Sherman-Dodgen Win Split Ticket In Tight Council Race

Tuesdays Student Council elections saw Ron Sherman take the office of president with a total vote of 511 over his opponent Dennis Boquist's 492. In an unusual display of cross ticket voting, Jack Dodgen gained Only 19 votes made the difference in this year's presidential contest. This is the closest race ever recorded at RIT.

Sherman's running mate, Angel Pilato, tallied 317 votes and independent vice-presidential candidate Lloyd Beard totaled only 192.

In his own Photo department, Sherman won with a smaller majority than he did overall. He received 63 per cent of photo's votes. Boquist in his home department, Electrical, decisively defeated Sherman with 88 per cent of the votes cast.

In the vice-presidential race Dodgen took 63 per cent of Printing's votes, but received less than 50 per cent of the overall vote. Sherman received 55 per cent of the overall ballot.

This is the first time in Council election history that the elected president and vice-president have not been on the same ticket.

When interviewed by the Reporter, the candidates felt that they would be able to reconcile their different viewpoints. "I don't foresee any problems. There was no mudslinging; there was no getting nasty; there was no getting mad at each other," Sherman stated.

the vice-presidential seat with a total of 492 votes. Participating in the election were 1003 students or 40 percent of the student body.

Asked about the selection of committee and division heads, Sherman had Angel (Pilato) in mind for an office. There was also a list "of a dozen or two people who I think would make excellent committee chairmen and division heads."

For the remainder of the year Sherman will have speaking rights in council. He plans to talk to the new representatives and familiarize them with the need for efficient communication. Work on a freshman intitaion program will also commence.

Men Inhabit Baker Hall; Fall Take-Over Planned

Frances Baker Hall, RIT's second girl's dormitory, will be converted into a men's housing unit by the beginning of the 1963-64 school year. Melvin P. Rinfret, director of housing, announced the change early this week.

Frances Baker will be converted for occupancy by men in September during the summer. The dormitory is expected to house 32-34 men. Stoves and refrigerators will be taken out to provide room for the additional occupants to be housed.

Rinfret said that the main reason for the conversion of Frances Baker to a men's residence was to try to house as many students as possible in Institute housing. Women will be housed in Kate Gleason Hall and Kent Hall.

Students will be housed in other places also, Rinfret continued, such as the Brick Church, J-Y, YMCA and others.

The students in Baker Hall will be members of the Men's Dormitory Association. The women at Kent Hall will be members of the Women's Dormitory Association.

There will be a resident advisor in Frances Baker Hall for Men who will have the same basic responsibilities as an NRH advisor. Tom Lunn (Pr 3) has been appointed resident advisor for Frances Baker.

Lunn has been an adviser at Nathaniel Rochester Hall during the past two years.

Marathon Proves 'Vitality' For RIT Dance Fans

Though President Kennedy feels that walking 50 miles is fine, he has yet to mention the idea of dancing the distance.

The forward looking members of Student Council are out to test the ability and health of the normal American college student. In spite of what others say and feel, the promoters want to prove the vitality of RIT students.

At 8 p.m. in E-125 the participants will start their journey into the hours of the night. Sometime Saturday a victorius couple will stagger into the Winner's Circle. They will be the last standing participants.

For the winning organization a large rotating trophy will be presented. Each member of the couple will receive a momento of their own.

Even if the students feel that a night long vigil would be beyond the limits of their endurance, Council urges their support for the event. The doors will be open for all spectators and supporters.

SC Elections — The Aftermath

Well it's all over but the shouting so they say. As we step back to view the results of the elections, let's maintain an attitude of calm detachment and look towards the future. Several areas of question and wonder present themselves. First, what will the newly elected officers do to implement their platforms and constructive ideas (this assumes that two formerly opposite candidates can work together). Second, will the attempts to reorganize Council be subverted by the influx of new representatives with no prior experience (inherent in this problem is the question of why so many experienced reps did not run for Council again)?

