TEP's Weekend Starts RIT Social Season

Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity kicks off the first all-campus weekend of the school year tonight with the beginning of the "Debutante Weekend." Included in the Weekend's activities is the annual "Miss Baby Carriage" race to be held at the new campus.

Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity begins its annual weekend tonight at 8 p.m. in the Ritter-Clark Gymnasium. This "Deb Debut" will feature the Invictas and the debutante candidates will be presented during the evening. Admission to the event will be $1.00 per person which will include drinks.

Saturday night is the highlight of the weekend. The Starlight Room of the Sheraton Hotel will be the scene of the "Debutante Ball" beginning at 8:30 p.m. with music by Vic Plati's orchestra.

Following the completion of voting, Lynn Roper, last year's Debutante Queen, will crown the winning candidate. She will reign until next year's ball. For this event girls in the dorms will have 2 a.m. curfews.

On Sunday the annual running of the carriages will take place.

The "Miss Baby Carriage" race will be run around the new campus starting at 1 p.m. Buses for spectators will leave Kate Gleason Hall at noon. The five social fraternities plus Alpha Phi Omega will compete for the Miss Baby Carriage trophy which will be presented at the Suburban Inn immediately following the race.

Tickets for the Debutante Ball will be $3.50 per couple. Tickets for the entire weekend are $5.00 per set.

Rockets and Sattelites Boost ASEE Convention

Rochester Institute of Technology will play host to the 18th Annual Meeting of the Upper New York - Ontario - Quebec Section, American Society of Engineering Education Oct. 11-12 on the RIT campus.

An expected attendance of 250 faculty members and their wives representing some 20 colleges and universities in New York State and eastern Canada besides representatives of four major industries will participate.

The program will get underway Friday with discussion groups and a dean's workshop, chaired by J. Stuart Johnson, dean of engineering at Wayne State University and vice president of ASEE. A tour of the RIT campus, committee meetings and election of officers will round out the program.

Keynote speaker at the dinner scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday, will be George Keene, photographic engineer at Eastman Kodak Company. Keene has chosen as his topic, "Rockets and Satellites."

A native of New York City, Keene received his bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering from Texas A&M in 1950, his master's degree in chemical engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1952, and his master of science degree in business administration from the University of Rochester in 1959.

Industry Editors Convene Monday At Institute

Editors of industrial house organs representing the area's major industries and businesses will be guests of Rochester Institute of Technology Monday, Oct. 14. This will mark the first meeting for 1963-64 of the Industrial Editors Group of the Industrial Management Council.

The group will assemble at 4:15 p.m. in Room E-125 from where they will tour the Schools of Printing and Photography and the Web Lab. Participating in the question-answer period that will follow will be Byron Culver, School of Printing; C. B. Neblatte, School of Photography, and Herbert Phillips, Graphic Arts Research Dept. Alfred L. Davis, vice president of development and public relations will address the group and will outline RIT's plans for the future on the new campus.

The Institute will entertain the group, expected to number between 25 and 30 editors, at dinner in the Henry Lomb Room.

Officers of the Editor's Group are: chairman, Frederick Jennings, Medical Society of Monroe County; first vice chairman, Mrs. Mabel Smith, Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences, and Miss Fawn Scheffel, RIT Public Relations staff.

DO Sisters Plot Council Activity For Coming Year

Two young ladies pilot the Student Association social activities this year. They are Elaine Grabowski, Social Division Chairman and Angel Pilato, Spring Weekend Chairman.

Miss Grabowski, from Cleveland, Ohio, is a former Fall Weekend Queen, Dorm Council Representative and social chairman for Delta Omicron Sorority. The blue-eyed blonde will graduate in the spring with a B.S. in Retailing.

Miss Pilato boasts an impressive record of campus leadership. A council member since freshman year, she has served as Newman Club vice-president, Delta Omicron president and a Student Council vice-presidential candidate. At present she is a founding member of Decem Jani and President of Inter-Sorority Council. A Rochester girl, she will receive her B.S. in Food Administration this spring.

This is the first female social team in the history of Student Council. As for the future, the girls are not talking. They are both hard at work in preparation and promise something exciting and new in the social dimension.

Both girls have a solid background in campus activities which might very well indicate an interesting social year.

