DO Cookbook Features Recipes From First Lady

Delta Omicron sorority has announced the completion of its cookbook, the "Collegienne Kitchen". As a result of over a year's hard work and planning on the part of many of the sisters, this cookbook was published.

The attractive red and white vinyl cover was designed by the sisters, along with the dividers for each section. It's design is strictly modern and carries out a collegiate theme throughout the book.

The cookbook contains hundreds of recipes that have been divided into sections consisting of appetizers, soups, salads, main dishes and desserts. All the recipes in the "Collegienne Kitchen" were recieved from the DO sisters, their alumnae, RIT students, the faculty, and The most outstanding recipes were sent to DO by the First Lady of the Nation, Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

The sisters have dedicated the cook book to their alumnae who have actively supported all their projects.

Monday will be the first time that anyone will be able to purchase a copy of the "Collegienne Kitchen". The selling price has been set at $2.75. The cookbook may be purchased from any sister of Delta Omicron sorority.

IFC Initiates 'Open Rushing'

Inter-Fraternity Council President Tom Grabowski has announced the advent of open rushing to take place on the weekends only before the formal rushing season starts. However, fraternities may not send out general invitations to prospective rushees until after the formal rushing season starts around the first of November.

President Grabowski expressed the importance of "the personal contact and hoped that open rushing would alleviate the over-rush" of short formal rush season.

For the first time this year, IFC will hold an orientation meeting before the formal rushing period begins. Representatives from each fraternity will orientate the rushees on the four major aspects of fraternity life — athletics, scholastic, social and civic affairs.

At that time each rushee will be given a card that must be signed by an officer of each fraternity and returned with his bid.

Through the efforts of IFC, the prospective pledge will be able to know the fraternity system and the men in it better; thus, make a wiser, satisfying decision towards his fraternity life and the future.

'Sigma Pi' Astronaut Orbits Earth in 'Sigma 7' Capsule

(Ed. note—John A. McHenry, Vice President of Sigma Pi Fraternity, kindly consented to write this article which directly affected Sigma Pi Fraternity and RIT. We feel that in this instance, the personal admiration and joy expressed is understandable.)

This past week Navy Cmdr. Walter Schirra completed a space flight of six orbits as a further advance in the U.S. space flight program. Although this feat probably will not be as historic as the first launch or the first orbital mission, it was very important to the RIT students and especially to the brothers of Sigma Pi Fraternity here on campus.

Wally graduated from the Newark College of Engineering in 1944 from an engineering program very similar in scope to the RIT engineering studies. While at Newark, Schirra was initiated and became a very active brother of Alpha-Mu Chapter of Sigma Pi.

The RIT Sigma Pi brothers were elated when it was announced

ed that Cmdr. Schirra had named his capsule "Sigma 7". The prime reason for the name "Sigma" was in reference to the mathematical use of the Greek letter as the sign of summation. This was to be the last flight of its type in the current series and a culmination of the efforts of the previous flights, so the term "Sigma" was quite appropriate.

In a letter to the national fraternity, Sigma Pi'er Schirra pointed out that he was proud to be able to honor his college fraternity and his engineering training at N.C.E. in the naming of the capsule. His success can accurately be traced back to the valuable training in science he received as an engineering student and the personal training and character development he gained as a fraternity member.

The success of this man can certainly be a large incentive to our efforts as college students and potential leaders in our future efforts as young citizens.

Do You Have Your 1962 Copy?

After this deadline copies may be purchased by anyone (students, faculty, staff) for $5.00

Student Wives' Tea Sunday

The Rochester Institute of Technology Students' Wives Assn. will hold its third annual tea Sunday, Oct. 14, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Room

The theme of the tea will be "Autumn Flowers."

All wives of day students enrolled at RIT are invited to attend the tea and are eligible for membership in the organization. of the Nathaniel Rochester Hall.