Sherman

It seems likely, that our new officers will be able to work together. There were no violent clashes of personalities during what was certainly one of the most placid campaigns. In terms of objectives to be reached through the implementation of the two platforms, the basic similarity of those platforms should be a definite aid in reaching a basic agreement about what is to be done. With that out of the way, what then can be expect of Mr. Sherman and Mr. Dodgen in the weeks to come? Will they begin to work towards

Spring Blossoms With Fairer Sex

Blossoming with the flowers of spring are the rosy cheeks of RIT's fair sex. Leaping forth from winter hibernation, this petite segment of our population seems to have trebled itself in recent days. Their sudden onrush has caused notice, even in the faraway darkness of the Reporter bombshelter.

As the male majority sallies forth to meet the challenge, we can't help but to wonder about their mass return from obstinacy. Could the warm weather be responsible for their renewed interest in our problems . . . or could it be the multitude of parties, picnics and spring weekend which has lured them into sedulity?

'The Case For Greeks' — A Preview

For the last three weeks the RIT Reporter has been surveying, digging, observing and questioning the Greek social system on this campus. Through interviews and questionnaires on the campus at large, and with the full cooperation of the fraternities, we have compiled the most complex piece of material that has ever been done on the fraternities here.

Whether Greek or Independent, you won't want to miss "The Case for Greeks," a three-page critique appearing in next week's Reporter.

 "Student Union, I think I have been there once in two years! There is nothing there."
 "You don't know what you are missing. Over 15 organizations now hold office space in the Union."

 "Not only that, free coffee is now available at all times. There is plenty of space to relax, watch TV, play cards, read or even play ping-pong. The Union has been completely remodeled, and all by students. The Student Association has added new light fixtures, coat racks and other facilities. It is a great place for an organizational meeting. It is close to the Inter-Org office, Student Association office and student central duplicating facilities. All organizational mail comes there also."

Learning lines, music, studying for exams, commuting fifty miles to rehearsals, and maintaining a pleasant personality all at the same time is not an easy thing to do. Yet, Mary Ann Lum of RIT did just this.

Mary Ann carried on this tight schedule for nine long weeks while she starred in the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical, "Oklahoma!" presented by the Holley Adult Choir of Holley, N. Y.

On March 28, Mary Ann Lum played and sang the lead role as Laurie in the story of the building of the state of Oklahoma.

Michael A. Charles, producer-director of the production, spoke very highly of Miss Lum in a letter to Dr. Scott, director of the School of Business Administration, "I feel that Mary Ann's dramatic and singing performance is superb, and worthy of a professional. Her delightful personality has endeared her to the entire cast and she has proved to be a very cooperative, assured, poised, and self-effacing young lady."

Miss Lum's schedule of typing, shorthand, history, business law, and Astronomy, besides belonging to the RIT Choraliars, has kept her very busy during those nine weeks.

But learning songs such as "Out of My Dreams," "Many a New Day," "Oklahoma," and others have added to her regular work. Mary Ann, though, has retained her easy-going manner through a hectic time of rehearsals and homework.

RIT is proud to have as one of its students a person whose efforts make a fine reputation for the

Dear Editor:

It's a sad situation when the RIT Reporter is lacking interesting copy. Bubbles and Faster Bunnies are poor substitutes for current events and news. The world that surrounds us contains more interesting subjects. With the election so near it was a shame to see such valuable space wasted for dissertations on Bubbles and immoral Easter Bunnies.

The RIT Reporter is not a literary magazine, it is a newspaper. It's a shame that the students of RIT do not realize this, or maybe are not intelligent enough. What ever it is, I feel sorry for a paper whose readers just don't give a damn.

THE DISTAFF SIDE

by Marilyn Sanderson

Are you aware that flowers have a language all their own?

Flower language is more than two thousand years old and is partly of classic origin. It had its place in the festivals, games and public affairs of the Greeks and Romans.

Floral symbolism played an important part in the lives of great knights and famous ladies. Flowers appear on coats of arms. Ireland has as its symbol—the shamrock; England—the rose; and Scotland—the thistle. The U. S? Well, we're still undecided; but perhaps it will be the corn tassel.

Flowers can be used to express your personal or secret sentiments. Flowers help to add meaning to a gift. They are known for their perfume and beauty, but they also have their own special way of expressing the sentiments of the heart.

The nosegay, which is quite popular for modern—day dances, is a way of communicating—"a salaam" (salutation) in the East. Orange blossoms signify hope; sunflowers, constancy; marigolds in Mexico, despair; and the rose is, of course, beauty and love.