RIT's First Sorority Now First National

Phi Epsilon Phi, the oldest local Greek letter organization for women at RIT, is now Delta Lambda Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta National Sorority. Alpha Delta is one of the oldest national sororities in the country and the first national sorority on the RIT campus and in the city of Rochester.

The pledge period of Delta Lambda chapter began Feb. 24, 1963 under the direction of its president Jane Hunt Lombardo and Mrs. George Stark, a graduate of Syracuse University. Under their direction the girls completed a four by six foot map of the United States showing the 20 provinces and the 108 chapters of Alpha Xi Delta as their pledge project.

The seven month pledge period came to an end last weekend when initiation rites were carried out. The weekend began Friday evening with registration and a pre-initiation ceremony held at the Sheraton Hotel. Lois Weltse, president of Eta Chapter at Syracuse University, and representative Jan Semple, also of Eta Chapter, were weekend guests assisting in the initiation.

Saturday afternoon the chapter was formally initiated into the sisterhood and received the quill, the fraternal pin and emblem. A banquet held in their honor in the Starlight Ball Room Saturday evening was attended by many national officers and RIT guests. Mrs. A. Lawrence Flenner, national council member, served as toastmistress for the evening.

A special welcome to Delta Lambda chapter was given by Dr. James B. Campbell, vice president of the Institute and Mrs. Edwina Hogadone, Dean of the Business and Retailing Schools of RIT.

Mrs. Edmund D. Silk, national second vice president addressed the fraternities' newest chapter in an after dinner speech.

The final part of the weekend's proceedings was a tea held Sunday afternoon at the AAUW house on East Avenue. Here initiates, their parents and honored guests were received by Liz Sgamma, chapter president and other local and national officials.

Highlights of the afternoon were the reading of a congratulatory telegram from the only living founder of the sorority, a sterling silver tea service and candelabra presented by the National Council, and a floral arrangement in the fraternal colors double blue and gold, from the local chapter's brothers Theta Xi Fraternity.

Helping with the establishment and workings of the new chapter will be Miss Mimi Abbruzzino of West Virginia.

Christian Fellowship To Hold Retreat

The Student Christian Fellowship Retreat will be held the weekend of Oct. 18-20 at Silver Lake near Perry.

The discussion topic this year is, "The Racial Crisis as it Faces Us." This will be in view of the location at RIT and the education problem. There will be ample opportunity for all to give their views on this critical problem of today.

Each day will be opened and closed with a worship service planned with the theme of the retreat. There will also be many opportunities for individual meditation.

SOCIAL TWINS—Elaine Grabowski and Angel Pilato have become the social heads in charge of this year's Student Association events.

It seems that every year Freshman Daze, like Spring Weekend, becomes bigger and better. This year was no exception. Through the combined talents and resources of our Student Council and the student activities office, this year's event was unsurpassed.

Particularly impressive was the large turnout of upperclassmen as much as a week before their registration. This group of people who gave up that week of their vacation to help welcome the freshmen to the Institute are to be sincerely thanked.

The new innovations this year: the banners, flags, and special events also contributed greatly to the aura of friendliness that prevailed that week. All in all it was a very well run reception and worthy of the thanks and appreciation of the student body.

The Voice in the Wilderness

Now that school has begun and everyone has settled down to some semblance of a routine there is an old custom that the Reporter would like to see continued. Just adjacent to this column we have regularly featured a Letters to the Editor section.

It's something the newspaper likes to maintain because it gives students a direct voice in student affairs and it provides a gauge for public opinion.

To keep letters concise and to the point there is a 250 word limit. And it's nice if they are typewritten, triple spaced so that our Linotype operators won't go blind trying to set them.

All letters must be in the Reporter's hands by 8 a.m. on Monday following the issue that you are concerned with. They can either be delivered to the Reporter office in the Clark basement or to the mail folder opposite E-125.

If you have a point to prove or a helpful suggestion to make let us hear it. The Letters to the Editor column is your forum.

A Fresh Point of View

The announcement this week of Student Council's social contingent for this coming year has raised eyebrows in some quarters of the student body. Several campus leaders have expressed doubt over the advisedness of appointing two women of the same sorority to two of the most important and powerful jobs available. Also questioned is the fact that neither of the appointees have had previous experience in the areas in which they have been named.

This train of thought is not only premature, but also unfounded. Although true that neither party has an excess of experience in the social field to draw upon, this may possibly be more helpful than hindering. Student Council has long needed a fresh approach to the social area, and freedom from past experience and tribulations may well provide this touch.

