Culture Month Climaxes With Literary Win

Winners in the Poetry and Essay Contests held in conjunction with the Creative Arts Festival and Cultural Month have been announced by John Patterson, chairman of the month's events.

First place in the essay contest was won by Chris Hoagland's "The Beatle, The Butterfly and The Crow," second went to "The Airplane," by Brock Palmer.

In the poetry competition, "The Eagle," by Craig Babcock took first place. Second went to an untitled entry by Sue Gromko.

The poetry and essay contests were only a part of RIT's first cultural month. The photography contest, which attracted a number of entries, was won by Student Association President Ron Sherman, with second going to Ken Spencer, as announced in a recent issue of the Reporter.

In addition, the Talisman Film Festival presented a series of movies; a series of concerts by outside groups and local talent were offered throughout the month; and several faculty members accepted the challenge of speaking to the student body on the subject they would choose if they were presenting their "last lecture."

Plans are presently underway for next year's edition of Cultural Month, tentatively scheduled for Feb. According to Patterson, Cultural Month may be expected to offer many of the same events, plus several new ones.

Commenting on this year's festival Patterson said, "For the time we had to set this up, the month came off fairly well." He then expressed the hope that student participation will be even greater next year.

"Ballad of a Soldier," one of the offerings in the Film Festival, is being considered as an offering during next year's Freshman Daze. Proclaimed by many of those who saw it as the best movie they had ever seen, it was shown April 18.

Future presentation in the Film Festival include "The Last Day at Marienbad," to be shown May 15.

The new "flag and center-spread for this issue of The Reporter are the work of Lynn Van Kuren, (A & D 4), as part of his senior Advertising and Design thesis. The new look incorporates changes in design, size, and type styles.

They were made in the belief that with the '67 campus move to Henrietta, The Reporter should . . . help create a new image of our modern campus," said Van Kuren.

Awards Banquet Held; Koch, Students Cited

Prof. Robert G. Koch of RIT's College of General Studies, was presented the new "Outstanding Faculty Award" at the annual Student Council banquet before an estimated group of 350 representatives, faculty members, and honored guests Thursday.

During the ceremonies, those students whose names will appear in the publication, "Who's Who in American Colleges" were recognized by the master of ceremonies Denis Kitchen.

Highlighting the festive occasion was the announcement of the recipients of gold, silver, and bronze keys.

Students Disciplined; Judgements Revealed

Five student disciplinary cases have been brought before the Student-Faculty Disciplinary Committee since the beginning of the winter quarter, according to Earl Fuller, chairman. Action taken on these cases was recently announced by the committee.

The first case before the committee concerned a student taking an overnight privilege from Kate Gleason Hall without permission. Fuller said that the student had been placed on disciplinary probation for two quarters.

The second case before the committee, Fuller stated, concerned a student "sleeping off a drunk in the Eastman Annex." The committee's decision was to make the student responsible for the payment of damages.

The next case brought before the committee was a violation of a restriction imposed by the committee. The student was suspended from the Institute for the current quarter.

Misconduct and creating a disturbance, disrespect toward a member of the administration, and public intoxication were charges leveled against another recipient of the committee's justice. The committee assigned the student to a counselor who is a member of the Student-Faculty

Magnum Opus

Annually, Student Council honors those students who have provided leadership, ingenuity, and time in the promotion of RIT's student activities. The process of selecting those to be honored is indeed a difficult and unenviable task.

Last week the newly instituted Student Activities Board presented the annual Awards Banquet. Amid the numerous honors, tributes, and standing ovations, a simple fact remained evident: no certificate, no key, and no trophy can ever adequately express the appreciation for the services performed and the good derived from them.

Special recognition is deserved for such gentlemen as Jim Black, Don Gaeta, and Robert Koch, of the General Studies faculty. The achievements of these men have long been noticed, but finally some small recognition has been rendered.

Jim Black and Don Gaeta have done much to advance the interests of students in their stay at RIT, sacrificing a great amount of time while maintaining awesome grades.

Robert Koch has long been an outstanding faculty member whose keen interest in student affairs is widely appreciated. No finer choice could have been made in selecting the 'outstanding faculty member.'

The student body can be thankful that a hard core of interested individuals are working to make student life at RIT a memorable experience. They can be thankful that there are people who are so very interested in bettering student life.