The language of flowers is appropriate for all occasions—the m e r r i e s t to the most serious. If your boyfriend presents you with a bouquet of linden, ivy, red roses, bachelor button, and chervil for sincerity, he may very well be pledging his love and proposing marriage. If a bouquet of Jacob's ladder is tossed in your window, watch out! He wants to elope! Of course, if you agree, toss his flowers back intact. Otherwise, return the nosegay stripped of its flowers.

Sweet basil sends good wishes. Red dianthus say "Bravo." Enchantment is expressed by sword ferns. A red tulip with a black center also says "I love you." A white rose stands for secrecy.

Other symbols for flowers are the cosmos, orderliness; mulberry, wisdom; azalea, temperance. A pansy says "You occupy my thoughts," and sneezeweed means tears.

Maybe this will give you gals an idea of what is in your guy's mind when he sends you flowers. You are safe, of course, if he sends you red roses.

their objectives? Will they orient the remaining weeks of school towards preparation for the future? Now is the time to begin operations. All of the new council members and the few old ones will begin to look towards the new officers for leadership and guidance. They will expect that the new division heads will be chosen upon the basis of ability and not as political payoffs or appeasement for defeated candidates. When the budget for 1963-64 is presented, it is expected that it will be handled in an objective manner and not as a medium for revenge and the setting of petty grudges.

Finally, we hope that the new officers will accept fully the responsibility of their office and will approach with a full sense of maturity the tasks that lie before them, remembering that it is better to accomplish one small task well rather than attempting many many large jobs and accomplishing nothing.

We look with mixed feelings upon the small return of former Council representatives to the 1963-64 group. Upon the one hand, it is obviously an indictment of Council's activities in that it does not interest the present reps enough to entice them into serving for another year. In the same vein, we find that in only a few departments were there more candidates than vacancies. This even getting people interested was a definite problem. On the good side of the coin, the absence of possibly disinterested Council members should prove a boon in bringing about changes. The entrance of new people with new ideas should be a welcome relief from some of the perennial chair fillers who do nothing more than raise their hand to vote without really knowing what business is at hand.

We would hope that the new

Rinfret Names New Advisors For 1963-64

The new resident advisors for 1963-64 were appointed this week, according to Melvin P. Rinfret, director of housing.

The resident advisors for Nathaniel Rochester Hall are Steven Bizik (Pr 3), Francis Canzano (Pr 3), Robert Fisher (BA 2), William Jones (Pr 3), Walter Kabai (Pr 3), Robert Laffler (Pr 3), James Middleton (Pr 3), William Miller (BA 3), Anthony Puskarz (Pr 2), David Rylance (Pr 1), Bryan Sammartino (Ph 3), Robert Schuleit (Pr 2), and Kenneth Spencer (Ph 3).

The new resident advisor for Francis Baker Hall is Thomas Lunn (Pr 3).

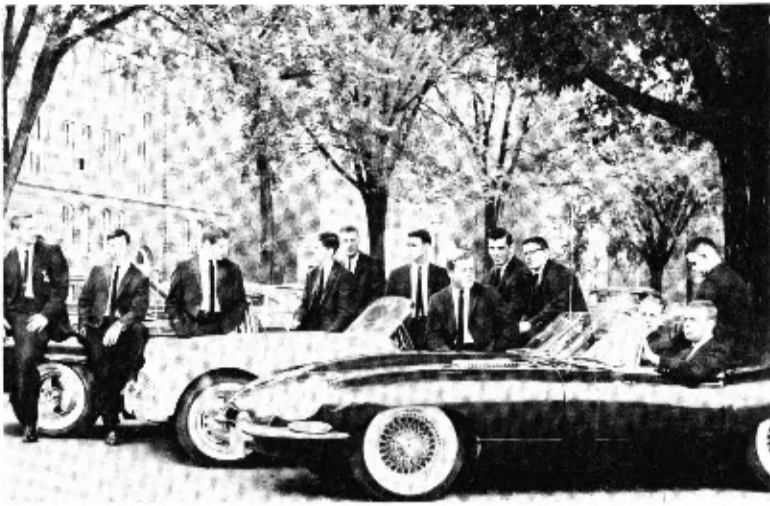

The new resident advisors for Kate Gleason Hall are Donna Brown (A&D 1), Jonna Gane (Ret 2), Barbara Hammond (Ret 1), Christine Sader (Ret 2), and Beverly Jean DeNard (Ch 3).