Enthusiastic Freshmen Perform For 'Skits-o-froshia' Audience

Our Freshman class came through with another enjoyable event at the Nathaniel Rochester Hall sponsored "Skits-o-froshia" and dance on Friday Oct. 5, 1962 at 8 p.m. The three winners were: First Place—3rd Floor NRH, Second Place—Powers Hotel, and Third Place—4th floor NRH. It is interesting to note that none of the winners had help from either of the girl's dorms.

Under bright lights and in our spacious gym, the various floors performed their skits. A new entrance to the event was the Powers Hotel group.

The 7th floor NRH and the 2nd floor of KG revealed what goes on at the KG before the girls go out for a date. "Mass production" is what they most aptly called it.

The 8th floor of NRH and 4th floor of KG brought back to moving-in day at the KG as a young lady moved in with a "few" pieces of luggage.

The 9th floor of NRH and Francis Baker Hall teamed up to answer some of a typical freshman's questions as he first observes RIT.

The 10th floor of NRH and the 6th floor of KG choose to borrow from Broadway as they tried to present an understanding picture of a poor misunderstood and misguided individual.

The 3rd floor of NRH expounded upon RIT'S perennial problem of the Boy-Girl ratio. Dave Rylance and his young freshman "girl friend" did an outstanding job as the 3rd floor went on to take first place.

The 4th floor of NRH presented vividly the freshman's and upper-classman's too, problem of first trying to cross Plymouth Ave., and then visiting a local establishment to "past the time away." The 4th floor's efforts at trying to cross Plymouth Ave. were rewarded as they won the 3rd place trophy.

The 5th floor of NRH and the 5th floor of KG presented the problem of freshMEN versus upperclassMEN as each tries to woo the young ladies of RIT.

The 6th floor of NRH and the 3rd floor of KG explained the rules and regulations of the dorms(?). The entrance at the end of a certain small(?) Irish Wolfhound finished a very fine skit.

The Powers Hotel compared the living conditions at the 'Powers Elite' to that of NRH. Mr. Rinfret has been since swamped with requests for transfers to the Powers. The Powers group took the second place trophy for a very excellent skit.

The skits this year at the third annual Skits-o-froshia revealed a great amount of enthusiasm on the part of the freshmen. Their work was well rewarded and Social Chairman Jon Dunn of the Nathaniel Rochester Hall did an excellent job in preparing this event.

The dance after the skits to the music of Vic Platti was a success in itself as the number of young ladies that attended was quite substantial.

Big Names Bring Small Crowds

The Institute has been fortunate in the past to have many big names entertain in the Ritter-Clark Memorial. What is surprising is the number of students who take advantage of the opportunity at hand. Nowhere else in Rochester can one see the groups that appear for such a nominal fee, except in the Ritter-Clark. Nevertheless, the whole student body does not back these big names, and the losses that are encountered are heavy. This cannot keep up for long.

Two weekends ago, Richard Maltby appeared at RIT and a $1,200 loss was registered. Many factors contributed to the failure of this event to catch hold. Right away the students are blamed, but the advertising of this big name was not what we would call complete and effective. Better prior planning could have turned this situation into a success. Many students would have attended if they had the knowledge of this band leader's upcoming performance.

We would like to see more big names at the Institute. This will only continue through better planning and advertising on the part of the organization, and stronger support on the part of the student body.

Collegiate Co-operation Urged

How much do you know about the University of Rochester and other colleges in this area? We feel that the relationship between ourselves and students on other campuses has been at a stagnant level too long. We are sure that if one was to delve into the subject of "what happens" at our neighboring schools, he could find many situations that could be applied right here on this campus.

Establishing contacts at other colleges also has another merit. Sharing of knowledge can do us no harm. Collegians everywhere belong to one massive group of educated individuals. Through the contacts we make we can initiate a means for an exchange of ideas that will add to our total education. Besides this we never know when one of these contacts will be of value in the future. One school of thought claims: "It's not what you know but who you know." We cannot agree with this wholeheartedly, but many times it is true. The strength of friendship is much stronger than many of us realize.

Friendly relations with our neighboring colleges and universities can likewise better the Institute overall. The support from other schools that could be gained for our activities could result in many of our "flops" turning into successes.