All the leadership, all the ingenuity, and all the time spent, however, means nothing if the student body just doesn't care. The greatest tribute these awardees can have is the realization that their work has not gone for naught and that their time was well spent for good cause.

Congratulations ladies and gentlemen, you have done well.

The Day the Rains Fell

Supposedly we are living in the space age—the era of rockets, space travel, and the 'Beatles. However technology has overstepped itself by not solving the problems of past ages. The Reporter office is visible evidence of this fact.

The Mechanical Department occasionally demonstrates some of its equipment above our heads. The incessant drip-drip of condensed steam as the small droplets fall from the ceiling to the floor of the office thwarts the creative genius of the staff.

The annoying splash-splash as visitors to the Institute, reveling at the sight of a modern college newspaper, embark on their motor launch, leads to this plea to the Mechanical Department: "Please get a plumber."

CROSS ROADS

by Jerry Lewis

Many people, organizations and events have found their crossroads this year. Perhaps one of the most important organizations of them all has just arrived on the threshold of its crossroads. The organization is student government.

The Sherman administration has been confronted with many problems this year. I think it only fair to comment that they have challenged these problems with as much maturity, foresight and knowledge that is possible in a student and a human being.

As the end draws near, the alleviation of old problems has only brought new ones. This is the way of progress. The people who initiated the changes now have the long finger of criticism pointing at them.

I suppose this is also the way of progress. The point is, the legislators are not almighty and in the initiation of something new, it is probable that they will not be all conclusive.

Council has tried to work for its constituents in the most conscientious way that they knew how. Many new ideas have been adopted. Cultural activities, spring weekend, the new constitutional and governmental structure, all have brought criticism. Yet, all the changes are better than what was and the synthesis has wrought a better ^{thes's} for the future.

If a better, more efficient student government is what you want, support your student Senate and Activities Board. Remember the words of the ancient philosopher, "A pat on the back is worth two slaps in the face."

MONOLOGUE

McGee

The outdoor advertising is up, and has been since Sunday night. It seems to be surviving quite well, despite the contrariness of Rochester weather. Let's hope that it feels beneficent this year and is clear for "the weekend." We had cold, wind and rain last year—can't we work on an alternating system or something and come up pleasant this year? Who wants to attend a barbeque and catch pneumonia? I don't.

Actually, this weekend promises to be a good one, no matter what the weather decides to surprise us with. After all, we've got the picnic with good food, a dance that promises to be better than ever, and to top it all off, the Serendipity Singers. The Committee's cry of "better than bigger" seems to be worthy.

However, I question the need for advertising when the carnival has been eliminated. Just what purpose does it serve in the overall picture? Last year and in previous years it served the useful purpose of advertising the subject of and arousing interest in the participating group's booths at the Friday night carnival.

Groups claimed, in the questionnaires they were asked to complete regarding the Weekend last year, that they lost money on the carnival, and that their time could be better spent doing other things than building booths and working Friday night. Yet when the Committee decided to eliminate it, cries of protest arose.

Whose fault is it? The Committee gave each organization the opportunity to fill out a ques-

Some
Swallow it whole—

What can happen.
Some day it becomes A matter of

Serendipity Singers To Conclude SW Schedule

Serendipity Singers will be the featured attraction Sunday, May 10, at 3 p.m., when they appear in Ritter-Clark Gymnasium. The jazz concert will conclude a series of events in the annual RIT Spring Weekend.

The hootenanny group of seven boys and two girls won their professional start at "The Bitter End" folk mecca in New York City.

They have appeared often on television's "Hootenanny" and are known for the versatility, comedy flair and unusual musical sounds. They compose most of the music they perform. New to recording circles, they have one record released.

"Serendipity" is defined as "the unexpected discovery of a new and happy event."

Their music is classified by the experts as folk jazz, folk orientation with jazz arrangements and instrumentation.

1964 Techmila Distribution May 25 in Clark Lounge

With the coming of Spring and the end of another school year, the RIT student body looks forward to the arrival of Techmila. The 1964 yearbook will be distributed on Monday, May 25, according to William R. Kelly, editor-in-chief.

A special feature will be three pieces of original art work by Austin. Metz (A&D 2). They are solid black reverses of fine lines and tones to be used as dividers in the book. Typographical design was done by Stanley Dratewka (Pr 3).