The head resident for Nathaniel Rochester Hall is Terry Deglau (Ph 3).

reps will take their jobs seriously. It is imperative that Council be infused with new blood and "vigah" if it is to survive. Finally, will they learn, the necessary parliamentary procedure to enable them to function more effectively during meetings. Will they work actively on the various committees? Will they truly represent their constituents? Will they too be objective and mature? We hope so. Too often in the past year we have witnessed displays of ignorance, indifference and immaturity.

There is much to be done. There are so few to do it. Those who indicated their desire to do so, Must.

Anger is never without a reason, but seldom with a good one. Benjamin Franklin.

THE "SAINTS" ARE COMING—Brought by Delta Omicron Sorority the "Saints" of Saint Lawrence University will appear in the Ritter-Clark Gym on Sunday afternoon a 3 p. m. The concert by this vocal group will be for students and friends of RIT and the U of R. The group has been active since it started as a quartet in 1952 and has performed at more than 15 Eastern schools and clubs.

Elections Aren't Finished Yet; Men's Dorm Contest Begins

The residents of Nathaniel Rochester Hall will go to the polls April 26 to elect a president and vice-president for the coming year.

The campaigns which were begun immediately after Student Council elections will conclude with an election rally Thursday April 25 in the Pioneer Room of the Dorm. The last appeals will be mixed with entertainment sponsored by both parties and will be emceed by Jim Williams, sixth floor advisor. It will begin at 9:30 p.m.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. Friday April 26 under the auspices of the present judiciary committee headed by president, Lee Altpeter, who at this time, is also Dorm vice-president. Residents may reister and vote until 5 p.m.

Friday night is scheduled for a festive victory party and open house with the "Four Intergrals." The Masters of Ceremony will be Dave Paige and Skip Millor.

This year's candidates are Jim Olin (Pr. 1) running with Chris Murrery (Mech 1) for president and vice-president, respectively, against Joseph Evrard (Ph 1) and Wayne Johnson (Pr 1) for president and vice-president, respectively. Although the couple will be running mates, as paired above, the tickets will be split on the machines.

The candidates will have the privilege of presenting their platforms during required floor meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 23 and 24.

The platforms have been reported as being quite similar. Main topics of the platforms include such planks as provision for better open houses, especially those with girls from neighboring hospitals in attendance; an attempt to solve the problems on the mezzanine that have created disturbances in recent weeks; the establishment of a dorm library; and, a move to encourage more extra-curricular activities in sports, namely, for the residents.

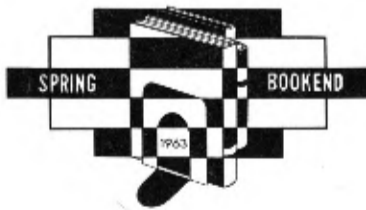

The results of the elections will be disclosed at the victory party.

The first major tasks of the winners will be to establish a new executive committee, performed by the new president and the selection of resident judiciary committee by the vice-president.

A MODERN EXPRESS HIGHWAY . . .

is a progressive road system which has been expertly planned with foresight and imagination for the speedy, unobstructed and safe transmission of heavy vehicular traffic.

