Student Editors Attend National Press Conference

Student editors and staff members of the "RIT Reporter" and "Techmila", plus the Reporter's faculty adviser recently traveled to Chicago to attend a series of meetings dealing with college journalism.

Hector H. Sutherland, the Institute's newspaper adviser participated in the sixth annual conference of the National Council of College Publications Advisers.

Two members of the Reporter staff traveled to Chicago, With Mr. Sutherland, to attend the annual Associated Collegiate Press Conference; they were Gene E. De Prez, editor-in-chief and Carl Telban, public relations director.

The two were among 1100 other representatives of staffs of various collegiate newspapers, yearbooks, and literary magazines across the United States and Canada.

The two organizations, not officially connected, hold their meetings simultaneously each year and participate in some group meetings together. The joint conference this year was held in Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel.

In addition to attending panel discussions and clinics, RIT's representatives were kept busy exchanging information with editors and advisers from throughout the two countries.

Student Competition Sponsored by SAE

The Rochester Division of the Society of Automotive Engineers has extended an invitation to all students from RIT, UR, and Alfred University to submit a technical paper on any subject related to the automotive field. (By 'automotive' is meant anything that moves under its own power.)

This competition is open to one and all, and first prize is $75. Closing date is March 1, 1961, with judging to be completed by March 22.

Any student interested should contact Mr. John B. Burnell, assistant chief engineer, Rochester Products Division, 1000 Lexington Avenue, Rochester 13, New York, before February 1.

Catalog Error Corrected

In the 1960-61 school catalog the calendar of School holidays lists Tuesday, Jan. 3 as the day that the Institute opens after Christmas vacation.

The text with the calendar lists Monday, Jan. 2 as the day we return. This is wrong.

Tuesday, Jan. 3 is the official opening of the winter quarter.

RIT Undergrads Represent 800 World Communities

In a recent study, conducted by Mr. Nicholas Cassevo, supervisor of the Data Processing Department, it was discovered that members of RIT's 2200 member undergraduate student body come from some 843 communities in 37 states, the District of Columbia, and 14 foreign countries.

These figures were discovered by running all the students' cards through the Institute's IBM machine.

States such as Arkansas and Alabama are represented by only one student from one community, whereas New York State was represented by some 373 communities.

The four states with the highest number of communities represented are: New York, (373), Pennsylvania, (104), New Jersey, (52), and Massachusetts, (51).

Foreign countries represented are: Canada, Honduras, India, Pakistan, Indonesia, Jamaica, Korea, Lattore, Mexico, Switzerland, Vietnam, Liberia, Japan, and Germany.

Canada led the foreign countries with 12 communities represented by its students.

Faculty Members Attend Meetings

Professional conventions attracted two faculty members of the School of Retailing to other cities this month.

Mr. Raymond von Deben attended the semi-annual showing of the National Association of Display Industries at the Trade Show Building in New York City, Dec. 4-8. There, with display men from the United States and Canada, he previewed the spring collection of equipment and materials used in retail store displays.

In addition to purchasing fixtures for the display laboratory at RIT, Mr. von Deben toured the display departments of several large New York stores.

Mr. Kenneth Fladmark attended a professional seminar on Modern Merchandising Methods in Dayton, Ohio. The program, which took place during the week of Nov. 28, was sponsored by National Cash Register Company.

Board Plan Questions Answered by Benz

In the first two months of the new Board Plan's existence, there have been a number of questions—and complaints—raised about some of the plan's conditions.

Mr. Frank P. Benz, vice president for Business and Finance, has provided the Reporter with answers to several of these queries:

If the student misses a meal under the plan, for any reason whatsoever, no refund is made to him.

A refund-credit system for missed meals could be established, but such a move would raise the cost of the plan considerably from the prevailing rate, said to be one third less than the cost of comparative meals purchased elsewhere or purchased at the cafeteria.

For those who would like to purchase breakfasts separately, Mr. Benz pointed out that it will be made possible for students to do this, should a sufficient demand be shown.

Another complaint raised—concerning the long wait in line for meals—is due to three factors: the newness of the employees, of whom a considerable portion are Institute students; the habit of a majority of students to come for meals at the same time; and finally, a 40 per cent increase in the number of people using the cafeteria facilities since last year.

A food committee has been set up with two representatives from Student Association to advise the cafeteria management. The Men's Dorm Council has also been approached to select two representatives from the dorm, to make a total of four.