It's up to us to take the first step. Let's invite some of the area collegians to our events, whether they be lectures, parties, exhibits or weekends. We hope Institute students will take the initiative in promoting friendly relations and collegiate cooperation with colleges and universities in the area.

Letters to The Editor...

The following letter was received during the summer in reference to the April Fool's "Retorter" of last year that carried the story of Col. John Glenn's planned visit to this campus:

Dear Mr. Friedman:

It was most thoughtful of you to write to me, and to send me the memento which you enclosed. Please be assured that my delay in replying to you in no way reflects a lack of appreciation of your kindness. I am sure you will understand that the task of answering more than 70,000 letters, while continuing my work in the space program, made the delay inevitable.

The interest which you, and thousands of other Americans, have expressed in our national space effort is an inspiration to all of us who are associated with this vital activity. On behalf of all who are participating in this great team effort, I would like to express our gratitude to you.

With good wishes,

Sincerely yours,
John H. Glenn, Jr.

The tendency of modern science is to reduce proof to absurdity by continually reducing absurdity to proof. - Samuel Butler.

Pennsylvanians Serve RIT As Head Residents of Dorms

Making our dormitory systems a better place to live are two familiar faces in the Head Resident positions. For the first time the Head Resident system is in effect for the women in Francis Baker Hall. Entrusted with this tedious job is Sue Heacock, while Terry Deglau takes the helm for the men.

Sue, a fourth year Retailer from Hatboro, Pa., is attending RIT on a Projansky Scholarship. Sue's interests are wide and varied. While at RIT she has compiled an impressive record as President and Vice-President of Delta Omicron Sorority. Sue has also served on Student Council, Dorm Council, Inter-Sorority Council and also compiled an avid fencing record. Upon graduation the 21 year old brunette plans to work for Bloomingdale's department store in New York City entering their junior executive training program.

Sue, reserved, well spoken, confidently enjoys her responsibility over 20 young women and sincerely believes that "the small dormitory is best for the individual." Well liked and respected she feels that "the student is mature enough to accept responsibility and not take advantage of the situation," a philosophy on which Francis Baker Hall is run.

Terry Deglau is a third year Professional Photography student from Derry, Pa. Terry attended the University of Pittsburgh where he joined Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity before coming to RIT. During the summer he water skis, specializing in barefoot skiing and jumping but still claims the most exciting moment of the summer was when he was pinned.

Before taking over as Head Resident Terry was Vice-President of Delta Lambda Epsilon.

As Head Resident the 22 year old Pennsylvanian is responsible for 504 men at Nathaniel Rochester Hall and 102 men in the Powers Hotel. This tremendous responsibility requires more than 35 to 40 hours a week of his time which he cheerfully gives.

Terry hopes "to increase the resident participation in school and dormitory events through encouragement by the floor advisory system." Terry believes that "RIT has one of the best dormitory systems in the USA."

A bit of advice that both the young Pennsylvanians agree on

was put so aptly by Sue: "Be interested in events and people around you and the people will be interested in you." This is good advice, an insight into the wise leadership you can expect from our new Head Residents.

Cayley's Corner

What is the Chief end of man?
That's an old question
In the religious Catechisms.
I think
The chief end of man
Is his head!
Sime
Just wear a hat on it.
Some feel so disappointed
With it
That they decorate it
Like a Christmas Tree.
Some just use it for a funnel.
Others use it
Just to make noise -
(Much of it dirty noise).
Which only debauches.
Shakespeare said -
"The loud laugh bespeaks
The vacant mind."
I wish somebody
Equally important
Would also say -
"The diseased mind
Spouts sewage."
So
It seems bright to ask -
The chief end of man?
Well -
I'm going to Climb out on a limb -
And invite anyone
To try to saw it off.
I think the chief end
Of the chief end of man
Is to think. . . good thoughts.
(And I'll give you the saw -
"What are GOOD thoughts?")
Would you like some Good bull sessions
To start sawing?
Or
Do you prefer
To sit back and allow
The vigorous, dynamic forces of Cynicism, Immorality,
Pornography and materialism
To take the Intellectual control of
Our chief ends?
Well,
The Religious Fellowship
Of YOUR Faith
Meets here!
Attend it and Start sawing!