Each appointee carries with her a record of vast experience in leadership. This, coupled with the technical know-how of other students, should hopefully fill any void in qualifications and provide RIT with an outstanding social program.

SC Retreat CROSS A Success X ROADS

by Jerry Lewis

(Ed. Note) Periodically, the Reporter will make this space available for student leaders to present their views and give reports on issues of importance to the college community.

by Ron Sherman
President, Student Association

The start of the new school year brought the members of Student Council together for a retreat of orientation and discussion. Topics directly affecting the student body were dealt with.

It was felt that since Institute fees would be raised next year, the Student Association fee would remain the same, $22.00 per year. The consensus of opinion was that with better planning and budgeting, our present income would be adequate.

I announced that a Presidential Advisory Board is being formed. The members would consist of the presidents of the men's and women's dorm associations, Interfraternity and Intersorority Council and the Chairman of the Freshman Council.

It is our intent to increase the communication level of the student to Council relationship. This is a goal of the Advisory Council.

The organization of a freshman council was discussed and it was decided that a group would be formed of freshmen interested in student government. They would start as members of committees and divisions and eventually representatives. A chairman would be elected from this group and would be the representative on the Advisory Board. The Council would have no power but would act as an orientation program for the freshmen.

Two important areas which are near and dear to many students' heart is that of the Social Division and Spring Weekend. Elaine Grabowski was elected at the Retreat as the Head of the Social Division.

The plans for Spring Weekend are already under-way and this committee will be headed by Angel Pilato. Announcements for applications to this important committee will be forthcoming soon.

An educated student body is RIT's greatest asset. This does not mean education from the classroom alone. Student Government is challenging and exciting and the forum of student opinion.

Letters...

Dear Editor:

Any successful student function needs quality leadership, organization, and students who are willing to work sincerely toward the completion of the program. It was extremely evident to me as to the rest of the Institute administration, that the Freshman Daze Committee possessed all of these attributes.

A sincere "Thank You," and "Congratulations," to all the students who contributed their time and who worked so diligently on this year's orientation program. The life of the freshmen will be more fruitful if they are wise enough to learn from the quality of this program.

James B. Campbell

Cussed and discussed many times, student apathy is probably one of the most brow beaten subjects at RIT. Yet, it is a most prevalent problem, hated and feared by the workers and cultured and cultivated by the drones. Certainly not all apathy is unfounded, but almost without exception, unduly used as a crutch.

Since the beginning of time man has been faced with many problems. He has always been required to get along with what he had. Our situation at RIT may not be the best, but it is the best we have.

One may apathetically complain, "This is lousy, I do not want anything to do with it." If he does this enough he has nothing to do with anything. He leans back on his apathetic crutch and grumbles. He is his own worst enemy.

While at school do not dig a rut to climb into. Do not throw away the many marvelous and unique opportunities to learn that can only be found in your college years. Do not sit back and complain there is nothing to do. There is plenty to do; in fact too much to do.

Monologue

by McGee

After a summer of sun, sand, Cleopatra, Lawrence of Arabia and sleep, it seems hard to settle down to a hectic routine of classes, eating, sleeping, homework, and of course, dating. We simply don't have enough hours in the day. And, although the instructors seem to think we are, we aren't robots.

Lots of things have been and are going on: Delta Omicron had its Bermuda Blast last weekend, the first in a series of beer blasts scheduled for the coming weeks. If all are as successful as this one was... people are hanging on to raffle tickets today, wondering who is going to carry home Beta Chi's latest addition...

It's about those orange blobs on the sidewalks around the campus: I know they're to help the freshmen, but what are they? I hold that they're the pawprints of the numerous RIT wolves, but others claim that they're Tiger Tracks or the pug marks of elephants with long toenails. Yess.s.s.s?

Elephant jokes seem to be the growing rage this year. They began coming in big last spring, and the cult of believers has been growing swiftly ever since, even with the advent of Tom Swifities.

For those who like "Cayley's Corner," a weekly feature in the Reporter, Dr. Cayley is publishing a book of 52 Unison Prayers used in the Chapel Service Sunday mornings. Priced at $4.50 it is available to RIT students until Oct. 18 at the special republication price of $2.50. I've seen a copy and this is a nice book, so hurry. Just drop a note into the SCF folder opposite E-125, for Lloyd Beard.

