on January 21, 1960.

On behalf of the council and the membership of the Association, President Eugene T. Natale, Chem. '42, presented Stratton with a desk set as a remembrance of his service to the group. Mr. Stratton served as Executive Secretary and Director of Alumni Relations for 24 years.

In making the presentation, Mr. Natale recalled Mr. Stratton's service to the Institute's alumni and stated that it was the Council's hope that they would be free to call on his experience for guidance in the future.

The Association's remembrance bore a gold plate engraved: Burton E. Stratton '28, Executive Secretary, 1936-1960, RIT Alumni Association.

Mr. Stratton, a 1928 graduate started his educational career at the Institute in 1934. Prior to joining the staff, he was employed by the International Business Machines Corporation. He became active in alumni work immediately following his return to the Institute, first as a member of the governing body and then as executive secretary. His alumni duties were in addition to those he has held as an instructor and administrator in the Evening Division.

He is also a graduate of Ohio State University (1935) and holds a Master of Science degree from Syracuse University (1942). He is a member of several groups concerned with adult education and is a member of the American Alumni Council, a professional group. Mr. Stratton is listed in Who's Who in Higher Education.

He is a native of Theresa, New York and is married to the former Alice Howie. They have one son, John, who is presently attending Antioch College. The Strattons reside at 9 Nottingham circle, Rochester, New York.

Mr. Stratton will be succeeded in the post of Director of Alumni Relations by Paul C. Hassenplug, Printing '59.

New Paltz Hosts Photo Contest

The State University College of Education at New Paltz, New York, is sponsoring the third Intercollegiate Photographic Competition, it was announced this week by Mr. A. E. Woolley, Associate Professor of Photography, who is director of the competition.

By winning last year's contest, the College at New Paltz also won the honor of being host for the 1960 competition.

According to Mr. Woolley, plans for the event are complete and the panel of judges is one of the "finest ever assembled for collegiate competition." The judges include: W. Eugene Smith, who is regarded by many as the world's greatest photographer; Bruce Downes, editor-in-chief of "Popular Photography" magazine; and Grace Mayer, Assistant to Edward Steichen of the Museum of Modern Art.

Additional information may be obtained by writing to Mr. A. E. Woolley, Associate Professor of Photography, State University College of Education, New Paltz, New York. The closing date for entries is March 15.

Using an article, Mr. Williams poses 20 questions to the class.

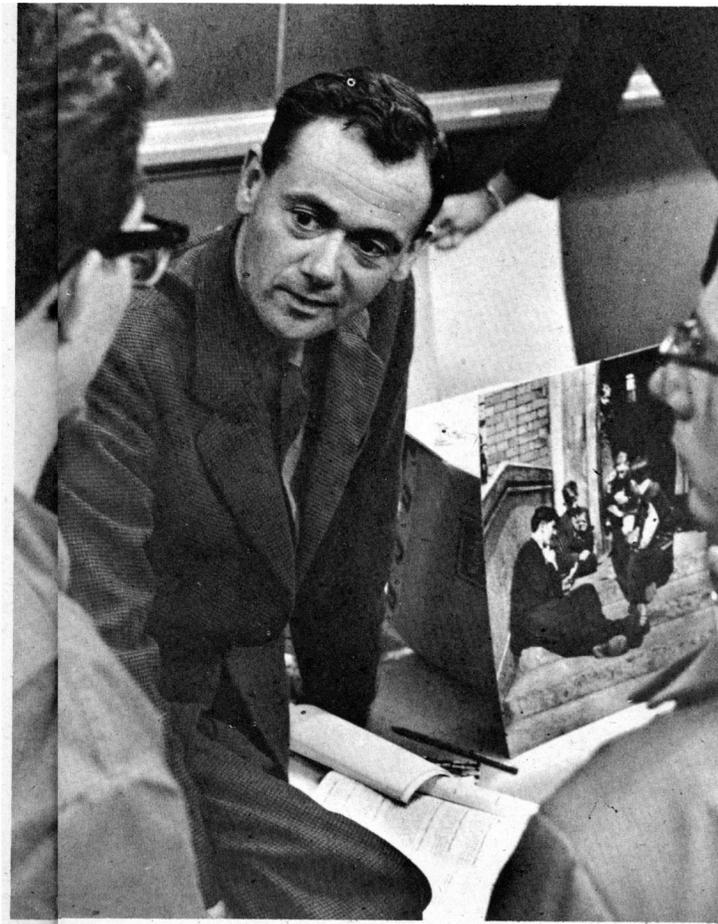

Creative Ideas In Instruction

Tudor Williams, a newcomer to the Rochester area, and an exchange instructor from England in the Photography Department, since the inception of his class here has accentuated its format with original and creative ideas such as the one pictured on the cover.