The purpose of this committee is to help the cafeteria toward its goal of providing the members of the board plan, as well as other students, with the best possible food at the lowest price.

Dr. Ellingson Talks to SC

In what is hoped will become a regular feature each quarter in the student council, a question and answer period was conducted for the first half of the regular Monday night business meeting by Institute President, Dr. Mark Ellingson.

Subjects ranged from the prospects of RIT becoming a community college to the effectiveness of the Student Council since its reduction in size from last year.

In regard to the community college question Dr. Ellingson reported studies will be made as to what would be best for the Institute. He remarked that in general most community colleges were two year schools and that RIT would certainly not regress under any circumstances. It is his hope that in ten years that a masters degree will be available in every school of the college instead of in just the present two departments.

Dr. Ellingson felt Council has become more effective since its reduction in size over last year. In suggestions for the councils consideration he listed examination of financed activities and pressure on sororities and fraternities for high standards in academics and behavior.

In the business meeting which followed the discussion period with Dr. Ellingson, chairman Herb Johnson of the publications division reported the snag met in production of the student directories had been overcome and it is hoped that they will be ready before Christmas vacation.

Retailers Awarded

Janet Ross and Richard McCormick (Ret 4) have been chosen as recipients of the Halle Brothers Award, a prize of $100 a piece sponsored by Halle Brothers Store in Cleveland, Ohio.

The award is intended to defray expenses incurred in attending the National Retail Merchants Association Convention, Jan. 8-12 at the Hotel Statler, New York.

Also attending the convention will be Miss Edwina Hogadone, head of the School of Retailing. She will speak on "The Responsibilities of Schools in Training Young People for Retailing Careers."

Miss Hogadone will at that time turn over her position as President of the American Collegiate Retailing Association to its new president.

The Halle Brother Award was established two years ago to be given to promising RIT students of high scholastic ability with an interest in retailing.

With students from all over the country, RIT's representatives will attend seminars on retailing and idea sessions.

In the December issue of "Popular Photography," Mr. Ralph Hattersley has written an article entitled, "How To Stay Fascinated With Photography."

Mr. Hattersley is a faculty member of the School of Photography. This makes the second book length feature by Mr. Hattersley that Popular Photography has published in the last year.

Winter Weekend Plans Announced

Miss RIT is to be crowned on Saturday night, Jan. 21, at the semi-formal "Crystal Ball," highlight of Winter Weekend. Vic Plati's orchestra will provide dance music from 9 to 1 a.m.

The Weekend commences Friday evening, Jan. 20, with the outdoor "RIT Olympics," conducted in the area adjacent to the Medical Department building. The night's entertainment will feature a dogsled race, tug-o-war and other competitive events between the various school organizations.

A bonfire is planned at the conclusion of the games. Students will sing songs, tell tall tales and drink hot chocolate, courtesy of Student Council. Prizes will be awarded at that time to winners of the games.

Winter Weekend will close on Sunday night with "Swiss Village" in the Ritter-Clark Memorial, with the gym decorated as a Swiss ski resort. "Village" will feature singing and other activities, and music will be provided for dancing later in the evening.

Friday night's activities are free. A ticket covering the other two events may be purchased for $2.50. If tickets are bought separately, that for Saturday's dance will cost $2 and for "Swiss Village," $1.

The Festive Holiday Season

The festive holiday is now upon us. Our minds are probably on the days of noise, merry-making and gift giving ahead. Before we get caught in the onslaught of coming events let's take a few minutes out for some serious thinking.

Most of us will also be celebrating a religious holiday. Whether be it Christmas or Hanukkah, let's keep in mind the true spirit of the season, the spirit that has been passed down to us through the centuries as part of our Judeo-Christian heritage.

We ask you to read the following editorial as an expression of our opinion surrounding the current commercialization of the Christmas season.

In this spirit we can feel a great deal more honest in wishing you and your's the most sincere season's greetings and best wishes for 1961.

Is Christmas Still the Same?

Does Christmas mean the same to us today as it did to our forefathers?

We do not think that it does. Today Christmas has become a big commercial profit making venture.

In the days gone by, Christmas was forgotten until Thanksgiving was past. Oh, maybe the children were starting to get hepped up about the first of November, but gift buying, trimming, etc. didn't start until Turkey Day was gone.