As in the past, pictures of graduating students will be included. There are over 1100 students, the largest number to date. A section of color pictures will also be featured. There are a total of 296 pages.

Last year's edition of the Techmila received a Blue Ribbon award presented by the Gannett newspapers of Rochester.

Cuban Problems Topic of Film

A timely film dealing with political and economic problems in Cuba, will be featured in the Thursday, May 14 program of Educational Film Previews.

Castro, Cuba and Communism is an up-to-date visual documentary outlining various aspects of the present Cuban regime and how the people of this crisis-ridden nation have been influenced by their leader.

The film was produced by New York City's Television Station WPIX and is probably as complete and recent as any film report now available.

Showings are scheduled at 12 noon and 4 p.m., in air-conditioned M-219 of the Audiovisual Center at 50 Main St., West.

The program, presented by the Office of Educational Research and the Instructional Resources Lab, is open to the general public as well as faculty, staff, and students. There is no admission fee.

Koch Represents RIT At Conference on Asia

Prof. Robert Koch of RIT's College of General Studies was among educational leaders who attended a two-day invitational conference on Asia last weekend, May 1 and 2, at the Canandaigua Inn, Canandaigua.

Fifty-eight leaders in education from the Genesee Valley area attended.

The program was sponsored by the University of Rochester's College of Education, the State Education Dept., the Asia Society, the State University College at Geneseo and Greece Central School District 1.

Purpose of the conference was to discuss ways of improving the teaching of world affairs with particular emphasis on Asian countries.

Medical Technologists Seminar Held at RIT

The 16th annual Seminar of the New York State Registry of Medical Technologists was held here April 25.

The day-long workshop was highlighted by a luncheon in RIT's cafeteria at which Charles J. Engel Jr., attorney, spoke on Licensure Resume.

The morning's welcoming address, following registration, was given at 9 a.m., by Dr. John P. Dietrich, chairman of RIT's Biology Department. Three morning sessions followed which investigate the general areas of: Prothrombin Determinations, Data Acquisition System, and Calcium and Chloride Titration.

Also at the luncheon, the annual President's Message was delivered by George D. Gregory, head of the New York State Registry of Medical Technologists.

Editorial Pages Read by Greeks

Editorial pages of The Daily Texan, University of Texas, are read most widely by members of Greek fraternal groups, according to a campus readership survey.

The survey was prepared by students doing research in mass media under the supervision of Dr. William Hazard, associate professor of journalism.

Students from small to medium size hometowns also read editorials more frequently than those from large towns. And the study recorded that independents from high occupation families tended to show more interest in editorials. Yet, despite the parents' occupations, the Greeks always held higher readership percentages.

This definitely seems to make Greek affiliation the dominant factor, Dr. Hazard said.

The trend might be explained by seemingly greater discussion of campus events among Greeks than among independents. Greek participation in campus elections reflects this. With increased discussion, students in sororities or fraternities are forced to keep abreast of editorial page material.

The awards were made in recognition of outstanding contribution to the fields of graphic arts and photography.

Interest Lacking In 'Outside World'

On campuses of universities and colleges across the country, students tend to live in a world dominated by books, ideas, and social activities.

The Newman Club of RIT feels too often students fail to be actively interested in what is happening in the "outside world."

Before Congress at the present time, is the controversial Civil Rights Bill. The Newman Club is sponsoring a letter writing campaign to support passage of this bill.

The club urges students to write their Congressmen and take an active part in the government.

Students given the keys are selected by a review of their service to the general student body, and the type of key given is decided by a point system, according to Awards Chairman Gary Proud. He added that the selection committee apologized to those who had missed a higher category by just a few points.

Disclosure of the graduating members of Decem Jani was also made at the banquet. They are: Bill Wing, Chairman; An g e 1 Pilato, Secretary; James Black, and Ron Sherman.

RIT's top honor students were also named at this annual affair. The students, and their cumulative grade point averages, are: Don Gaeta-3.884; Jim Black-3.563; Elaine Grabowski-3.384; John I. H. Patterson — 3.400; Mark Baker-3.500; Earle Cleveland-3.278; Mary Schauf — 3.441; and Ron Sherman-3.061.

The purpose of the annual banquet is two-fold; first, it permits students to pay due respect publicly to fellow students and faculty members for the efforts they have put forth on behalf of RIT and its students.