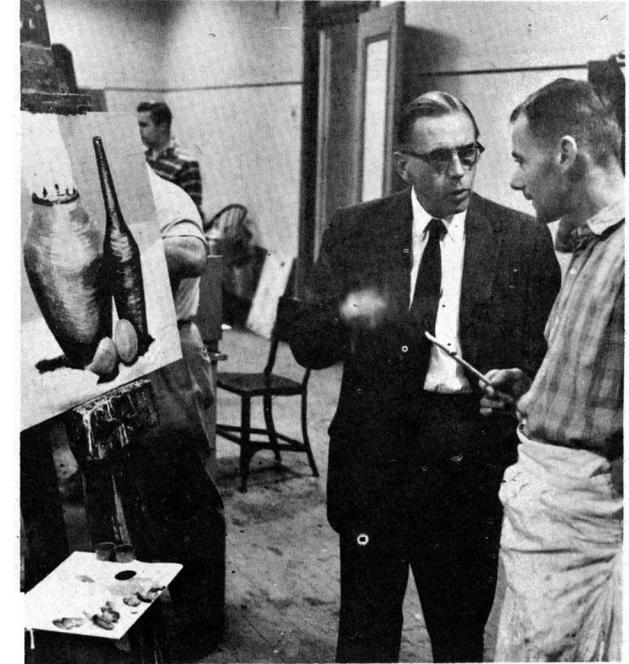

On a recent field trip with his second year group to a nearby apple orchard, Mr. Williams appeared in knightly attire to inspire his students to greater originality.

Similarly, in the classroom, Mr. Williams is seldom at a loss for creative ideas or provocative questions to vitalize student interest and incite discussion.

Dave Jung engrosses the instructor in discussion after class.

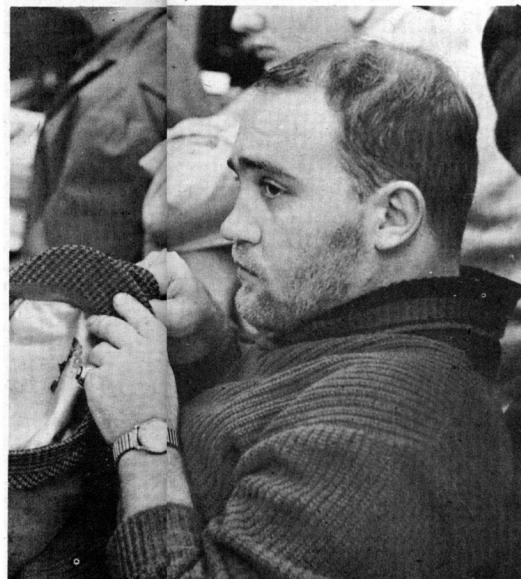

Food for his own creative thought is served to Mr. Williams as he attends an evening art class at the Institute's Art School.

Controversy is apparent as Dick Kirstel and Bob Boni disagree while in the foreground Jim Brusa, notes the important points raised.

Jim Brusa pauses for a moment's meditation during discussion.

Bowling League Advances Under Larry Dambrose.

by Bob Goodman
To most persons, bowling is just a hobby or pastime, but to Larry Dambrose, it is THE Sport.

Larry is this year's president of the RIT bowling league. He and others fiddled with the idea of a league for some time and then two year's ago turned the idea into a reality. During the first year of operation, Larry was secretary. He was then elected head this year.

So far during the 1959-60 year Larry has two stars to his credit, the enrollment of the bowlers in the A.B.C. (American Bowling Congress) and of the league sanctioning by the A.B.C.