Now almost as soon as summer passes, thoughts turn to Christmas. Merchants start to put up their gigantic store decorations. These are beautiful, true, but costly and meant to attract the public. With the appearance of these decorations, the merchants start a huge campaign to sell the public more and more. Christmas trimmings and decorations are put out for sale and signs in the stores and advertisements in newspapers proclaim that this or that would make a nice gift for someone. Not to make this one sided, let us say that the merchants do one good service by keeping Santa under cover until Thanksgiving or just after it.

By the time Christmas is just a few days or weeks away, the public for the most part is sick of thinking, hearing, or seeing anything connected with Christmas.

We think that if we were to return to the good old days when religion was the main theme, and Christmas spirit was great, we might be better off.

So we wouldn't give or receive big, shiny, expensive gifts. But is it really the value of the gift or the sentiment behind the giving and receiving that means the most?

Will You Make It Home?

About that trip you are planning to take to get home for Christmas—are you going to make it?

We certainly hope so!

Every year at this time, the various news media come out with helpful hints on what to and what not to do to insure your safe arrival so you can enjoy the holiday season.

We are sure that you are quite familiar with all the facts about the thousands of people killed in traffic accidents and also the various helpful hints on how not to become a statistic.

For this reason we will not enumerate on them here. We do want to urge you to be careful on your trip home and the return trip back after the vacation.

Although much used we still strongly believe 'The Life You Save May Be Your Own.'

CAYLEY'S CORNER

May you have A Good Christmas!
Will it be?
What will make it so?
Carols—a tree—a creche—
A homey fireside—folk we love?
Yes,
These help to make
A True Christmas
But
It will also be
Stacks of printed nightmares,
Delivered by
Bone-tired postmen.
It will also be
The buying of a lot of things
Folk really don't need—
And which we can't afford—
To impress somebody,
Or from whom
We hope to wangle something
In return!
And if they don't repay—
We'll scratchemoffthelist!
Cynical?
You know it's true!
Let's make Christmas—
This year—
Honest,
Genuine,
Unembarrassed,
Unambitious,
Give—with love,
Without hope of return.
Sing, worship reverently,
For, "They were wise men indeed
Who followed the Star.
From haunts of their childhood
It led them afar.
Lift thine eyes from the sod.
Let the stars urge you on.
They will lead you to God
When your journey is done."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

People have written a lot of things in this column, but I have something that concerns every girl and guy who goes to RIT.

I have been a student and resident of this city for over two years and I am just now beginning to realize that this city has one of the most insufficient protection plans for its citizens.

I am married and my wife and I live near the school.

It seems that a day hasn't gone by that my wife hasn't mentioned how bad the curb-cruising was in this city.