Secondly, and equally important is that it is a demonstration that the students who are doing the most in the area of constructive extra-curricular activities are the students putting forth the most effort academically.

PRAYER IN SPRING

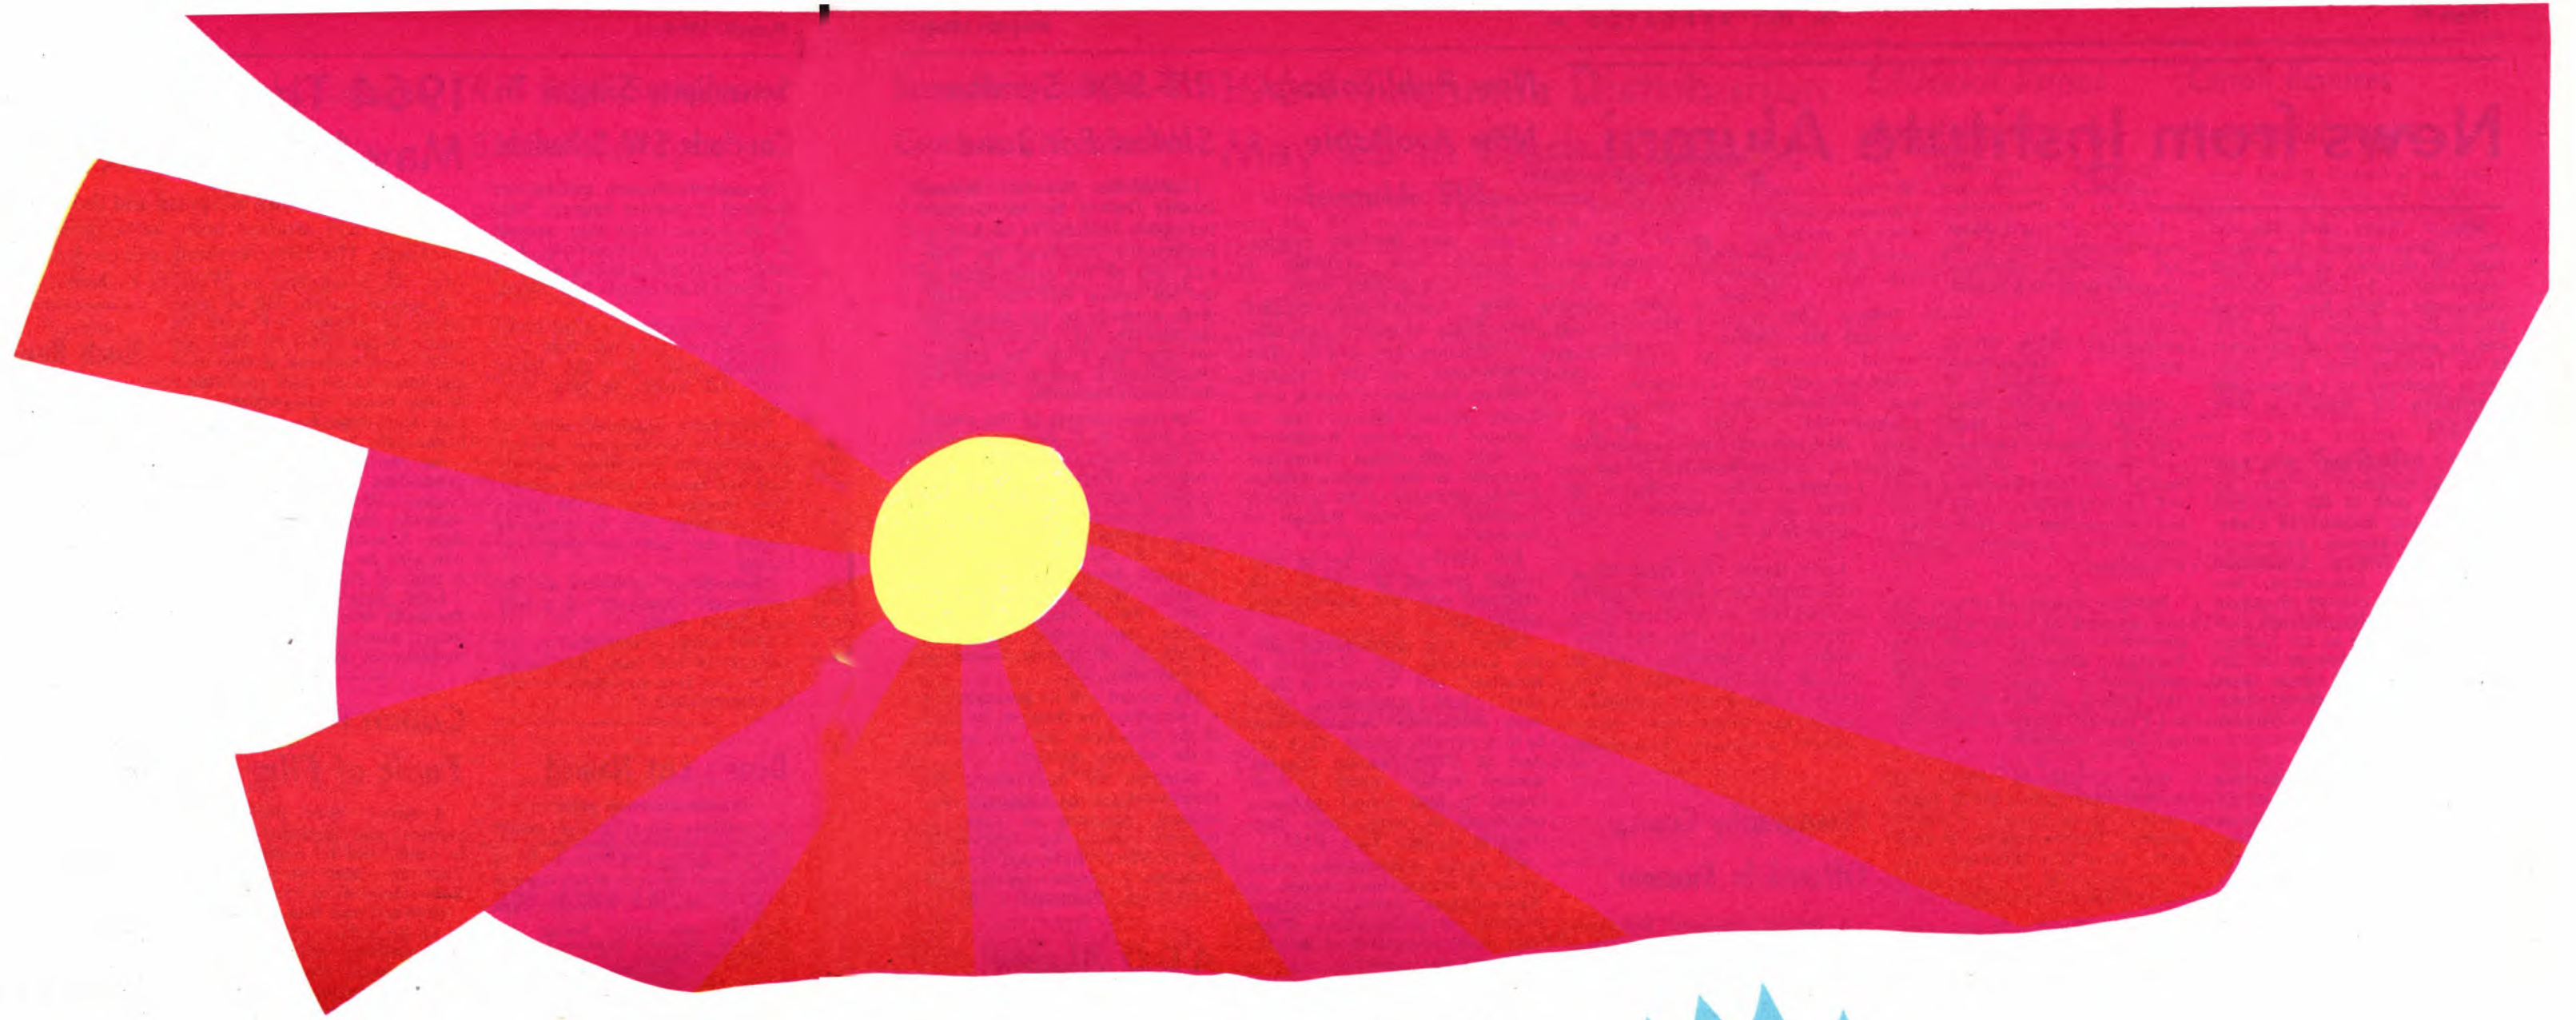

Give us pleasure in the flowers today;
Give us not to think so far away
Of the uncertain harvest; keep us here
Simply in the springing of the year.

Give us pleasure in the orchard white,
Nothing else by day, like ghosts by night;
Make us happy in the happy bees,
Swarm dilating round the perfect tree.

Make us happy in the darting bird
That suddenly above the bees is heard,
A meteor that thrusts in with needle bill
And off a blossom in mid air stands still.

This is love and nothing else is love,
Which it is reserved for God above
To sanctify to what for ends He will,
Which it only needs that we fulfill.

Women Reelect Mrs. Shumway

Mrs. F. Ritter Shumway of Ambassador Drive has been named president of the RIT Women's Council for the seventh consecutive year.

Elected with Mrs. Shumway at the council's annual meeting were: Mrs. Percy Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Hollis Todd, corresponding secretary; Mrs. P. Richard Jameson, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Friedrich, hospitality; Mrs. Adrian Spencer, nominating committee, and Mrs. Carl J. Maim and Mrs. John Barnell, project committee.

Mrs. Hugh Knapp will head the ways and means committee for the coming year.

Dr. Cayley Completed SC Lecture Series

The Rev. Dr. Murray A. Cayley, Institute Chaplain, spoke on "Wisdom of the Universe" at the Last Lecture Series on April 30. He was the final speaker for the Cultural Month program sponsored by Student Council.

As the title of the series suggests, each speaker assumes this will be the last lecture he will ever deliver and he is concerned with the message he will leave with his audience.

John Patterson (Chem 2) has been in charge of program arrangements. Student Council is now planning for another lecture series next year. It is expected that they will be presented in February.

Fuller Expounds on Conduct Committee

(Continued from page 1) Conduct Committee; and required the student to take a non-drinking pledge for the rest of the Spring quarter. The student was required to move into Nathaniel Rochester Hall for the remainder of the quarter. In addition the student was placed on disciplinary probation for three and one-half quarters, with an opportunity for review after six months.

The last case before the committee, Fuller continued, was the same as the previous case. However, the student withdrew from the Institute and his case will become part of his permanent record.

Questioned about the committee, Fuller stated that there were two principles underlying disciplinary efforts at the Institute which apply whether disciplinary action is being administered by the Student Personnel staff, by a judicial body, or by a representative of the Student Personnel staff in the residence halls or fraternal groups.

The first principle, Fuller continued, is that the disciplinary action is aimed primarily at assisting the individual involved to redirect his behavior and energies along acceptable lines.

The second principle involves making every effort in encouraging the students to accept the responsibility for the direction of their own discipline and behavior.

Fuller was then asked how these principles were carried out. He indicated that primary emphasis is placed on the individual case. There are no predetermined penalties; each case is judged on its own merits and every opportunity is given to conduct a fair hearing.

The committee is composed of faculty members of which the senior member is replaced annually by Faculty Council. There are three student members of which the senior member or vacancy is filled annually by appointment of the president of the Student Association. Two representatives from Student Personnel Services appointed annually by the Vice President for Student Personnel Services round out the committee membership.

The senior member from student personnel services is the chairman of the committee, while the other representative will serve as the chairman the following year, Fuller stated.

What area of responsibility is delegated to the committee? All violations not heard by a subordinate committee, or cases directly referred to it, are dealt with by the Student-Faculty Conduct Committee, Fuller said.

He further pointed out that the committee is the only disciplinary board which has the authority to recommend disciplinary probation, suspension or expulsion.

In answering how the committee operates in reference to the student's rights, Fuller explained that both the chairman and the student present the case with the student being given an opportunity to make all the statements he wishes.

The student may have any witnesses he wishes in the presentation of his case. When a judgment is rendered, the chairman casts a vote only in the case of a tie. The student is recalled and presented with the decision of the committee. If the student feels that he has received an unjust decision, or he has new facts to present, he may request an appeal.

The primary purpose of a liberal education is to make one's mind a pleasant place in which to spend one's leisure.

Let's say for a minute, this is you.

Once you wear the gold bars of a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force, what's in store for you?

Well, you may fly an aircraft entrusted with a vital defense mission. Or you may lead a research team tackling problems on the frontier of knowledge. You'll be helping to run an organization that's essential to the safety of the free world.