Prof. Bickal Looks Toward Washington

Robert R. Bickal, an Assistant Professor in the College of General Studies, has his sights set on membership in the House of Representatives in the 88th Congress which will convene in Washington during January, 1963. Bickal is campaigning on the Democratic and Liberal Party tickets for the position of Representative from the 36th District which includes Monroe County east of the Genesee and all of Wayne County.

Bickal said that his major reason for running was his dedication to the President's legislative programs. He commented on the fact that a great deal of vital legislation had not been passed by the 87th Congress. Bickal feels that the President needs more Northern Democrats in Congress who are in sympathy with his program.

Asked his position on some of the major issues of the day, Bickal stated that he supported the Medicare Program. He also supported a program of aid to higher education and education in general. Bickal pointed out that it takes many years for Congressional appropriations to be converted to hard cold realities. He felt that we must begin acting now so that we will be fully prepared for the greater problems that face our educational systems in the future. In addition, Bickal said that he would like to see the Department of Urban Affairs made a reality, and we must have the necessary social and economic legislation passed that will meet the needs of the nation now.

Commenting on his opposition, Bickal felt that neither his opponent nor the Republican Party as a whole had met the needs of the people. He feels that we must strengthen the integrity of our own system so that we can demonstrate to the remainder of the world the benefits to be gained from the Democratic, free-enterprise way of life. Only through this type of action are we going to establish our system of government as superior to that of Communism. Bickal feels that we must continue large scale foreign aid for some time. However, he feels that we must improve our system of aid to produce more constructive utilization. We must do more than just enrich certain areas.

Professor Bickal will be appearing in a televised debate with his Republican opponent on October 17. He anticipates a formal appearance on campus sometime during the remainder of the campaign.

Hopes Waning For New RIT Band

In late summer, before the students arrived for the year, Student Council presented their views on a new band for RIT to the administration.

Student Council conducted a mail vote and reached an unanimous decision to appropriate $600 in funds for the new band. The Student Council executive committee decided it will be a worthwhile move due to the amount of interest expressed by the student body. Council also stated that allocations are appropriated for any organizations that will be of benefit to the student body. The administration agreed to appropriate $600 to finance this new band.

This new organization will be under the leadership of Munro Sherrill. Students who participated in high school bands and other students having musical ability, experience and interest are asked to attend the meetings scheduled for organizing this group. They will be held on Monday and Wednesday nights in E-125 at 7:30 p.m.

Library Facilities Rapidly Expand To Meet Increased Student Needs

Higher education means more than just classroom learning and homework assignments. Library research, investigation and outside reading are also essentials for a well-rounded academic program.

Located in its headquarters opposite the Ritter-Clark Building, the Institute library realizes the importance of this outside work.

Circulating books may be borrowed by all students with the presentation of a library card. Loans are made for a period of two weeks and renewal privileges are available.

of art, photography, printing, retailing, business and technical subjects may be easily found through consulting the master index card catalog file. Most books may be obtained from "open stacks" or from browsing through shelves, but the catalog will be found to contain valuable information. It is now in two sections, author-title and subject, and is based on the Dewey Decimal System of classification.

The Library is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Sundays.

Young GOP's Set Bonfire and Rally For Tomorrow

The RIT Young Republicans in conjunction with the Monroe County Young Republican Club will hold a rally, bonfire and block dance tomorrow night at the RIT Parking Lot located on the corner of Broad and Clarissa Streets. The rally will get under way at about 8 p.m.

This will wind up a full day of campaign activity for the Young Republicans in this area. This is part of a state wide program intended to spotlight the Young Republicans.

Beginning early in the morning they will tour many shopping centers throughout the County with local candidates in an attempt to seek votes. This is being done by all Young Republicans throughout the state to attract state wide attention.