Many of you upperclassmen and S. C. members remember Kitty Corti, (AD3) for her cheery smile and boundless energy. She is studying in Denmark this year under the Junior Year Abroad program, and would love to hear from any of her friends. Her address: Katharine Corti, c-o Prof.

There are literally hundreds of ways to adequately shed an apathetic robe at RIT. There are over 50 active organizations on the campus, nine intercollegiate sports, student government, and on and on.

Meeting, mingling, and working with people is one of the most valuable insights to personal betterment. Help yourself and your school. Pitch in. It's no crime! You never will get anything out of school unless you put something into it. That something is yourself.

By doing so you will be a better student, academically and socially. You will be happier in school and improve your job opportunities after school.

Maybe one has a good reason for being apathetically inclined, but do not lean back and fall into that proverbial rut. Use apathy as a jumping off point, make the best you have better. Improve what needs improving, do not just complain about it. Give a little of yourself to your school, you might find it is not so bad. You might even get to like it.

Herr Dr. of Medical J. Bichel, HansBrojes Vej 10, Braband, Denmark.

Student identification cards are here: keep your eyes open, they'll be around soon. Put 'em in your wallets and purses and keep them there, or somewhere that you won't lose them, — they're important.

Fads come and go: we've had the Twist, the Hula Hoop, Bows in hair, Ivy League, and who knows what else. Now we have a new one that's raging through the girls' dorms: identical sleepwear for roommates. What will we come up with next?

A great writer describing his generation said—

Stomach—well alive,
Spirit—dead!
And what of our generation?
We could add—
Pockets—filled;
Houses—gadget packed;
Faces—contest winners;
Brains—thoroughly schooled;
Bookshelves—stacked;
Clothes—spiffy;
Spirit—sound asleep!

The human spirit is unique in the animal kingdom.

Without God, it produces Hitler, Genghis Khan, Eichmann, and all the others in the long, sad string of moral pimps all the way down to the income tax cheater.

With God—the human spirit comes wide awake and produces Schweitzer, St. Francis, Lincoln, Kagawa, Gandhi, Jesus and all the others in the long, glorious list of world refiners.

Which would you prefer?
See you in Chapel!

Buddy Morrow Orchestra To Play at Homecoming

Buddy Morrow and his "Night Train" orchestra will be the featured entertainment at the first annual Homecoming Dance on Oct. 26.

This Mercury and RCA Victor recording artist is not new to the RIT campus, having played at a Spring Weekend dance a few years ago.

Their recordings of "Night Train", "One Mint Julep", and "I Don't Know" have been high on the best seller lists. Morrow, one of the all-time great trombone players, formerly played with such great bands as Paul Whiteman, Tommy Dorsey, Artie Shaw and Jimmy Dorsey.

Admission to the dance will be free; however, complimentary tickets will be available in the school soon, and these are required for all who desire to attend the dance.

Other highlights of the weekend include "Skits-o-froshia" on Friday night, a "Barbeque" at the new campus, a soccer game with RIT facing the tough Hartwick team on Saturday, and a breakfast Sunday morning ending the weekend.

Dave Rylance, general chairman of the weekend, commented, "The weekend has been designed to be of interest to all who attend. The Homecoming Committee asks the students to actively participate and make this one of the biggest weekends on campus."

Opportunities Open For Corps Volunteers

The Peace Corps estimates that it will require at least 9,000 volunteers to meet the requests of host country governments in 1964.

These needs include: 5,000 teachers, 2,000 community development workers, 700 health workers, 600 agricultural technicians and 700 skilled tradesmen, technicians and professional personnel.

The greatest demand is for teachers — 3,000 for secondary schools, 1,000 for elementary and 500 for colleges and universities. An additional 500 volunteers are needed for the fields of physical, vocational and adult education.

In the field of health, 500 nurses of all kinds are needed. Another 200 persons will fill posts as medical, laboratory and X-ray technicians, doctors, dentists, sanitarians, etc.

While the demand for agricultural skills cover a wide range of subjects, these skills are most frequently requested: agricultural extension, irrigation, farm mechanics, animal husbandry, agricultural engineering, poultry, dairying and soil conservation.

The Peace Corps is interested in volunteers who have recently retired and also those eligible for a leave of absence from their present employment.