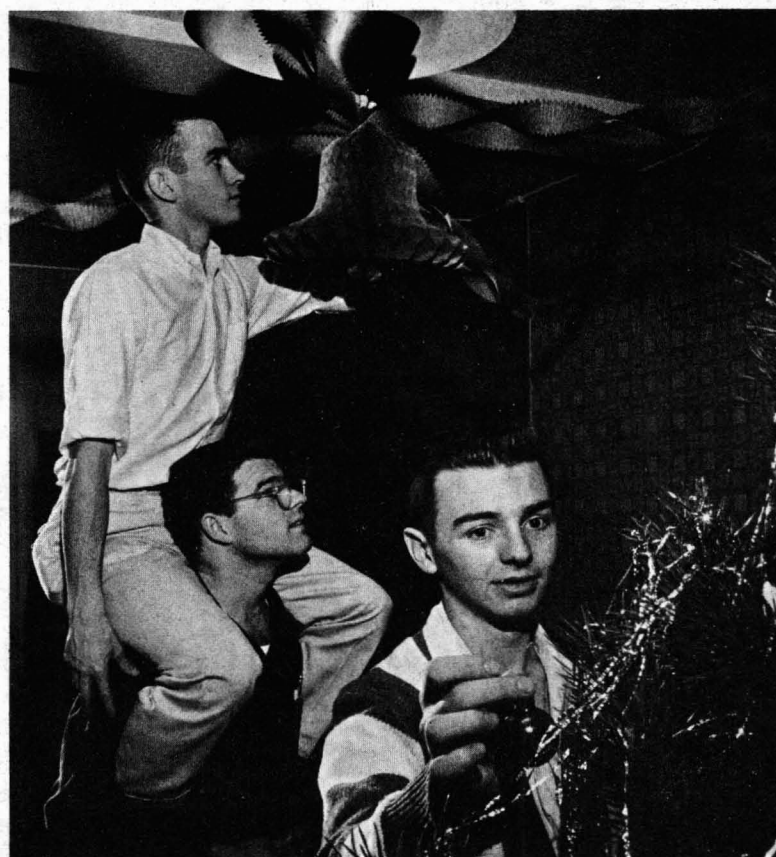

I have noticed myself, that if the girl is with a man, or not, it doesn't matter to the curb-cruiser.

The stopping and following is minor, as in comparison to the slanderous and completely vile language which the men in these cars throw at any girl regardless of time of day or circumstances.

A member of our family was visiting Rochester and she remarked at how bad the situation was. The city in which we live has strict laws which prevent men from doing such curb-cruising, as they call it. There are instances where there have been heavy fines inflicted and sometimes men thrown in jail.

I feel as a resident of Rochester that the Police Force is doing a

Latest & Greatest:

We think the Churchill series on TV Sunday nights is about the best thing the "one eye" has to offer . . . 29.34 and rising is the proper reading: all I was trying to convey is that it seems rather unfair that the "Greeks," who unlike most participating groups are NOT subsidized by the Bank of Buesch, do more work than most and lose money only to be trod upon by the tin God's in their tin Reporter offices.

One of our largest money user-uppers (Forensic) doesn't do a dang thing yet escapes the barbs and taunts. Why should the Greek be forced into a position where they have to work all week-end and let the do-nothings enjoy it and criticize it?

Yes, maybe I will pick up my marbles and go home; someday when we're long forgotten and not missed the 'Greeks' may pick up their marbles, chuck the whole deal and have a homecoming weekend all their own that they themselves can enjoy: enough, said I think-eth; . . .

"Butterfield Ate" is probably as overdone as anything could be as overdone as anything could be: the Freshmen might like it however . . . In answer to numerous questions the answer is no: the Men's Wear in Phi Ups show is much less expensive than you thought.

Fearless Prediction:

The Baltimore Colts will be the first team to cop three World Championships.

Scoreboard:

Hardly worth mentioning.

MAY the love, hope and peace of this Holiday Season abide with you throughout the New Year.

matter even preventing this type of injustice. Thousands of parking poor job in stopping, or for that tickets are handed out and minor offenses are properly and immediately taken care of. Why not some immediate attention to this matter which in my estimation is as serious as a parking ticket. It is a pitiful shame that a city with the culture and high standards Rochester boasts, has to close their eyes to a terrible situation of ill-respect to its women.

The Sports Assembly . . .

Congratulations to the Lettermen's Club for the recent sports assembly held in the gym. Although the turnout was not of record shattering proportions it was nevertheless encouraging.

Those who attended and passed by the chance to develop an acute case of indigestion by eating a 'double' lunch for two hours were presented with some interesting and amusing demonstrations. Not only did the students get introduced to the winter sports and the team members but they also got exposed to the lighter side of the sport of wrestling (and we don't mean the lightweight wrestlers).

But to get back on a serious track, the assembly was one of the few bright spots in student support of athletics. If it is at all possible, it would be encouraging to see this assembly grow into a series of pep assemblies that would be held before crucial home meets for all winter teams. This is something that would require a good deal of work but could yield even greater results in student support and interest in athletics.

An Important Team Member . . .

In the department of much work and no credit: Chuck Spring, a second year Photo student from Tenaflly, N.J. Any coach will be first to admit the need for a good manager. When an outstanding one comes along its a rare and unusual event. Coach Earl Fuller and the wrestling team are the benefactors of just such an event, in the person of Chuck Spring.

As a freshman last year, Chuck did an outstanding job for the freshman team. It was with eager anticipation on the part of the team that he was promoted to the varsity this year. Along with his pleasant personality Chuck can always be counted on to have the necessary equipment and uniforms ready for either an evening practice or a meet.

In addition to all his other duties, Chuck has also become an important part of the workout sessions. When the team is working on holds, and there are an odd number of men, Chuck will step in to even out the pairings and work right along with the team.