All of the local candidates will be present and will have an opportunity to say a few words. Among them will be Frank Horton, former City Councilman and former president of the Rochester Red Wing Baseball Club. He is seeking the congressional seat in the 36th district and is being opposed by Robert Bickal, RIT Literature professor.

Following the lighting of the bonfire and the introduction of the candidates, a block dance will be held in the Parking lot and all of the student body is invited to attend.

During the noon hour this week the RIT Young Republicans have had a booth set up in front of E-125 distributing literature and making an avid bid for new members of their club. A great deal of attention has been displayed due to the recording they have been playing entitled "Rocky and Jack", a campaign song adopted by the Republican State Committee for the re-election bids of Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Senator Jacob Javits.

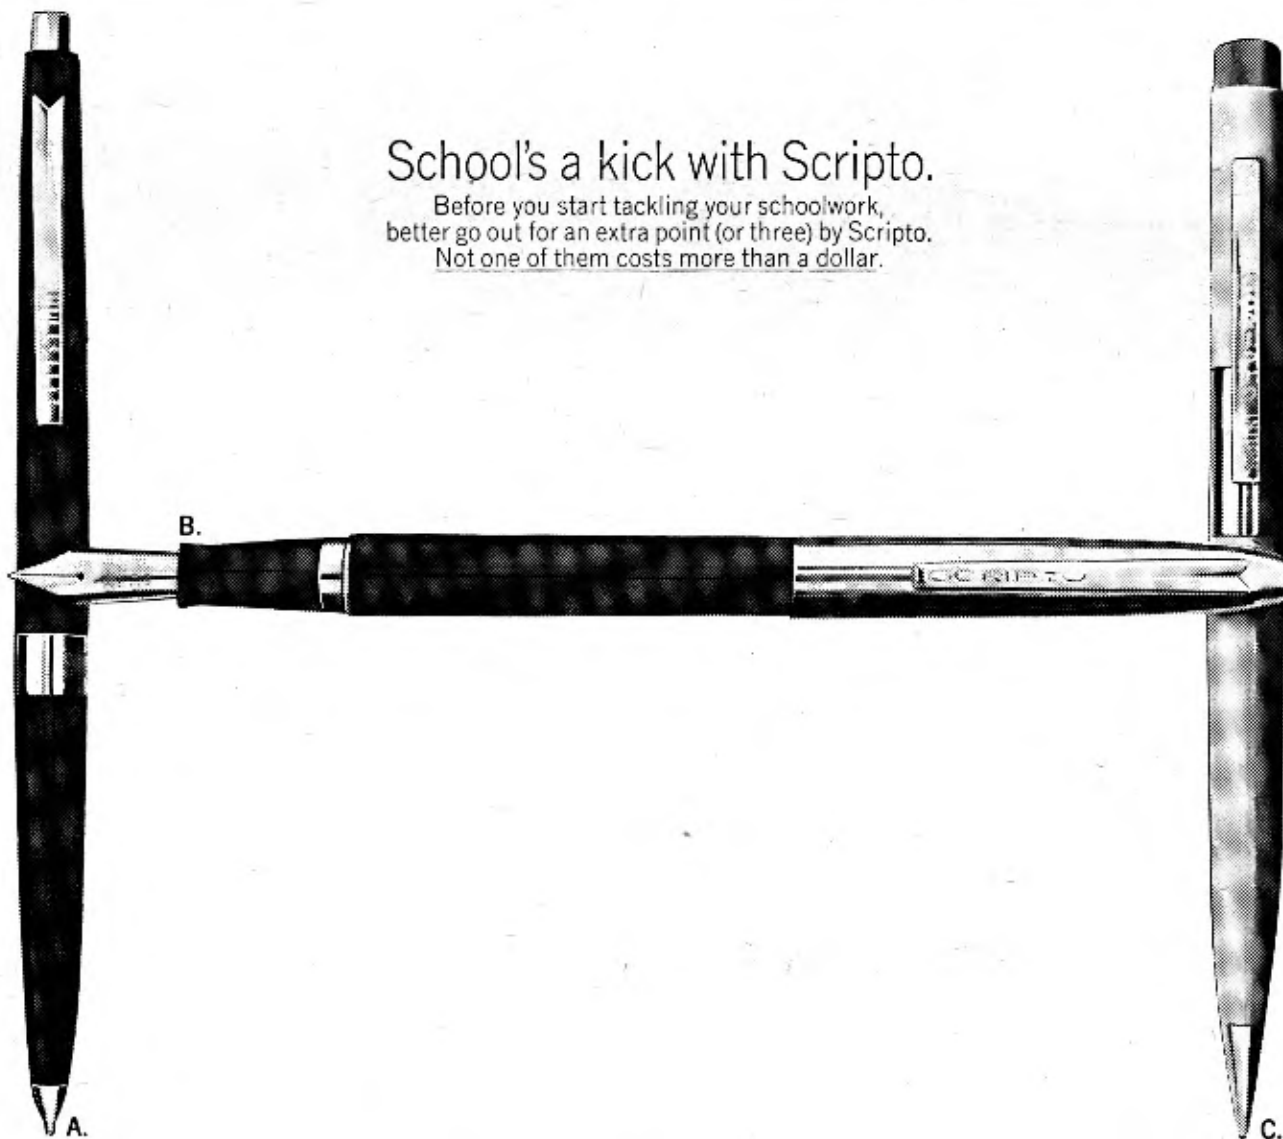

The Young Republicans have also announced that Senator Javits will visit RIT to speak at an assembly some time between now and election day. The exact date is not yet known.

To further develop student political interest is a mock election co-sponsored by the RIT Young Republicans and Young Democrats to be held in E-125 on election day.

The party will be held in the RITSkeller.

Fund Campaign 'Kick-Off' Brings Hopes of Increased Participation

RIT's 13,000 member Alumni Association has launched its twentieth annual alumni fund campaign. The "Kick-Off" session for the drive was held at the Oak Hill Country Club on October 3, 1962. Over 125 volunteer workers attended the dinner.

Major emphasis for this year's campaign is on development of a greater percentage of contributing alumni. This factor is of great importance to the Institute's total fund raising program. The percentage of contributing alumni often governs the extent of support that can be obtained from national foundations and industries.