An application form may be secured from the Peace Corps, Division of Recruiting, Washington, D.C. 20525.

when most dollar pens are out of ink the Scripto Wordmaster® refill has enough left for a term paper

...and a couple of lab reports

Just about the time you figure your Wordmaster should be running out of ink, unscrew the cap. The new see-thru refill says in no uncertain terms that you've got enough ink left to go on writing for quite a while. You shouldn't be surprised. For even though Wordmaster is slim and streamlined, it has a much larger ink capacity than ordinary dollar pens. And that makes it just about the most inexpensive dollar pen around.

By the way... you can get a handsome matching pencil to go along with your Wordmaster. And that's only a dollar, too.

Free Tickets Available for Philharmonic Programs

The Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra's 41st season will begin Oct. 31, when Leopold Stokowski will be guest conductor.

Concert tickets are made available to RIT day students by the Women's Council.

Guest conductors will appear with the orchestra throughout the year. Included are: Laszlo Somogyi, who directed two Philharmonic concerts last season, and Howard Hanson, Director of the Eastman School of Music.

Mstislav Rostropovich heads the list of distinguished artists who will appear with the Rochester Philharmonic this year.

Besides the Russian cellist, who will play Schumann's Cello Concerto, the following artists will perform with the orchestra: Guiomar Novaes, pianist; Byron Janis, pianist; Henryk Szeryng, violinist; Ralph Votapek, pianist; Armand Basile, pianist; Charles Treger, violinist; and Orazio Frugoni, pianist.

Tickets for these concerts will be available at the Activities Center.

Part-time Job Office Opened In SA Center

The centralization of part-time student job placement is now in the office of William Toporec, in the new Student Activities Center, west of the Library. The phone extension there is 210.

Students looking for part-time work to augment their finances should check over the available jobs posted on a glass-enclosed, locked bulletin board in the hall of the Eastman Building, across from E-125.

Employers within as well as outside the Institute are urged to notify this central office of their needs. Every effort will be made to find a student for each job, and a job for each student.

Applications for part-time work may be filled out in the placement office. Students considering this work should give very serious thought to the possible detrimental effects of part-time work on their studies. Academic success is paramount, and in no cases should students endanger their work for part-time employment.

RAA President Announces Plans For Coming Year

Barry Neilsen (Ph 3), President of the Religious Activities Association, recently announced some of RAA's plans for the coming year.

During Homecoming Weekend, RAA will hold its first quarterly meeting. At that time Newman Club will sponsor a Sunday morning breakfast, open to all students, parents, and alumni. Newman Club will feature a guest speaker at this function.

On Nov. 22, RAA will hold its annual hayride and dance, from 8 p.m. to 12 p.m. at the El Rancho Riding Stables. Tickets will be available from members of all three religious groups.

Brotherhood Week, in February, will feature an assembly with a prominent guest speaker, an open dance, and a dinner meeting sponsored by SCF.

Spring quarter, the final dinner meeting of the year will be held by Hillel.

Pat Kelly Named To Lead ASAS

The Art School Art Society recently elected a new slate of officers for the 1963-64 school year. ASAS's new president is Patricia Kelly.

Other officers elected were: William Brown, vice president; Linda Pearson, secretary; Frank Argento, treasurer; and Tony Ferri, historian.

ASAS will hold meetings at the new Student Activities Center on Wednesday nights.

RITSWA Meets

The RIT Student Wives' Association will hold its next meeting on Oct. 16 at 8 p.m. in the Student Union.

In addition to the regular meeting, a special feature for the night will be a demonstration on interior decorating of small apartments given by Mrs. Wass.

Our world-recognized trademark—"the P&WA eagle"—has been identified with progress in flight propulsion for almost four decades, spanning the evolution of power from yesterday's reciprocating engines to today's rockets. Tomorrow will find that same Pratt & Whitney Aircraft eagle carrying men and equipment to the moon and to even more distant reaches of outer space.

Engineering achievement of this magnitude is directly traceable to our conviction that basic and applied research is essential to healthy progress. Today's engineers at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft accept no limiting criteria. They are moving ahead in many directions to advance our programs in energy conversion for every environment.

Our progress on current programs is exciting, for it anticipates the challenges of tomorrow. We are working, for example, in such areas as advanced gas turbines... rocket engines... fuel cells... nuclear power—all opening up new avenues of exploration in every field of aerospace, marine and industrial power application.