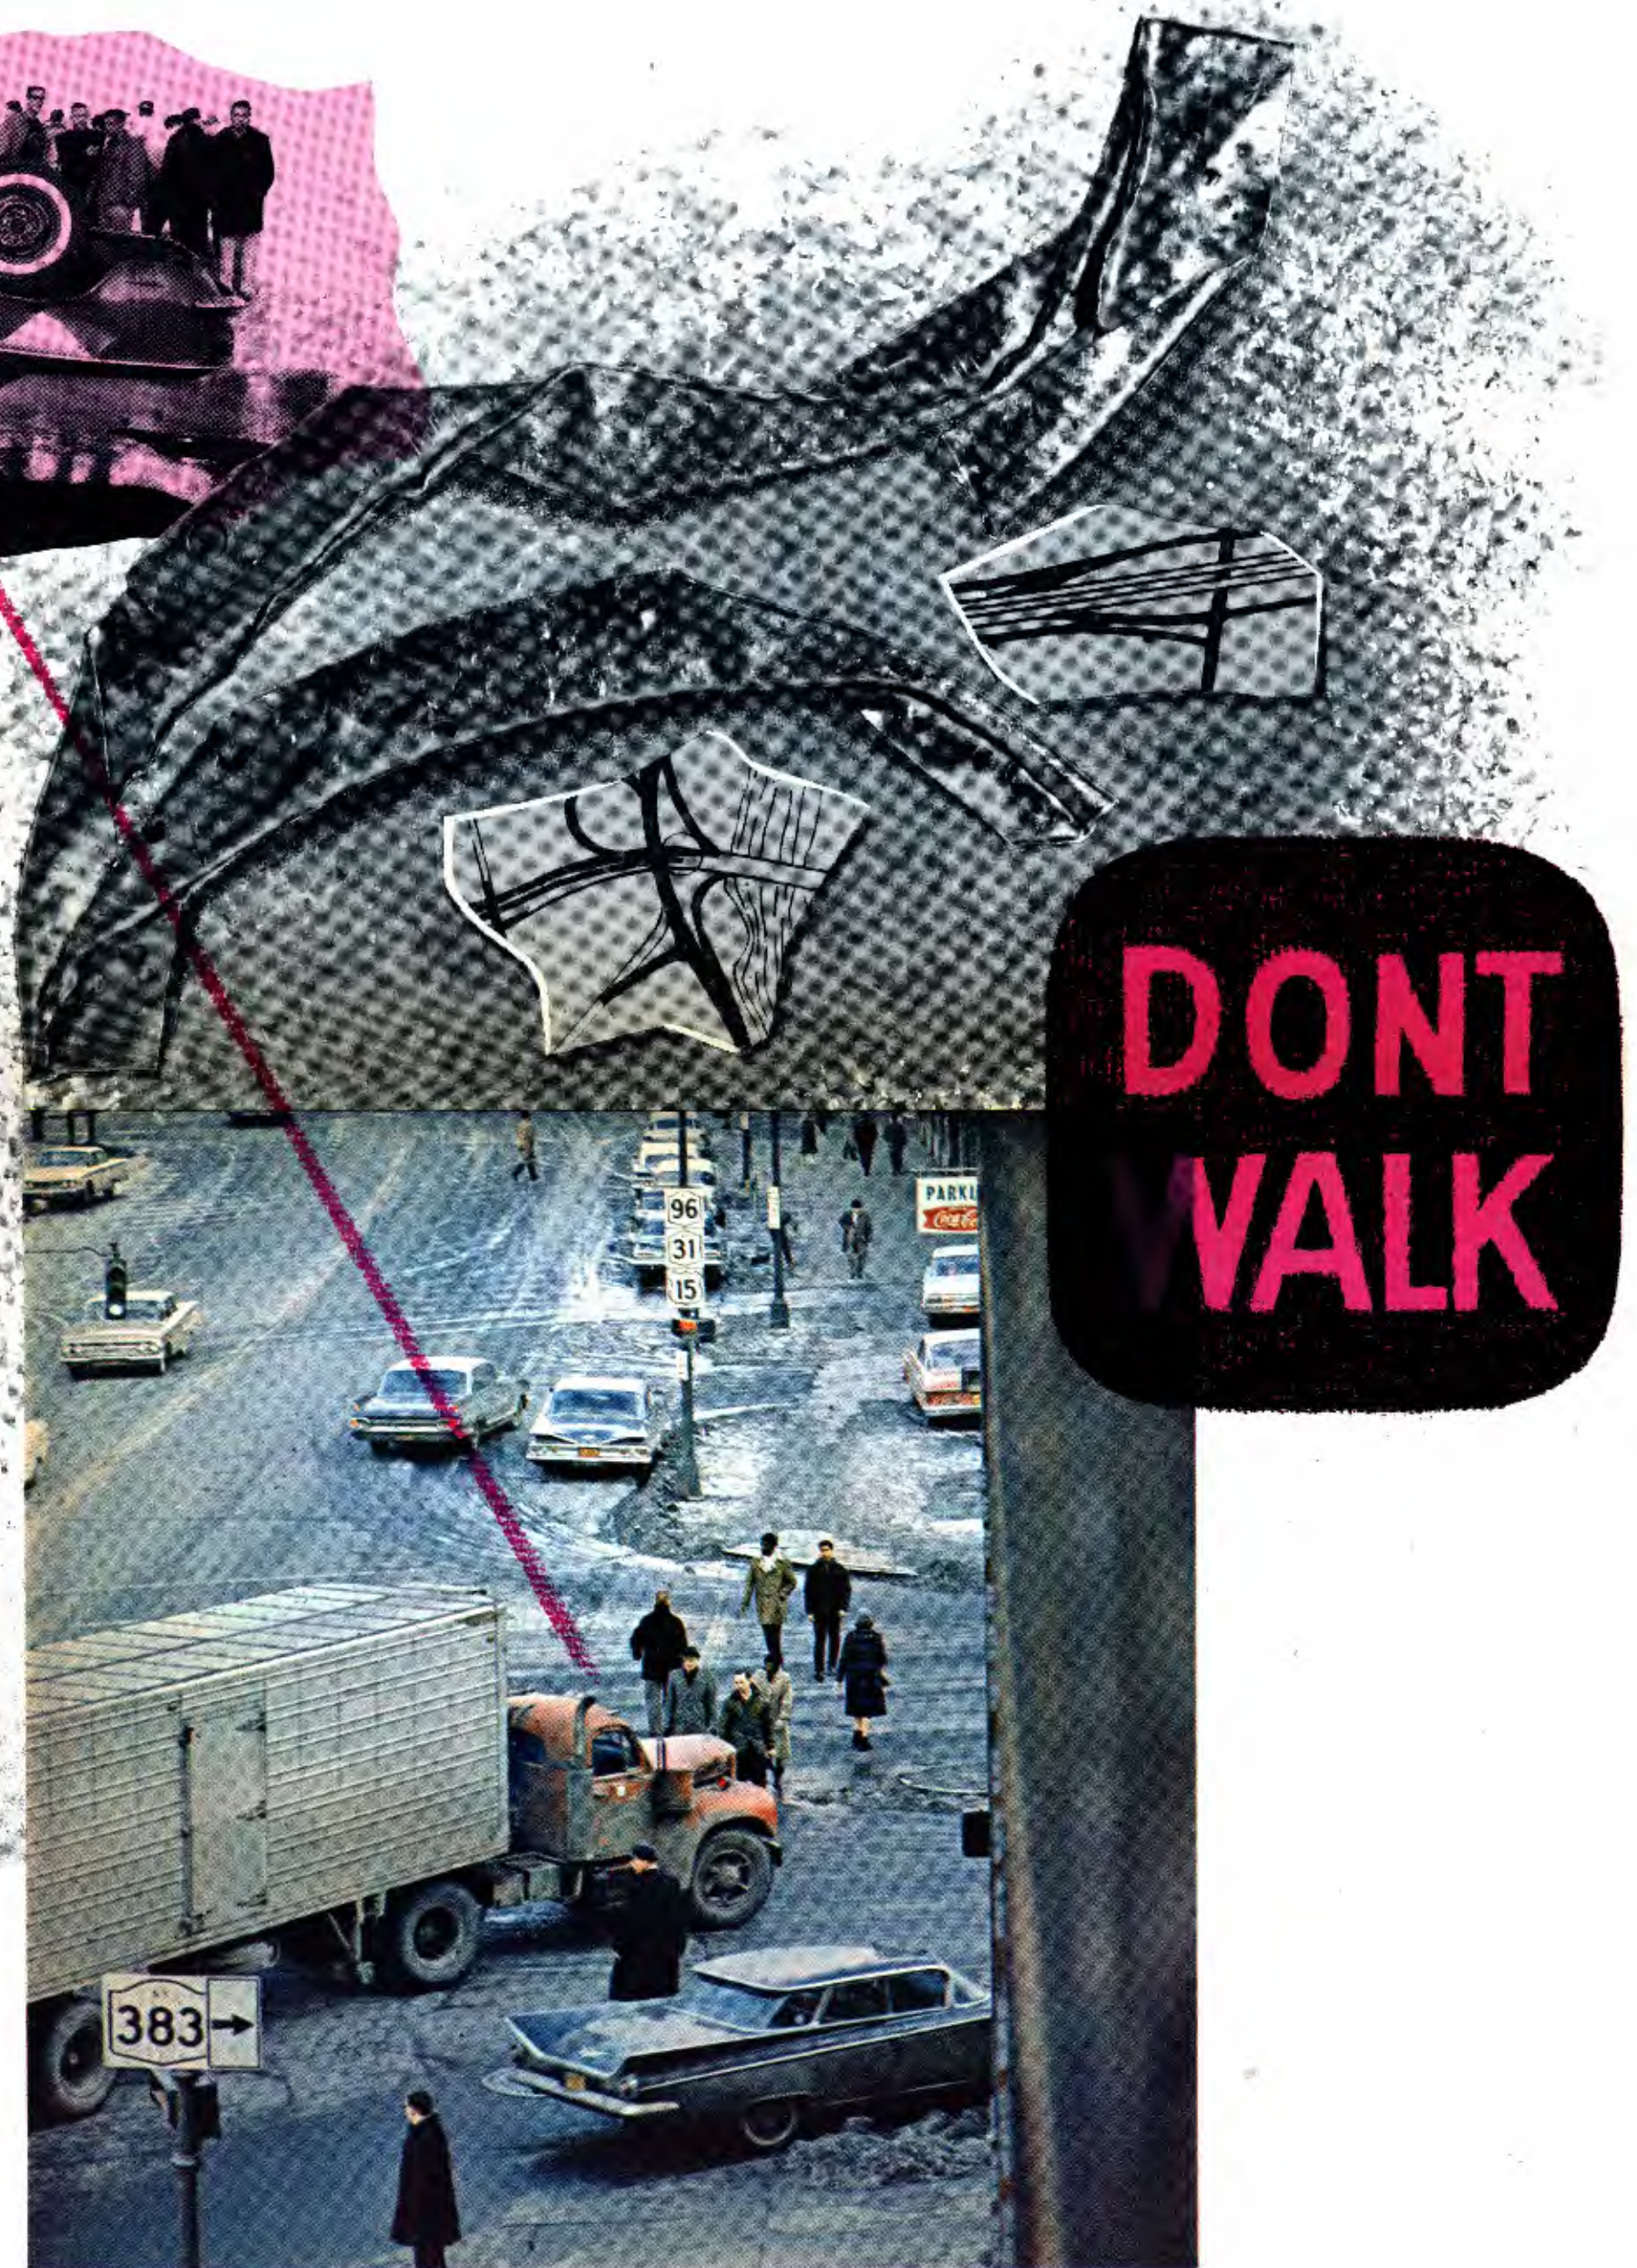

Rochester's Inner Loop supposedly is part of such a progressive expressway system. Instead it has turned out to be one of the most obstructed and dangerous sections of our municipal street system, containing the city's WORST INTERSECTIONS. Police Accident Prevention Division statistics bear this out.

Our students and faculty have to cross these most dangerous intersections. They have been quite fortunate so far, because of the relative spaciousness of these intersections at Broad and Main Streets.

The Scramble or Barnes Dance system would give pedestrians a chance to cross these intersections without vehicular interference. This system has been ruled out by the State Highway Engineers because of the heavy volume of vehicular traffic, especially during the rush hours. However, this is when the pedestrian requires the most protection from irresponsible drivers.

Adult police supervision was recommended, and we very much hope to soon have a few kind, authoritative traffic cops on the most critical corners to hold back impatient autoists and aggressive truckers before anything serious happens to the much neglected pedestrian of our automotive age. According to the law, the pedestrian still has the right-of-way!

An appeal to the Police Commissioner for adequate protection is being prepared.

Linkmen Shooting for 12th; Open Season on Monday

This coming Monday at Brooklea Golf Club, RIT's only undefeated team from last year will open their season against Ithaca College. This is a tough way to open a season since Ithaca has always been tough in the past and last year was the first time that the Tigers were able to defeat them.

Coach Buffalo Bob Klos had this to say about his team: "We should be as good as last year but to go undefeated again will be tough. Alfred should be our roughest match but there are others that shouldn't be too easy."

The team is captained this year by Russ Carter and Jerry Abel two of the returning six starters from last year. At the last practice four men were tied for third spot on the team. Bob Dinga will probably be starting in the number one position and Ted Solarek, last years only undefeated golfer, will be holding down number two or number three post.