Other accomplishments by Larry include the idea of a banquet at the end of the year for the bowlers and trophies awarded at this banquet. These trophies are for the first and second teams, individual high game and high three game series. However, running the league isn't all glory for the head, especially in the beginning of the season when many bowlers drop out. During the season, Larry must also establish handicaps and do the scheduling. Larry, in thinking of the far future, which he considers five to ten years, hopes to develop the league to a point of inter-collegiate competition.

3 Teams Leading Bowling League

With five teams in contention for first place in the bowling league, a tight race up to the last days of the season is easily foreseeable.

Last year's champs, the Has-Benz, pulled into a tie for first as they dropped the Tigers to fourth with a 4-0 win. The Tigers had been leading the league until now.

The Choppers pulled a come-from-behind victory to top the King Pins 3-1 and also tie for first. The loss dropped the King Pins from undisputed possession of first into the present three way tie for it.

Pete Faucetta's 511 led the winners who had only a 3 pin spread over the King Pins, 2012-2009. Charlie Albertson had 562 and Gordon Brown 539 for the losers.

The Alley Dodgers clipped the Tenpins 3-1 to take a hold on fifth with an even 20-20 record. Joe Dengler led the winners with a 601 series while Ray Vasil topped the losers with a 507.

The last place Slackers surprised the Immaculate Contraptions with a 4-0 victory.

Wrestlers Drop First In Loss To Bloomsburg

A strong Bloomsburg State Teachers College team invaded the Ritter Clark Gym last Saturday night and shattered the RIT matmen's unbeaten string 15-9.

The match again featured the again featured the top-notch wrestling that was seen two weeks ago against Waynesburg. Many of the individual matches were decided by one or two points and the outcome of the meet remained undecided until the final match of the evening was wrestled.

The opening two matches featured a display of strength by the visitors as they jumped to an early 6-0 lead. In the 123 pound class Tom Dollar dropped an 8-1 decision. Roger Aceto, wrestling in the 130 pound class, was decisioned 10-2 in the following match.

For the third consecutive meet Ramon West broke the matmen into the winner's column. The Baltimore Bullet captured a 6-0 decision in the 137 pound class as he contained his man throughout the match and was in control all the way. The following 147 pound match proved to be the upset of the evening. Captain Jerry Huffman wrestled one of the closest matches of the evening but lost a 4-3 decision on riding time for his first loss of the season. The 157 pound match found steady Jim Kennedy capturing a 4-0 shutout decision over his opponent.

Dick Zoyhowski came through with another strong performance in the 167 pound class. Wrestling with an injured shoulder that was still on the mend, Dick got a takedown late in the match to gain a well deserved 4-3 decision. At 177 pounds Dave Zoyhowski dropped a 5-3 decision in a close match which was his first loss of the year.

The Bloomsburg victory was assured when they won the final match of the evening. Bill Garson decisioned Ken Klaus 5-1 to wind up an exciting but disappointing evening. Despite the team loss, three of the Tigers remained undefeated on the season. They are Ramon West, Jim Kennedy and Dick Zoyhowski.

Foilman Capurso Nearing Record

The RIT Men's Fencing team, coached by Paul Scipioni and Gabor Marshall, will travel to Toronto tomorrow to fence a strong University of Toronto team.

The Tigers will be seeking their seventh win of the season and eighteenth straight win.

Foilman John Capurso will need to win all three of his bouts to beat the record set last year by Dick Greene of 20 consecutive wins. Capurso now has 18 wins-0 losses.

It was a Toronto University foilman that handed Greene his first loss last season. Trying to stop Capurso will be Toronto's Malcolm Bell who, in addition to fencing, has been a stand-out on the Toronto football team for two seasons. His twin brother Sandy Bell will oppose RIT in sabre.

Tournament To Remain In Christmas Vacation

There definitely is going to be a Tech Tournament next year.

That is the latest word from Lou Alexander Jr. about the committee's decision regarding the now annual event.

The only other thing definite, reported Alexander, is the fact that it will be a holiday tournament, probably held on the 28, 29, and 30 of December of this year.

Which teams will come is still in doubt. The only two definite teams so far will be Indiana Tech, this past year's champs and the host's RIT.