Last year only 8.1 percent of the alumni with known address contributed to the alumni fund. In figures just released by the American Alumni Council in Washington, the average for American Colleges and Universities was listed at 24 percent.

Each of the speakers at the meeting made particular mention of the percentage of participation. It was further stated that any gift regardless of size would increase the percentage factor.

Serving as toastmaster for the meeting was Harris Rusitsky, a 1956 graduate of the Food Administration Department. He is general chairman of the campaign. In his remarks, Mr. Rusitsky noted that although only 125 alumni were present, over 325 alumni will be working on the drive. These persons will be making personal calls on their fellow alumni seeking their participation in the 1962 Campaign.

James F. Hayden '38, President of the Alumni Association, greeted the workers at the dinner. His remarks directed their attention to the pride that can be taken by RIT's alumni in their alma mater especially in light of the decision by the board of Trustees to establish a new campus.

Also, greeting the group was Mr. Alfred L. Davis, Vice President of Public Relations and Development for the Institute. In his remarks, Mr. Davis provided the gathering with a review of the current planning being conducted for the new campus. He also commented on the importance of the alumni fund to the Institute.

Sen. LaVerne To Address Leadership Conference

The annual RIT Leadership Conference, to be held Saturday, Oct. 20, will feature Senator Thomas LaVerne (R-NY) as the keynote speaker. The Conference, a day-long seminar sponsored by Student Council, will be held at 50 Main Street West this year and will include workshops in the areas of leadership development, financial management, and organizational problems.

Each campus organization is entitled to send two representatives to the Conference. This year there will be no registration fee as was charged in past years.