A newcomer to the team this year is Fred Babcock a very good prospect for a position on this years squad.

Torporcer Lacks Manpower; Frosh May Help Carry Team

by Nick Cerchio

This year's tennis team is suffering from a severe scarcity of participants. With the original 17 prospects depleted to nine, five of whom are freshmen, the outlook isn't too bright for Saturday's opener against Ithaca who beat us last year 9-0.

The team will most likely be composed of the four upperclassman and four frosh. The ECAC (Eastern Collegiate Athletic Association) has approved our using freshmen due to the lack of a team if they were not played.

Freshmen are at present holding down the top two positions on the squad. Yosugi Tohjo, a photo student from Tokyo, Japan, will hold down the top spot and Bob Worth, another freshman in SAC, will be in the second slot.

Bob hails from Chester Heights, Pa., and his 6 feet 4 inch height works to his advantage on the courts.

In the third position we find Ron Ball, a senior in the School of Printing who is this years captain and one of two returning lettermen. Jerry Habinak, another fourth year printer, is the fourth man on the team and the other letterman.

Andy Davidhazy, our soccer standout as goalie this year, is in the fifth berth. This is Andy's first year in varsity competition and is a good prospect for future years.

The last position on the squad will probably be given to Tony Ferri, a third year A&D major. Tony was out for the team last year but became inelligible due to grades. The remainder of the

Baseball Starts At Utica Today

by Nick Cerchio

"We will be no stronger than we were last year when we were 2-11, unless our pitching comes through." This is what varsity coach Lou Alexander had to say about this year's baseball team.

The team opens its season this Friday afternoon at Utica and travels to Albany the following day. The prospects for an opening victory are about 50-50 since we tied Utica last year and they (like ourselves) did not show much promise.

Probable starting pitchers are Tom Ash and Gary Skillman, the former a sophomore and the latter a senior. Coach Alexander says that it is virtually a toss-up between the two boys. Gary was 0-4 last season but of his four losses two were close and could be accounted for because of a lack of adequate replacement.

Albany should be a different story. They trounced us last year 21-10 and should be just as strong if not stronger this year.

The team opens its home schedule this Tuesday afternoon when they entertain the University of Buffalo at Genesee Valley Park at 3:00 p.m.

team will be composed of John Helms and Charlie Henry both first year BA students. Don Friedman a first year printer rounds out the nine men on this year's squad.

All home matches are played at Maplewood YMCA at Driving Park and Lake Aves. and begin at 3 p.m.

Tiger Tracks

HANK BLAUSTEIN

With the coming of spring, a college student's fancy turns to the outdoors. With temperatures rising throughout the country, and with the days growing longer students in more areas find the number of garments as well as the number of hours spent in classes dwindling substantially. Somehow, almost strictly from force of habit, RIT students, although they are usually ahead of the season in this area, drop their tops and head for the beaches, parks, and other havens of the sun worshippers. With this yearly ritual, we don't seem to care what we are doing, even if it is just sitting there, as long as we are under the glorious rays of nature. Why then do our spring teams, Baseball, Golf, and Tennis have so much trouble getting spectators? The sun and fresh air are just as abundant at Genesee Valley Park, the Brooklea Country Club, and the Maplewood "Y" as any place else. Why then aren't these sun worshippers and out-of-door lovers found at the various RIT spring athletic events? This is a question only you, the student body can answer. The home season for Baseball opens on Tuesday, Golf opens against Ithaca on Monday, and Tennis starts against Ithaca early next week as well. Why not go to one or more of these events, and bring your friends.

The April Fool's edition of the Reporter was a great disappointment to me as well as many others because of my girl and yours, Modene Gunch, failed to appear on its pages. This writer, will begin an all out "Bring Back the Gunch Girls" program in the near future. I am now in the process of rousing support for this purpose. All those who are interested in seeing the "Return of the Gunches," in the name of Johnny Absalom, and everything that's holy should voice their opinions vehemently to all those in power.

Despite the rumors to the contrary, the Athletic Committee has decided to run the RIT Tech Invitational Basketball Tournament during the next Christmas vacation. This is a fine decision, one that will insure the improvement of our school's name across the country, and one which will bring better basketball to the Institute. With the proper backing, this tournament could become one of the finest winter collegiate basketball tournaments in New York State.