Although a team needs good personnel to win, the knowledge that the equipment and other details for a meet are taken care of can do a lot to further the success of the team. This is why Chuck is one of the team's biggest assets.

Cagers Win Openers

The RIT cagers opened the basketball season successfully with two victories in as many nights as they downed McMaster University 90-80 in the season opener and then edged out a strong Assumption team from Windsor, Ontario, 85-80.

In the opening game with McMaster the Tigers had to withstand a tremendous individual performance by the visitor's Gene Rizak as the McMaster star poured 46 points through the nets throughout the course of the evening. His total was second highest in the history of the Ritter Clark gym as Dick Kraft of Brockport totaled 50 during a game last season.

High scorer for the Tigers was Bill Lamoureux, a sophomore, who led the attack with 25 points in his first varsity game. Sophomore Chuck Albertson tallied 22 points while senior captain Kay Kramer added 21.

Under the boards another record was set as Ron Avery pulled down 29 rebounds to surpass the mark of 22 set by Harry Beardsley last year.

The following evening against a strong Assumption team the Tigers refused to break and pulled up into an 85-80 victory. In downing the Canadian team, they used basically the same formula that they used the previous evening against McMaster.

The trio of Kramer, Lamoureux, and Albertson again led the scoring. Captain Kramer led the attack with 26 points while sophomores Lamoureux and Albertson netting 24 and 18 points, respectively. Under the boards it again was Ron Avery pulling down the rebounds again and having a fine night.

Matching the varsity squad, victory for victory, was a freshman crew that appears to be one of the strongest in many years. They opened with a 70-49 decision over RBI and went on to defeat the University of Rochester Medics 63-49 the following evening.

Tech Tournament Announced

The Winter holiday period will again be a busy one for Athletic Director Lou Alexander, Jr. as RIT will again host the 3rd Annual RIT Tech Basketball Tournament. The event will be held at the Ritter-Clark Memorial Gym on Dec. 23-30 this year.

Although only in its third year, the tournament has grown to major proportions and this year will feature eight teams representing seven states. Doubleheaders will be offered in both the afternoons and evenings of the three days of competition. Game time is 2 and 4 p.m. in the afternoon; 7 and 9 p.m. in the evening.

Although an admission charge will be in effect for the entire tournament for the public, RIT students will be admitted to all games presenting their student association card at the door.

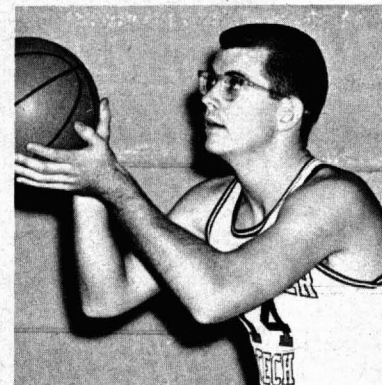

The tournament is unique among all college holiday basketball attractions in the country in so far as participation is limited to technical colleges.

Along with the host RIT Tigers, quintets entered in this year's tourney represent Pratt Institute (N.Y.), Newark College of Engineering (N.J.), Lowell Tech. (Mass.), West Virginia Tech (W. Va.), Indiana Tech. (Ind.), Lawrence Tech (Mich.), and Illinois Tech (Ill.). This year's entries represent the widest geographical distribution to date, with the Illinois Tech, West Virginia Tech, and Lowell Tech squads appearing in tournament play for the first time.

Back to defend the championship won last year in a great show of offensive power will be the exciting, running Indiana Tech Warriors from Ft. Wayne. However, according to Alexander, Indiana may have its hands full this year with one of the finest small college aggregations in the county—West Virginia Tech's Golden Bears. Last year the Neal Baisi-coached five rolled to a fine 21-5 record, going over the century mark in 18 of their 26 games and scoring more than 100 points a game for nine straight games at one stretch on the season.

The draw for opponents in the

opening round finds the RIT Tigers facing Newark College of Engineering. This game will take place at 9 p.m. on Dec. 28, the opening day of the tournament. The winner of this game will meet the winner of the Pratt Institute-Illinois Tech game. The championship game will take place on Dec. 30 at 9 in the evening with the consolation game being held at 7 p.m. the same evening.

The Tigers will go into the tournament without the two all-tournament stars that they had on last year's team. High scoring Ron Milko has graduated while Don Paladino, the school's other all-tournament star is out of action for this year with an injured knee.