Sounds like you'll be called on to shoulder a good deal of responsibility, doesn't it?

But when you come right down to it, that's what your college years have been preparing you for. You've got ability and a good education. Now's the time to put them to work!

You'll have every opportunity to prove your talents in the Air Force. By doing so, you can put yourself and your country ahead.

If you're not already enrolled in ROTC, you can earn your commission at Air Force Officer Training School—a three-month course that's open to both men and women college graduates. To apply, you must be within 210 days of graduation.

PHT, as you may know, stands for Putting Hubby Through. And that's precisely what Beverly Schaefer is helping to do—put her hubby through Hofstra University, Hempstead, N. Y. She's a part-time Tupperware dealer, demonstrating and selling those fine plastic food containers at home parties. It's profitable. It's enjoyable. It's easy. Whether you're a PHT wife yourself or a student, ask your campus Financial Aid Director about it, and call your local Tupperware distributor, listed in the Yellow Pages under Plastics or Housewares. Linkmen Soar to 23 Straight; Ithaca, Brockport, Oswego Fall

by Chris Hoagland

Bob Klos' golf team increased their undefeated record to 23 matches last week setting the new school record for consecutive wins in any sport. The linkmen downed Ithaca 15-12 last Wednesday and beat both Oswego and Brockport by a score of 12-6 in a three way match played Friday. Ted Solarek, playing the 3 spot, won his 20th straight match for HIT in the Ithaca match.

The Ithaca match was played on the 27 point system where first nine, back nine, and best ball of the foursome each represent one point.

Newly elected captain Tim Butler, playing No. 1 man this year, lost to Phil Sandler of Ithaca. In medal play Sandler was low man for the day with a 75. Butler tied for second with RIT's Tom McKay, both scoring 78.

A newcomer to the team, playing No. 2, Bob Murray of Toronto, lost to Bill McCarthy of Toronto, though he came in with an 81. Ted Solarek won his 20th straight match for the Tigers, beating Tom Connolly 2-1.

Tom McKay's 78 gave him a 3-0 win over his opponent John Harrison of Ithaca. Jack Piechota beat Jim Stalker 2-1 and Dave Rogers dropped Bob McGuchin.

In a three-way match with Oswego and Brockport last Friday, the Tigers came up with two more wins. They scored 12 - 6 against both opponents.

Bob Murray was low man with a 78. Tim Butler fired an 81 and Ted Solarek shot an 84. The weather was rainy and windy throughout the entire event, but this did not stop the Tigers from racking up their 23rd straight victory.

Netmen Win Again; Swamp Brockport 6-3

The inspiring new tennis team won its second straight match at Brockport Saturday, 6-3. Even though the Tigers No. 4 man was missing from the lineup, the netmen had no trouble as Bob Costanza and Yasuji Tohjo remained undefeated in three matches.

Costanza tripped Dave Ockerman of Brockport 6-2, 6-4, while Tohjo's match went 6-2, 10-8, against Ed Tilden.

Bob Worth, No. 3 for the netmen, won a tough 6-2, 5-7, 7-5, victory over Brockport's Dick Master giving RIT's first three men a perfect record.

In the absence of Chris Delbert, who is undefeated this season, Dave Gustin filled in the No. 4 spot, but fell to Thu Nyguen of Brockport, 6-0, 6-0.

Netman Steve Foster won another point in the singles dropping Lou Dawes 2-6, 6-4, 6-3. John Helms, sixth man for the Tigers, lost his match 8-6, 6-4, to Brockport's Ralph Wager.

The Tigers entered the doubles with a narrow 4-2 lead. The first team of Costanza and Tohjo downed Ockerman and Tilden 6-2, 6-4, virtually assuring the Techmen of the match.

Worth and Foster also won, dropping Wager and Master, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4. The Tiger's third team of Helms and Gustin lost 6 1, 6-4, to Nyguen and Bartalo.

Coach Bill Torporcer, although happy with the win, said had Delbert played his usual position the score might well have been 8-1.

The match scheduled for tomorrow with Potsdam will probably be cancelled because of Spring Weekend festivities.

Helpless against Buffalo pitching, the Tiger nine was shut out 8-0 last Saturday. The Tigers were fanned 17 times by two Buffalo U. hurlers.

It was all over after the first inning when Buffalo scored five runs on 4 hits, an error and a walk.