Possibilities have been mentioned. There were indications that Michigan Tech would be invited again but their accepting in doubt because of the great distance they have to travel.

Others might include two teams that were in the original tourney, RPI and Clarkson, or MIT, Western Poly or possibly Carnegie.

GREEK TALK

Tau Epsilon Phi

With the start of the new year, the brothers of TEP made another stride forward, and were pleased to announce the acquisition of their new house located at 151 Plymouth Ave. South.

With the advent of pledging the brothers sincerely hope that the adage "TEPs are tops" will again be true. We are also looking forward to a constructive pledge period that will ultimately strengthen the fraternity and bring to a reality a strong unity between the Greeks on campus.

Phi Upsilon Phi

A pledge party will be held tomorrow to further acquaint the pledges with the brothers and sister.

The annual Greek party will be held this Sunday at the Island Cottage and will be for all the sororities, fraternities and their pledges. The entertainment of the evening will be provided by the pledges of the different groups.

Kappa Sigma Kappa

Recently pinned were Bill McCaughy to Glenda LeBeau, Dave Randall to Joan Lindstrom; and engaged, George Folsom to Kay MacDonald. Ed Catapane and his wife welcomed a new addition to their family, a five pound, 12 ounce girl.

The past weekend saw a novelty as far as parties go. The brotherhood held a pajama party which turned out to be a big success for not only the brotherhood, but also for the shaperones in attendance. We plan to throw more of these change of pace parties in the future.

Pledging started late this year,

Sorority to Hold Sale

Members of the Delta Omicron Alumni group will sponsor a rummage sale Monday, Feb 8. The project is planned to lend financial support to the group's scholarship fund.

The location of the sale which begins at 9 a.m. will be 473 Main Street West.

Mrs. Albert Hickman, the former Helen Short, FA '32, chairman of the event, has requested that rummage contributions be left at 473 Main Street between 4:00 and 6:00 p.m. Sunday, February 7, 1960.

The group's scholarship fund drive was started three years ago and is undertaken annually.

Art Society to Sponsor Annual Student Exhibit

The best drawings, prints and paintings by students in the Department of Art and Design will be displayed in the second annual student show sponsored by the Art School Art Society.

Opening on Thursday evening, Feb. 4, the exhibit will differ from the one held last year in that a jury of outside artists will select paintings to be in the show and prize winners.

The jury members are Edwin Hamilton, a member of the faculty at the Memorial Art Gallery, and former instructor at the school of Art and Design; Kurt Fernau, an Evening Division Instructor; and Don Smith, associated with Smith-Hart Printing and a teacher at the Memorial Art Gallery.

A tea in honor of the exhibiting artists and the jury will open the show at 8 p.m. on Jan. 4. Approximately 30 paintings, drawings and prints will be on display. All students in the department were eligible to enter, with a restriction of 3 pieces per person.

You're looking for a job. Not just any job, but one where you know for sure you'll be doing exactly the kind of work you are most interested in. One that will give you every chance to grow with the company.

Sure, fringe benefits are fine. Link Aviation offers as good or better than the rest. But how about the day-to-day operation? What kind of assignments will you get? Check these opportunities available right now at Link:

- servo-mechanism design work
- analog computer design, solving linear and non-linear differential equations.
- function generator problems using 1, 2 or 3 variables, utilizing both digital and analog techniques
- resolving solutions relating to fire control equations for rockets, missiles and bombs
- navigational equation solutions: simulation of fire control and navigational radar systems
- simulation of complete missile systems
- transistorized circuitry, pulse generation, amplifiers and digital computer components
- optical and visual display systems

Many of the above techniques are used in current Link projects, such as building jet simulators for the Boeing 707, Douglas DC-8, Convair 880, Lockheed Electra, the Navy's A3J jetfighter, or the fire control on the B-58. And there are others that we can't talk about just yet.

There they are . . . some of the current opportunities at Link, both in Binghamton, New York, and in Palo Alto, California. If these or similar positions interest you, contact your Placement Office for an interview in advance. Link Aviation will be on the

RIT campus on Monday

Feb. 8 or if you prefer, forward a brief resume of your qualifications to:
