Institute Board of Trustees Gets Three New Members

Three new appointments to the Board of Trustees at RIT were announced following an Executive Committee meeting on Feb. 1.

Appointed trustees to existing Board vacancies were Mrs. Robert H. Wadsworth, active in many local civic organizations; George S. Beinette, President of Rochester Telephone Corp.; and A. Dexter Johnson, assistant vice president and director of advertising, Eastman Kodak Co.

Mrs. Wadsworth, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College, served on the board of the York State Craftsmen from 1960-63 and is presently a board member of the City Club of Rochester. She is currently vice president of the Mt. Holyoke College Alumni Association and future Planning Chairman for the Planned Parenthood League of Rochester and Monroe County. She served the latter as president from 1962 to 1964. She and her husband, Dr. Robert Wadsworth, and two daughters make their home at 147 Chelmsford Rd., Rochester.

George Beinetti, a native of Albany, received his engineering degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He is Director and Assistant Treasurer of the Rochester Convention and Publicity Bureau, and a member of the Finance and Advisory Committee of the State Traffic Safety Council.

He also holds membership in the Community Chest of Rochester, the Rochester Club, the American Management Association, and the Rochester Chapter of RPI's alumni Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Beinetti reside at 6 Courtenay Circle, Pittsford.

A. Dexter Johnson began his career with Eastman Kodak in 1934 and through the years has held numerous positions with the firm, being appointed to his present post on May 1, 1964. He established regional advertising and display offices in branch cities throughout the United States and in 1957 moved to the San Francisco branch to serve as acting manager of the Pacific Northern Sales District.

He returned to Rochester in June, 1957, to rejoin Kodak's advertising department and in August of that year was named Advertising Manager. He was elected an Assistant Vice President of the firm in November, 1960.

A native of Connecticut, he received his Ph. D. degree from Brown University.

He and his wife reside at 4052 East Avenue, Rochester.

WRIT to Exchange Programs With Iowa Wesleyan Station

WRIT, the radio station of the Men's Residence Hall, has begun taping shows for participation in a proposed program exchange with Station KOED of Iowa Wesleyan College. The executive board and programming department of WRIT recently received confirmation from the KOED program director to participate in the proposed exchange.

The idea of the exchange program was first presented by WRIT's General Manager Tom Nottingham seven weeks ago. Since then the station has been working on technical problems in preparation for the show.

About the middle of February the first program from KOED is expected. Each program will be

Fall Quarter Dean's List Shows Gain

Fall Quarter '64 showed an increase of two per cent on the Dean's List over Fall Quarter '63. Physics and Retailing each had over 16 per cent of their students on the list, with Chemistry, School for American Craftsmen, and Math following.

Dr. Leo F. Smith, Vice President for Academic Affairs, stated that this percentage represents an increase of 50 students with a grade point average of 3.25 or better. The student population for Fall Quarter 1963 was 2,069 and 2,195 for Fall Quarter 1964.

Dr. Smith also reported that Spring Quarter consistently has the highest number on the Dean's List.

Work on Academic Changes Continues

Dr. Leo F. Smith, Vice President for Academic Affairs, has announced that the departments and schools of the Institute are still working on the academic changes for next year which were announced recently in the Reporter. The changes are being initiated by department faculties who saw a need for reform in academic policies.

The aim of the changes is to improve the total educational program by making provisions for more intensive concentration on fewer subjects, placing more of the responsibility on each student for his own education, through the use of individual projects and assignments. The details of how this aim is to be implemented will be announced at a later date.

approximately one hour in length. It is hoped that the idea will be broadened to include other college radio stations across the country.

WRIT has stated that it will give equal time to WITR in the fair exchange programs. Students interested in this idea should write to both stations, expressing their opinions.

On Jan. 31 a direct line to cover the entire dorm was completed, making it possible to present live broadcasts of Dorm Council and Open House events. A direct phone connection to the Ritter-Clark Gym for the past three weeks has made it possible for WRIT to broadcast portions of the hockey games live.

Carnival Returning To 'Weekend' Program

by Jon B. Harden

Plans for the biggest and best Spring Weekend ever have been announced by Phil Giammatteo (Pr 4), Chairman of the 1965 Spring Weekend Committee.

The theme of this year's Spring Weekend, to be held May 7 - 9, will be either "Make Mine Manhattan" or "Manhattan Mood." The final choice is still to be made.

Several changes have been planned for this year's Weekend. One of the most significant is the return of the carnival on Friday evening. This has been done to fill the gap caused by the open date and to provide the organizations a chance to earn some money to offset the heavy expenses incurred on other events.

Judgings of the four events in which organizations on campus will compete, will be based on a maximum score of 50 points instead of 1,000 points as in past years. It was felt by the Spring Weekend Committee that a lower scoring standard will encourage the judges to be more discriminating and perceptive in awarding points.

The four events are the outdoor advertising displays, carnival, skits and parade. They are divided into two divisions—Class A for larger organizations and Class B for smaller ones. Organizations in Class B will not complete in the outdoor advertising contest. This change will make the competition more realistic and will lighten the burden on the smaller organizations. All organizations have previously competed on the same level. Prizes will be awarded in each division.

Organizations in Class A will choose three of the four events as major events, leaving the fourth as their minor. Scores won on major events will be multiplied by a factor of three while scores (Continued on page 5)

Coeds to Compete In Best-Dressed Girl Contest

by Helen Howard

An exciting week in New York City visiting the top fashion houses and entertainment spots may be in store for a lucky RIT coed. The Reporter in conjunction with Glamour Magazine is sponsoring a Best-Dressed Girl contest.

Candidates will be selected by a nominating committee and then RIT's entire female population will have an opportunity to vote.

On Thursday, Feb. 18, the Reporter staff will host a tea, from 4 until 5:30, for the purpose of introducing the candidates to the Institute's coeds. The tea will be held in the Blue Lounge of Kate Gleason Hall.

The best dressed college girls in the country, selected by Glamour's judges, are feted with clothes and beauty aids. They appear in the fall issue modeling back-to-school fashions. A whirlwind tour of New York is only part of the prize.

Members of the Nominating Committee are: Kathy McCormick (Ret 3), Cathy Doran (A&D 2), Phillis Morrow (Ret 4), Jeanine Packer (Bus Adm 21), Connie Love (Ret 4) and Helen Howard (FA 4) represent the Reporter. Miss Katharine Hartfelder, Employment Coordinator, College of Business, is the faculty advisor.

Voting will be Friday, Feb 19, and only girls will be allowed to cast a ballot.

Koch's Speech To Highlight Arts Festival

Robert Koch, Associate Professor in the College of General Studies, will speak on "American Literature" on Thursday, Feb. 18, at 3 p.m. in E-125. The lecture is part of the February Creative Arts Festival. Koch's lecture will help to develop the theme of the festival, "Trends in American Culture."

Winners in the art, photo, and the poetry and essay contests will also be announced at the lecture. Cash prizes will be awarded to the top three winners in each category.

A showing of entries in the Art Contest will be held on the second floor lobby of the Main Street Building from Feb. 15-19.

Roving Reporter

This is the first of a new series to appear weekly in the RIT Reporter. The main purpose for this column is to give the students a chance to make their views known without a letter to the Editor. Each week a new question on some facet of student life will be asked and the opinions of those queried will be published. Anyone with a good question that they feel is of interest to the student body is asked to submit it to the Roving Reporter in written form at the Reporter Office.

Question: What, to you, is the significance of the Mr. Campus, Miss KIT election?

John Kosta (Photo 3): In the past few years the contest has seemed to take on an unbecoming trend. The way it is carried out now is rather amusing, if not a downright joke—with very little, if any student support, why then should it be of any significance whatsoever to me?"

Sue Nifenger (FA 1): "I haven't been here long enough for it to have any significance, also I would like to be better informed as to what it is. I don't think the freshmen are told enough about it, as a matter of fact this is the first I have heard of it."

Dottie Lewis (Ret 3): "I feel it should be recognition of an outstanding student's academic and social activities. Now it is more or less a popularity contest. The voting and the winners should show the students for what they are and not who they know!"

Eastwood Van Regis (Pr 4): "A contest is a contest! I think if people would take more interest in the side benefits it would be much more fun and profitable. Perhaps Student Senate will set up a couple booths they are and bar and the Pastime where students can place side bets and be kept up to date on who is the odds-on favorite. Here is a chance for the Senate to make some extra Money and maybe next year we will have cooks in the cafeteria."

Opportunity Knocks But Once . . . Open!

February is the month of the Creative Arts Festival at RIT. Activities ranging from lectures to concerts to art shows have been planned and are being presented for the benefit of the students and faculty of our Institute. All a person has to do in order to profit from these is to attend—there is no charge. A lot of work and planning has gone into the organizing of the festival and as a result the programs are stimulating.

It has been said by many people that RIT is not an institute of higher learning but merely a place to get a degree. The existence of programs such as the Creative Arts Festival go to refute this assumption

Spring Weekend Grows — So Do Groans

The plans for spring weekend have just been announced, and they call for bigger and more demanding participation than ever before. Each year the weekend grows; it is bigger and better, and the organizations that enter the competition bend lower and lower under the load of work and money that the weekend demands.

The fault of the weekend cannot, however, be placed with the Spring Weekend Committee. The committee is building a strong weekend. Every detail is covered. Every idea is used to build a better weekend for RIT.

But the cry is still heard in the halls but the attendance at these events tends to go back up solidly. The vast majority of RIT students couldn't care less about "Trends in American Culture," the theme of the month long festival. At least they don't care enough to allow themselves the opportunity to take part in the intellectual experiences provided by the art festival.

Students pay up to $3000 a year to the Institute for an education, yet are very quick to pass up an opportunity for free enlightenment. The Reporter urges you to take advantage of this "free education" by attending these events. Then RIT will begin to be more a seat of higher learning and less "just a place to get a degree."

"The weekend demands a strangling amount of money, and no one can afford the hours of work." If this is the trouble, what can be done for a cure?

Next Thursday, organizations will meet to turn in selections of majors and minors. That is the time to stop any trouble that exists with the weekend. Thursday is the time to decide once and for all if this is the weekend the organizations want. If not, and if someone will speak up, changes can be made to limit the weekend. But if nothing is said, no changes will be made and the Spring Weekend Committee can only present a weekend that they think will be the best for everyone.

Letters ... Letters ... Letters ...

Dear Editor:

Your editorial Jan. 15, with reference to the stabbing of two RIT students by a gang of Negro youths, touches upon an issue that merits comment if not full discussion.

The answer to your questions as to "how can people (referring to the attackers) so full of vengeance be permitted to develop such attitudes and act in such a manner," is the deciding factor in the colored man's "struggle" for "self-rights." For it is the young people of the race who, in due time, will finish the colored man's fight in his quest for a berth in the "human society of today and of the future. We believe the answer is — civil rights.

But to ascribe the faults of a few to discredit the efforts of the majority is both ill-reasoning and misleading. I believe that the incident could have been avoided if the students involved had displayed common sense and sound judgment during the incidents. In such situations "self-control" and unhasty decisions are the key factors. Responsible leaders of the Third Ward are well aware that more young people must have an educational system foreseeing success and accomplishment rather than that of failure and degradation which are synonymous with violence. And while there is no logic in criticizing a dirty house, where yours is dirtier, there is logic in criticizing "all" dirty houses. For dirt from one house is so easily transferable to another.

William H. Brown (Chem 4)

Dear Editor:

This letter is being written in the hope that it will stir the readers of this paper into writing the administration that RIT should give athletic scholarships. To the best of my knowledge there are only two such scholarships offered at RIT. These scholarships are offered by the Tau Epsilon Phi and Theta Xi fraternities. Both of these scholarships are offered only to incoming freshmen.

The question now arises as to what will happen to these men when they reach their second year. Will they be able to continue to play and give RIT the winning teams which we all want? In all probability the answer is no. According to one of the players who received a scholarship, he feels that the high cost of RIT will most likely prevent him from returning next year. Therefore after one year of training he might never be able to play on a varsity team.

A year ago the students at RIT made a plea for athletic scholarships. At this time the school turned a deaf ear, but the fraternities, at a serious strain to their budgets, provided this need; but they have gone as far as they can go. The move to the new campus is draining the fraternities of every spare cent they have. They cannot offer more than they already do. The time has come for the students to demand from the Institute that they help in keeping

Dean Presents Lecture On Science, Humanities

Dr. Edward Kirkpatrick, Dean of the College of Applied Science, lectured to members of the student body and faculty on the problems of integrating a liberal education with that of a technical education such as is offered at RIT. on Feb. 2.

He pointed out that students must get an education of breadth (as involved in the arts, humanities, etc.) as well as one of depth in the technical fields. Figures from various reports on this subject reveal a definite ratio the humanities to technical courses, but the conclusion drawn from these is that each school must maintain a balance to insure each student's complete development. He pointed out that the barriers of language and communication must be broken down as well as the barriers of concepts between the philosopher and the scientist.

A possible solution to this problem might be a better presentation in the pre-college course of the liberal and technical subjects to establish the balance before one reaches college so the concepts will be deep-rooted and familiar.

Dr. Kirkpatrick concluded that there is coming in the future a technical college which will develop the deep human values which have characterized this civilization throughout history.