The breadth of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft programs requires virtually every technical talent... requires ambitious young engineers and scientists who can contribute to our advances of the state of the art. Your degree? It can be a B.S., M.S. or Ph.D. in:

MECHANICAL • AERONAUTICAL • ELECTRICAL • CHEMICAL and NUCLEAR ENGINEERING • PHYSICS • CHEMISTRY • METALLURGY • CERAMICS • MATHEMATICS • ENGINEERING SCIENCE or APPLIED MECHANICS.

Career boundaries with us can be further extended through a corporation-financed Graduate Education Program. For further information regarding opportunities at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, consult your college placement officer—or—write to Mr. William L. Sisters Plan Schedules For Two New Sororities

Two new sororities are swinging into action on the RIT campus this fall.

Beta Chi, formed last year by a group of freshman students, is commencing its first full year here, while Gamma Sigma Sigma, formerly the social sorority Alpha Psi, is completing the transition to service status.

The sisters in both sororities have been busy all summer planning their activities for the coming year. Beta Chi, being new, has had the added work of writing a constitution and designing an emblem and a banner.

The sisterhood has many plans for the coming year, including a cabin party, a hayride, bowling and horsebackriding parties. No dates have been set as yet.

One of the sisters' goals is the adoption and support of a child, a project which they hope will continue into the future.

A nucleus of sisters and upper-class pledges have been working hard this summer to make the transition from social to service status for Gamma Sigma Sigma a successful one. Members and pledges have been corresponding with each other and with other chapters of Gamma Sig, asking and answering questions, and setting up their program for the coming year.

Diverse Styling To be Featured At Hootenanny

Fans of the folk music idiom will be treated to an old-style Hootenanny on Saturday Oct. 26.

Hootenanny at the Eastman will feature the New Lost City Ramblers with Mike Seeger, Canadian folksinger Bonnie Dobson, Jim Kweskin and the Jug Band, and spiritual and jazz singer Reverend Gary Davis.

The program has been designed to combine four diverse styles of folk music, and to emphasize tradition and integrity.

The New Lost City Ramblers have recreated what is described as, "the rough, ragged music of the mountain string bands of the late 20's and 30's. . . ." Bonnie Dobson, a 21 year old Canadian, sings both French-Canadian airs and traditional Anglo-American songs.

Jim Kweskin's Jug Band, the newest phenomenon in the folk music scene, is composed of a gut-bucket, a washboard, a kazoo, and the somewhat more conventional guitar and banjo. The Rev. Gary Davis is a blind folksinger long recognized as a unique performer of the American folk music known as street singing.

Tickets are at the Eastman Theater Box Office from $1.75 up to $3.00.

Student Council Has Broad Responsibilities

Of paramount importance in the organizational picture at RIT is Student Council. It is the governing body of the Student Association of which every day student is a member.

Indispensable to Institute life, Council has become more active and important each year of its existence. All of the many student activities at RIT are the direct responsibility of this group, which governs and regulates all the campus organizations. These groups function under constitutions approved by Council.

Four years ago school-wide elections of Council officers was initiated on this campus. These elections are held in the Spring quarter of the year. Every member of the student body is given the chance to vote for his choice for president and vice-president.

Meetings of Student Council are held every Thursday evening at 6 p.m. in the Student Union on Troup St. All interested students are urged to attend.

Divisions have been set up to simplify the complicated problem of effectively running the Student Association. Controlling various aspects of life at the Institute are five major divisions: Organizational Affairs, which sets up the Leadership Conference held in October at the Rochester Chamber of Commerce; Internal Affairs, which draws up the budget and recommends allocation of $50 thousand to campus organizations; Publications, which publishes the Student Handbook and Student Directory; Social, which plans Spring Weekend, the biggest weekend at the Institute; and Campus Activities, which organizes Parents' Weekend.

Does a college student need a bank?

Probably more than anyone else! Whether you attend college here or elsewhere, your bank can be your best friend in time of financial need, or any time at all.

A Genesee Valley Union Trust Company checking account, for instance, is the best and safest way to take care of your college finances. Your check stubs show you where each dollar went. Your cancelled checks are legal receipts, and you can arrange to have statements sent to your parents as a means of controlling expenses and maintaining sufficient funds.

In Rochester, you'll find a convenient Genesee Valley Union Trust Company office a short walk or quick ride from any Rochester-area college. Drop in at the branch nearest you. Let's get acquainted.