Organizational Affairs Division Head, John Snyder, who is chairman of the conference committee commented, "The Leadership Conference is intended to be a service of Student Council for the

and the challenge that exists for alumni to raise their percentage of participation well above the national average. Further, he stated if alumni can raise the percentage it would be graphic example that alumni are behind the decision of the Board of Trustees to establish a new campus.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Joseph Paillie '38 reported as chairman of a pilot group of solicitors. He stated that over 90 percent of the alumni contacted by his team made a contribution. This is without question a new record for any phase of an RIT Alumni Campaign.

Seven alumni are serving as divisional chairman for the campaign. They are: Mr. Eugene T. Natale '42, Industrial Division; Dr. Charles Bishop '57 and Mr. Richard Limpert '49 co-chairman, Individual Personal Solicitation; Mr. James F. Hayden '38, Regional; Mr. Ray Olson, Special Gifts; Mr. Robert Wright '46 Mail, and Mr. Donald Byers '60 Telephone.

Midtown Plaza Hosts UN Food Day Activities

This year the Midtown Plaza Mall will serve as the location for United Nations Food Day, October 21, 1962, and host the gala program created by the Rochester Food Service Executives Assn.

The association will open United Nations Week by sponsoring a United Nations Dinner, Sunday, October 21, in the Midtown Mall at 6:00 P.M. The unique menu will include courses highlighting dishes from many countries. There will be decorations, flags and other gala reminders of the international significance of the occasion.

Also featured in the program will be a culinary display of dishes from United Nations countries. Ten of Rochester's top chefs will take part in this event. Clarence Gallmann, a Food Management major at R.I.T., and now in his senior year, has also been invited to take part. Though the Food Administration Department does not concentrate on the culinary arts, Clarence has had top training in this area. He attended the Culinary Institute at New Haven, Conn., worked at the Cartwright Inn, the Country Squire, and he is currently with the Trenholm Motor Lodge.

Being the first banquet to be held in the Midtown Mall, this should be the dinner of all dinners for Rochester. Tickets may be purchased for $6.00 per person and may be obtained from Mr. Joseph Lusardi, Bausch & Lomb Inc., 635 St. Paul St., Rochester 2, New York.

benefit of campus organizations. For this reason we feel there should be no charge." About last year's conference he added, "While last year's conference was good, the best thing was the evaluation of it given afterward by those attending. With this as a guide we will avoid making the same mistakes again."

Mrs. Bertha T. Thurber, 79, formerly faculty member of the Rochester Institute of Technology's Food Administration Department, died Oct. 7, 1962 at Strong Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Thurber, a native of Caton, near Corning, attended Corning Free Academy and Buffalo State Teachers College before enrolling in RIT. She was graduated in 1912 and took a course in domestic science at Columbia University before starting to teach at RIT.

She served on the faculty at her alma mater for 43 years, retiring from the teaching profession in 1955. At the time she was honored by fellow workers at the RIT's annual faculty-staff banquet. She was named professor emeritus of the Institute's Food Administration Department last June.

Pitchmen Split Weekend Games

Last Wednesday afternoon, at Genesee Valley Park, our varsity pitchmen downed St. John Fisher College 2-1. The game went into two five minute overtimes, with RIT scoring the winning goal in the first of these. (In soccer two overtimes are played instead of one.)

Both of our goals were scored by Rudy Siciliano on two penalty shots. In commenting, Coach Dickie said that we executed many excellent plays up to and around the goal, but couldn't seem to put the ball through the posts.

After winning their two opening home games, the soccer team journeyed to Potsdam where they suffered their first setback of the season. Potsdam hit early in the game by piling up their two goals in the first period. RIT was unable to tally until late in the fourth period when Harold Fish booted in our loan goal. Goalie Dave Hazy played an excellent defensive game for the Tigers.

Print Conference Held Sunday

Classes on Sunday? Well, hardly! But the group of "scholars" which was attending class in the School of Printing last Sunday took its instruction in stride, as over 100 members of the Capital District Mechanical Conference spent the day visiting RIT's printing facilities.

The Capital District group, composed of representatives of newspaper and commercial printers and publishers from the Albany - Troy - Schenectady area held its annual conference last weekend in Rochester. The highlight of the meeting was the day-long session at the School of Printing.