Lecture Series

For Winter Quarter

InterVarsity Christian Fellowship will present a series of lectures during Winter Quarter centered on the general theme, "Christianity and Man."

The first lecture and discussion was presented Jan. 29 in the Student Activities Center. Jan Horn, psychologist for the Rochester School Board, spoke on "The Nature of Man."

Speaking of man's need for a source of guidance and stability outside of one's own personality, he presented his conviction and belief, confirmed from dealing with men, women, and children, that man can gain stability from a personal knowledge of Christ and the nature of God.

The second lecture in the series will be presented on Friday, Feb. 12 at the Student Activities Center at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Donald Duckles, local physician, will lead a discussion on the "Nature of Sin." He will deal with the motivation and action of sin, and the attitude and result of sin.

IVCF is an international student movement on college campuses throughout the United States and Canada. According to Robert Stephenson, president of the RIT chapter of IVCF, all persons are invited to join with the group in discussing these relevant topics.

RAVA Film Festival

To Highlight

European Movies

Several films which won prizes in European film festivals last year will be presented in a local film festival on Tuesday evening, Feb. 16.

The showings will be presented by the Rochester Audiovisual Association. RIT students have been especially invited to attend the program by RAVA president Robert Gordon.

The screenings are scheduled for 8 p.m. at Kodak Office, Second Floor, 343 State St. There will be no admission charge.

Film subjects include art, history, and science. Several student and avant garde productions will be shown as part of the program.

Dinner will be available in the Kodak Office cafeteria at 6:30 for anyone interested.

Further details are available from Dr. Maurice Kessman, Office of Educational Research, Gene DePrez, Instructional Resources Laboratory, or Neil Croom, School of Photography.

Silver Opinion Contest Fraternity Chug Contest To Award Scholarships A College Tradition

During the months of February and March, Reed and Barton Silversmiths are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" offering scholarships totaling $2,050 to women of a few selected colleges and universities.

RIT has been selected to enter the contest in which the First Grand Award is a $500 cash scholarship. There will be other cash awards as well as awards of sterling silver and fine china.

In the 1965 "Silver Opinion Competition," an entry form illustrates 12 designs of sterling with eight designs of both china and crystal. The entrants simply list the three best combinations of sterling, china, and crystal from the patterns illustrated. Awards will be made to those entries matching, of coming close to the unanimous selections of the table-setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

JoAnne England (A&D 3) is the student representative who is conducting the competition for Reed and Barton at RIT. Those interested in entering the competition should contact her at Kate Gleason Hall for entry blanks and more details concerning the contest.

In the traditional and old fashioned style, Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity successfully revived an entertaining college ritual called the "Chug Contest" during its annual Winter Weekend.

On Jan. 29 in the Ritter-Clark gym, the ninth annual competition of Interfraternity chug teams met and matched times against 26 ozs. of beer and the ever accurate stop watch. Under the watchful eye of alumni and faculty member judges, three members from each fraternity competed individually for the lowest time.

Fifteen empty mugs later, the total team times stood as follows: Phi Kappa Tau, 31:45 seconds; Tau Epsilon Phi, 32:20 seconds; Theta Xi 25:35 seconds; Sigma Pi, 16:75 seconds; and victorious for the fourth straight year was Phi Sigma Kappa with 16.5 seconds.

Returning alumni chugger, Benjamin Lambert of Massachusetts, was ready to challenge his standing chug record of 3:1 seconds. As the skeptics' eyes opened, Lambert not only tied his record, but cut it by one-tenth of a second.

No event such as this will ever be given scholarly praise, nor will it possibly make Ripley's "Believe It or Not," but you may be sure it will be remembered during many relaxed moments when discussing "good old college days" and what we did while not grinding for that diploma, 15 years from now.

Faculty and Students

In Chess Tourney

Again this year the Chess Club of RIT will sponsor a Student-Faculty Chess Match. The match is scheduled to take place at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24 in the Student Activities Center.

The match will consist of one game played by each person. After completion of all games the scores will be tallied to determine the winning group.

All interested faculty members are asked to get in touch with Dr. Julian Salisnjak and students are asked to get in touch with Steven Warner (Pr 2) or drop a note in the Chess Club folder outside E-125.

Fifteen years ago 100 photo technicians went forth to multiply. What's the score now? How many are in the field of photography? And what of those who have left the field? What are they doing now?

From time to time they run into each other, hear about a classmate or perhaps meet at photographic and other scientific meetings. But never has the whole group been together during the past 15 years.