Picnic Climaxes Freshman Days

This year has seen many changes in the freshman indoctrination program designed to better prepare the new student for his college career. Emphasis has been placed on adapting him to the rigid demands of academic life, but at the end of it all the freshmen and their upperclass hosts devote a day to frolic before beginning the long year.

Booters Capture First Match Initiating New Campus Pitch

Coach Jim Dickie's soccer team started out this year's athletic season with a resounding 4 to 1 win over Buffalo State Saturday, Sept. 28 on the new Henrietta pitch.

Buffalo tallied within the first minute of play on a goal by Tom Roffe, but after this RIT's defense went to work and ended the Buffalo scoring.

RIT's goals were made by center forward Al Nazzaro and Steve Grammatico. Nazzaro, never needing an assist, scored twice in the second quarter and once in the fourth turning in what might be called a "soccer hat trick."

Grammatico's goal came in the fourth segment with Jeff Simons assisting.

Goalie Andy Davidhazy had a good day at the nets turning in 14 saves.

Score by quarters:

RIT	0	2	0	2	4
Buffalo State	1	0	0	0	1

Butler Leads Team; Linkmen Capture Second Tourney

Tim Butler's tie for first place with one of the leading amateur golfers in the U. S. highlighted the Brook Lea Invitational Golf Tournament last Friday.

The RIT Golf Team, undefeated for two straight years in inter-collegiate competition, took second place in the tournament represented by nine educational institutions in the area.

Tim Butler, a fourth year Art student, with a 75 tied Curt Siegal of the University of Buffalo. Siegal was New York State Jr. Champion for two years and played on the Ryder Cup Team. Butler's 25 foot putt on the 18th green rimmed the cup but failed to drop leaving a two way tie in medal play competition.

In team play a gross score of 315 gave Buffalo U. a comfortable first over RIT's 337 and third place St. John Fisher's 342. A newcomer to the RIT Team, Bob Honegger, finished with an 80, the only other low score for the Tigers.

The Golf Team will travel to Cornell tomorrow to play in the ECAC Qualifying Championship. The Eastern College Athletic Conference match will feature 12 teams from the area. Qualifying golfers will travel to Bethpage, L. I., the following weekend for the championship with other top notch golfers in the East.

How the Tiger Got His Name

From 1829 until 1955 the Institute athletic teams went by a wide variety of names such as the Techmen and the Blue - Grey.

In 1955 with an undefeated basketball team on the record, Harry Watts who was head of the RIT News Bureau, decided that the team needed a name which would express the "ferocity" of a winning quintet.

After a meeting with a group of RIT lettermen it was agreed that all news releases would carry the RIT "Tigers" as the nickname for all teams. The name stuck and through the past eight years it has been the goal of every coach to make sure that his Tigers had sufficient teeth to be worthy of the title.

If you don't say anything, you won't be called on to repeat it. Calvin Coolidge.

Soccer Team In 6-0 Loss

An undermanned Tiger soccer squad dropped their first game of the season 6-0 at Ithaca College Wednesday against a team twice their size.

With a small squad of 15 the Techman soon began to feel the effects of the 80 degree weather. Spirits sank as the 33 man Ithaca machine poured fresh players into the game at every whistle.

The tired Tigers watched Ithaca score repeatedly during the game. One goal in the first period, 3 in the second, and 2 in the fourth, left RIT shutout.

With two men already out for the season with injuries and several others temporarily crippled, Coach Jim Dickie is pleading for more men. The Tigers have a great potential this year, but if no new recruits show up it may be a grim season.

Tiger Tracks

Nick Cerchio

A player streaking across the ice on two thin blades of steel, a slap shot hitting a speed of over 100 miles per hour, a crisp defense, a sparkling offensive attack, a shrieking crowd, a goal—one of the most exciting sports known to man, hockey.

It is a fortunate school that has this activity as an integral part of its athletic program. RIT is one so fortunate. Although not a recognized varsity team, the Hockey Club last year drew more spectators per game than any other sport on the Institute's roster.

This is a young team, one that is still struggling in its newness, yet one that has made enormous forward strides over the past years. There were times when they (the team members) could not have the school pay the price of a single puck or roll of tape, and who now are receiving regular allocations from Student Council.