Conference members saw various demonstrations in both letterpress and offset printing methods, and had a chance to see what is new in the field of technical developments.

Following the visitation the conference held its banquet at the Powers Hotel. Dr. Mark Ellingson, Institute president, addressed the group.

Arrangements for the visit were under the direction of Byron G. Culver, Director of the School

Legmen Strive For Comeback

After being absent for a few years from the RIT campus, cross-country is back again this year under the able leadership of Coach Bill Salmi.

Because of the lull in cross-country activities on the campus, the team will be without the help of any experienced lettermen. However, reports have it there are many "retired" high school cross-country men walking around the campus. If these men would come out of "retirement," we could have cross-country well on the road to becoming a big sport at RIT again. And if they don't? Well, we lost the team once; it could happen again.

Fencers Frustrated Over Lack of Foilers

The fencing team under the coaching of Paul Scipioni has begun practice.

This, the only co-ed intercollegiate team, still has openings for all students, including freshmen.

All interested are asked to stop by the men's or women's physical educational offices as soon as possible.

Tiger Tracks

HANK BLAUSTEIN

The day that Commander Walter M. Schirra made his nine-hour, six-orbit flight around the globe will be remembered by Americans for many years to come. This same day will be remembered by baseball fans for a longer time still. That was the day that the San Francisco Giants won the National League pennant flag in the ninth inning of the final game of the best-of-three playoff series.

Oct. 3, 1962 was a day when one of the largest worldwide audiences watched, listened and prayed for the Astronaut as he whizzed dramatically through space. At the same time, an equally as impressive audience was watching and rooting as the second contender for the 1962 World Series was chosen.

A little closer to home—and perhaps just as important to RIT sports followers—was the fact that on this same historic day, one of the largest crowds on record was on hand as the Tiger soccer team won its second regularly scheduled game against our neighbors from St. John Fisher. Attendance and good spirit can sometimes make all the difference in a close ball game, and it is fairly safe to assume that the crowd at that game had a very beneficial affect on the final 2 to 1 score.

The pitchmen's 2 and 0 record (up to the time of this writing) and their pre-season victory over the strong Golden Eagles of Brockport State seems to paint a bright picture for the fall season. The support that was demonstrated at the St. John's game could make the difference between the many ties experienced last year and victory. Jim Dickie's soccer team is scheduled to face many stronger opponents than have already been played. Let's continue showing the support due our fine teams and make sure that Oct. 3, is not remembered as the day the best crowd ever was on hand at an RIT soccer match.

An old problem is again evident in the RIT sports picture. This problem is quite frankly lack of manpower. The lack of depth on most of our teams has been pointed out in the showings of most our teams in recent years. Again, the outlook for the coming year is not bright. The prospects for the basketball and wrestling teams is not at all promising and the sad story is, as before, that the needed personnel is available. The student body has the capacity to field winning teams, but the fact remains that too many of these capable athletes do not go out for teams that need them so badly.

Many complain that they cannot afford the time and that their studies will suffer. For some, this is undoubtedly true, but for most this situation is merely a myth. Games and the practice sessions required for a winning team takes a good deal of time it is true, but there is still plenty of time to accomplish the studies necessary for a college student, I don't think there is one student at RIT who can honestly say that all his time is devoted to books.

The many hours spent in extra circular activities such as nursing a Jenny at the PT or following the adventures of Ben Casey on TV could without much effort be turned to a few hours a week at the gym. Not only would you be contributing to the name of your school and adding to your college experience, but it has been conclusively proven by the people who make it their business such as Vic Tanny and "Buffalo" Bob Klos, that a little wholesome exercise properly administered can definitely help the beer belly situation. The entire student body, as well as the athletic department, is in debt to those who participate in our athletic program.

Remember too, a non-athlete will never have much of a chance of dating either Modene or Fonda. The coaches are usually available at the gym office to talk to you concerning your participation, why not drop in on them. The fee for their counsel is very nominal.