It was felt that going all-out on all events would be too much for any one organization. Cagemen Win, Lose, On Weekend Trip RIT's basketball team traveled to New York City last weekend to match their skills against Pratt Institute and Brooklyn Polytechnical Institute.

The Tigers moved out in front early and held their lead through the first half. Returning to second-half action with a five-point lead, the Tigers then ran into problems with the officials. Three of the starting five fouled out as Pratt moved into the lead to stay. When the final buzzer sounded Pratt was on the top of a 66 to 61 score.

Saturday was a new day for the Tigers, with new hopes for their successes. After a brief meeting with Floyd Patterson in the hotel lobby, the team set out to beat their rivals from Brooklyn. Thoughts of the previous night's defeat danced through their minds, sounds of the officials' whistles pierced their ears, and written across their faces was one word—WIN!

The first half was tough going. The Tigers dominated the play in the first 10 minutes but saw their lead chopped to one point, 41 to 40, at halftime. The second half was equally as tough, but led on by the desire and hustle of Keith Thompson, the Tigers gradually opened up their lead. Thompson scored 26 points as RIT got their victory, 86 to 80.

Sunday was another travel day for the Tigers. On the flight back to Rochester they were joined by

Skaters Defeat Utica

RIT put an easy victory in the win column a week ago last Wednesday evening defeating Utica College 6-1.

Barry Wharity opened the Tiger scoring with a goal at 5:15 of the first period and went on to round up his first hat trick, scoring goals in each period. Also scoring in the first period was defenseman Don Simonini who carried the puck over the blue line alone for his first unassisted goal since he started playing for RIT's hockey club in '61.

Goalie Tom Frahm turned away more than a dozen shots in the first period and with the aid of his defensive teams almost turned in RIT's first shutout of the year. Utica managed, however, to slip one in at 5:57 of the second period for their only tally. RIT's Wharity tapped in his second goal with an assist by Wharity rounded off his hat trick with a goal at 2:05 of the third period.

Bill Helmer, another hard skating RIT defenseman, turned in another great night with an unassisted goal less than two minutes after Wharity scored his third.

Ailing Bill McLean, bothered with a leg injury, was not to be outdone by his teammates. At 17:02 of the final period he scored RIT's final goal for a 6-1 victory.

This Sunday the Tigers travel to Buffalo seeking revenge of the Bulls 8-4 victory.

Ski Club Trip Snowy Success

Eighty members of the RIT Ski Club made their first weekend trip of the season on Feb. 5 to Killington, Vt.

The skiers retired for a night's rest after arriving by bus at the ski lodge, Chateau Ecole. Saturday at 7 a.m. everyone got up to prepare for a day of skiing. Ski Club President, Ralph Atkins, Vice President Marty Morrissey, Mike Foster, and George Geyerhahn made the first run of the day to check out skiing conditions, which were fair.

Foster, Morrissey, Geyerhahn, and Atkins, along with Dave Hamlet and Bekir Arpag, advisor to the club, gave basic skiing instructions to the beginners while Judy Perry and Sue Sheets led the others down the slopes of Killington Basin.

Another day of skiing was enjoyed by the skiers before boarding the bus for the return trip to Rochester.

The Ski Club is planning another trip to the Green Mountain State to be made within the next month.

Grapplers Beaten By Lycoming 28-4

A powerful Lycoming College wrestling squad defeated the RIT varsity team 28-4 last Saturday. This was Lycoming's seventh straight victory and left the Tigers with a 4 - 5 dual meet record.

Starting out at 123 lbs., Pat Scarlata (R) and Jim Oliver (L) drew 5-5 in an exciting match. The Tigers forfeited at 130 lbs. because of team captain Doug Drake's injury.

Ron Knoble of Lycoming won a close decision over Tiger ace Bill Thompson. This loss stopped Thompson's win streak at six straight. In the 147 lb. weight class, Pete Serafine was upset, and Neal Mulvenna at 157 was also decided.

Bill Bachardy (L) pinned Dick Dotson (R) in the 167-lb. class.

John VanderVeen (R) and Reg Valentine (L) drew 6-6 and the Tigers forfeited at heavyweight because of Bob Michniewicz's knee injury.

Tomorrow night Coach Earl Fuller's squad will meet Ithaca College in the last home meet of the season.

Swordsmen Sharp, Win in Thriller

The varsity fencing team snapped a three-match losing streak with its first win of the season over Hobart College, 14-13. The RIT swordsmen have had a slump ever since their spectacular winning season of 11-1 two years ago when they finished second place in the North Atlantic Meet and placed high in the NCAA Nationals.