Every year the word "hockey" becomes more and more important in the minds of RIT students. Every year hockey makes a definite gain over years previous. There have been improvements, albeit small, that cannot be overlooked, because of the elevating effect they have had on hockey. However, it appears—at this time—that this organization of improvement is about to suffer its first setback.

Last year the team had practice times that, although not the best, were better than anything it had in previous years. Since this was a step forward it should not be succeeded by a step backward, such as the initiation of early morning practices, a setup that is currently—at the time of this writing—trying to be rectified.

Perhaps those who have conceived this idea do not realize what it would do to the quality of a team that depends so much upon split second timing and almost super-human endurance.

For a participant in a sport of this nature to rise at six a.m., take part in an hour of rigorous drills, scrimmages, and skating; and then to hurry a breakfast, attend classes, and put in his necessary study time, would require that he be of professional caliber in peak condition. But for a collegian trying, after three summer vacation months, to get back into playing condition, this would be asking entirely too much.

Even if he were to keep up with this fatiguing program, it is a natural positive assumption that his reflexes and ability as a player would be lowered to the point at which he would be of more use picking up loose splinters on the bench than as a player.

Those who are associated with the club members know they are deserving of the time they wish not only because of their status as an Institute team but also because of the goals that they set for themselves above the scope of athletics. Team members are concerned with their prosperity as a unit. This is to be expected, if not demanded; along with this there is a desire to show anyone who wishes to look that they are also interested in things non-athletic.

Among the primary goals in this non-athletic category is their desire to raise their academic standing above what may ever be expected. Even though the team members need only to stay off probation to play, the desire to show that they are more than just another team displaces the "only to stay off probation" rule.

This and other things should show that these men want to improve, and given the certain materials necessary, they will. They do not ask much, only the recognition deserved and the time to practice and become better than they now are.

X-Country Speeds To Opening Win Pitchmen Lose Second; Fall to Oswego 2-0

A crowd of students, faculty, and administration exceeding the 1000 mark saw Bill Salmi's cross country team take the first three places and the match, 21-34, from St. John Fisher College at the Freshman picnic on West Henrietta campus.

The first race on the new four mile course saw John Ferrante set the course record at 23.07.8 minutes. Close behind was Fred Franke crossing the finish line at 23.09.8. Leigh Stewart sprinted past a fading opponent in the home stretch and finished at 24.29 minutes giving RIT first, second, and third place.

Meegan, Galbraith, and Curry, all of St. John's, placed fourth, fifth, and sixth. Ron Sinack and John Balsler took seventh and eighth for RIT. Maloney and Davids of St. John's were the last two runners over the line.

Oswego State College turned back the RIT Booters 2-0 for the second Tiger loss this season at the Oswego Soccer Field, Saturday, Oct. 5.

A freak penalty in the first period gave Oswego a one point lead as Milt Brown kicked in a penalty shot after six minutes of play.

With substitution limited to 16, RIT's 14 man squad played with a more aggressive spirit which was definitely lacking in last week's game. The second period removed any ideas on the Oswego side that the Tigers would be an easy match.

Oswego came back strong after half, but the Tigers held together and sported a fine defense. Both second and third periods ended scoreless after numerous attempts on goal by both teams.

At 40 seconds in the fourth period Oswego scored again. Frank Lisco was credited with the tally. The remaining minutes showed good aggressive soccer by both teams.

Goalie Andrew Davidhazy played well, stopping 23 shots and making many long kicks against the opposition.

Coach Jim Dickie was pleased with the Tiger spirit and is looking forward to the match with Roberts Wesleyan scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 9.

Tourney Dates Announced; Eight Teams to Compete

Announcement of dates for the Sixth Annual RIT Tech Basketball Tournament here next December was made today by Louis A. Alexander, Jr., director of athletics.

The tournament, which will again feature eight teams in three days and nights of double-header activity, will be played on Dec. 27, 28, and 29.

Site for the tourney will remain the Ritter-Clark Memorial Gym on the RIT campus.

Alexander, in announcing the dates for the '63 tournament, said, "We are very pleased with the progress of the event to date, and feel that it has brought outstanding collegiate basketball to Rochester. We look forward to a (Calcutta) and his doctorate from the University College of Science

Five different schools, RIT, Indiana Tech, Illinois Tech, West Va. Tech, and Drexel Tech, have been crowned champions in the past five tournaments. A total of 16 colleges have participated, representing eight states.