The Hobart team and the Tigers were neck and neck until the latter half of the match when the Statesmen pulled ahead 13-10 with only four bouts left to fence and any one of them winning for the Geneva school. Dave Conklin came through in sabre to bring the score to 13-11, followed by Captain Jim Olin and Roger Kramer in epee to tie the score 13-13. With high tension, and a little superstition, Duane Harrington clutched for the RIT team and won the meet 14-13 in the last epee bout.

Ironically, two years ago, epee fencer Bob Lambert, fencing against Syracuse University on two separate occasions with a 13-13 tied score, went on to win for the RIT swordsmen.

Varsity results: Foil — RIT, Rath 1-2, Cocco 2-1, Krembel 1-2; Hobart, Barker 3-0, Shick 1-2, Gitin 1-2.

Epee — RIT, Olin 3-0, Kramer 2-1, Harrington 3-0; Hobart, Bartholomew 0-3, Klein 1-2, Deutson 0-3.

Sabre — RIT, Derkowski 0-3, Harris, 0-3, Conklin 2-1. Hobart, Dadalt 1-1, Rabine 1-0, Roberts 3-0, Van Hemel 2-1.

Athlete of the Week

Bill Thompson

This week's Athlete of the Week has also been RIT's outstanding wrestler this season. Bill Thompson sports a fine 7-3-1 record up to now, including impressive wins over such nationally prominent teams as Waynesburg State and Lock Haven State.

This "Little Gladiator" has scored several pins and near pins in the 137 pound weight class this year and his flashy style has been the highlight of many a meet.

Thompson, a native of Gloversville, N. Y., is a student in the Mechanical Dept. With another year of eligibility left, we look forward to his having another fine season next year in helping Coach Earl Fuller toward his 200th win.

The Hex Is On?

Appearing on the cover of the nation's most widely read sports magazine would seem like a humbling honor for most of us, but for a while it was beginning to look like having your name even appear on the pages of the weekly missive would mean certain disaster to follow.

Last summer the Chicago White Sox were sitting on top of the American League and heading into New York for a big series with the Yankees which was sure to sink the struggling "Bronx Bombers" out of sight. The aforementioned magazine came out with a big story about Chicago and a few days later when the dust had cleared from the "House That Ruth Built", the Yankees were near the top and the White Sox were nearly vanquished.

Individuals were also victims of the hex. Tony Conigliaro, the rookie sensation of the Boston Red Sox got a big write-up and then went out and ran into the wall at Fenway Park suffering an arm injury that put him out of action. An article on the Baltimore Orioles included a section on Boog Powell and his importance to the Oriole's chances for a pennant. Powell was hit on the wrist by a pitch shortly thereafter and missed some of the key games at the end of a season as the Birds let the pennant slip through their fingers.

The miracle boys from Philadelphia weren't to be ignored so they promptly obliged by falling apart after a nice write-up. It seems that the St. Louis Cardinals were the only ones who didn't get a big story until they were World Champions. Luck was with them all the way.

Probably the greatest individual who was put under the spell was none other than Y.A. Tittle who appeared on a two-page, fold-out cover at the beginning of the pro football season. We all know the disastrous results of YAT'S last season.

The list is long and we could probably fill a column, but it seems as if the spell may have been broken. An early October cover of Illinois linebacker Dick Butkus called him the best and at the end of the season there was little doubt that he was. Prior to the start of the National Basketball Association season, Tom Heinsohn of the champion Boston Celtics appeared on the cover with the words "We'll Win Again". Winning they are and they may set a record for the most wins in a single season while they are at it.

The real problem seems to be that where our favorite magazine left off, we seem to have taken over. We bragged about the soccer team and they lost four straight before they were able to shake the spell and put together a winning season. Just a few weeks back we wrote about the possibility of a winning basketball season and the curse seems 'to have taken hold again. They did finally manage to click against Brooklyn Poly last Saturday, but only time will tell if the spell is broken.

The wrestling team faces Ithaca College in their last home meet of the year and I don't even dare mention that a win will bring them up to .500 again or that they might have a winning season if all goes as it should. Just be there Saturday night and find out for yourself. I wont chance any predictions for a win and throw a monkey-wrench into the works. All I'll say is "If any of our sports teams win another game or match this season it would be a miracle equivalent to the Mets winning the National League pennant. This is the worst bunch of clowns I've ever seen pose as athletes" . . . and then pray that the hex is still on.
