Reporter Staff To Hold Election Night Party

An election night party will be held in the Snack Bar, Tuesday, November 3, sponsored by the RIT Reporter and the Alumni Association. There is no admission price and refreshments will be free.

RIT Co-eds Organize

Gamma Sigma Sigma

For the first time in its 136 year's history, RIT has a permanent service sorority. A group of co-eds have formed Gamma Sigma Sigma to augment the school's only service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega.

Gamma Sigma Sigma is a national service sorority and has its headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pa. It was established to give girls interested in service a chance to help others.

G.S.S., along with APO, will take part in the organization and administration of many activities. Its services have already been put to good use as it helped to make Homecoming Weekend the successful event that it was.

Gamma Sigma Sigma, beginning as a local sorority, plans to gain national recognition. Meetings are held on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 in the Student Activities Center.

Miss Deanne Molinari, head of the Women's Housing Dept., is temporary advisor to the sorority. Margaret Brockwell has been elected president and Jill Treichler, vice-president.

The sorority provides an opportunity to those girls who are interested in helping others. It will give social and service projects, both on and off the RIT campus.

A folder is available across from E-125 for the use of prospective members in contacting the girls of Gamma Sigma Sigma.

The party is designed to give the student body and faculty an opportunity to follow the returns of the 1964 presidential and election as they come over TV.

The Snack Bar is expected to exemplify a bi-partisan political headquarters with posters and campaign material. Large blackboards will be used for posting both presidential and vicepresidential returns. If possible, various supporters for each political party, including faculty, will voice opinions during slack moments.

Arrangements are being made to permit the women residents to stay out until the party ends. The party hours are from 9:00 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. Information about the party will be posted on all Institute bulletin boards.

Institute Enrollment

Totals 2454 Day Pupils

Enrollment totaling 2,454 day school students has been recorded by RIT, according to Donald A. Hoppe, registrar.

The figure, cumulative total for all of RIT's schools and departments, includes 1,987 male students and 467 girls — roughly a 4 to 1 proportion for the fortunate coeds.

RIT's School of Business has the largest overall enrollment of any division with a total of 400 undergraduates. Next in line are the School of Printing with 378 and the School of Photography with 360.

The new College of Science, which is in its first full academic year of operation, totals some 157 students in its four departments of Biology, Mathematics, Physics, and Chemistry.

WHAM to Bring the Glenn Miller Orchestra to City

The Glenn Miller Orchestra, directed by Ray McKinley, will play at a dance at 9 p.m. on Nov. 11 in the War Memorial.

Radio station WHAM, in conjunction with RIT, is sponsoring the dance with all revenues going toward RIT's new campus fund. WHAM will absorb all the expenses.

The orchestra contains a 17-piece instrumental section and features Joan Shepherd as vocalist. They recently appeared on Johnny Carson's Tonight Show on television and according to one RIT observer were "really terrific."

Ray McKinley, a close friend of Glenn Miller and once a fellow sideman in the Dorsey Brothers band, took over the Glenn Miller band some 10 years after Miller lost his life over the English Channel in World War II.

Both the inspirational leadership of McKinley and the highly successful movie, "The Glenn Miller Story," starring James Stewart, sparked the revival of the orchestra.

Student chairmen of the dance are Dottie Kerman and John I. H. Patterson. Admission is $1 per person.

'Operation Spirit' Initiated Campaign Last Weekend

What is "Operation Spirit?" In the same breath it may be asked, "What is RIT?" This is exactly what Operation Spirit is trying to discover. Is RIT a mass of unenthusiastic, apathetic individuals or does it have spirit, drive, backbone, and above all unity?

Operation Spirit is only the first effort which will be launched to develop enthusiasm, pride, tradition, and unification of faculty, as well as students at RIT.

RIT's tranquility was shattered last Friday evening as the cheerleaders led the pep band and throngs of screaming students through the streets of the campus to the blazing bonfire. At the pep or "Spirit" rally, new cheers were learned, the RIT teams were introduced, and a Utica Pioneer was burned in effigy as a "pioneerburger." However, the most significant event of the evening was the introduction of the "RIT Fight Song."

Saturday dawned and the new campus was bustling with excitement. The pep rally throng was there along with many others to watch the soccer team defeat Utica. A great deal of enthusiasm prevailed as the team entered the field by running through an enormous tiger head while the crowd sang the new fight song.

As the kickoff was made, sev-

Sally Green Reigns Over RIT Homecoming

By Helen Howard

Sally Green of Weirton, W. of Retailing, reigned as Queen Va., a freshman in the School of the 1964 Homecoming Weekend.

The weekend got underway Friday evening with the play, "See How They Run," sponsored by the Student Association. During intermission the awards for Outdoor Advertising were presented. Intersorority Council received first place and Theta Xi fraternity, second place.

Even after a late evening of fraternity open houses after the play, the gym was filled with over 500 parents, students, faculty, and alumni at the 8:30 breakfast the next morning to hear Al Capp, creator of Li'l Abner. Capp delighted his audience with hilarious comments on the current scene.

Dr. Mark Ellingson welcomed everyone to RIT and spoke briefly of the New Campus Fund drive.

Following the breakfast, the academic departments held open house. Alpha Phi Omega conducted tours.

Saturday was a bitterly cold day as those attending the New Campus picnic and soccer game with Utica can testify. Miss Green was crowned during halftime by Dr. Ellingson.

Highlight of the weekend was the Homecoming Dance with Billy May's Orchestra at the Ritter - Clark gym. Pre-dance cocktail parties were held at fraternity houses and at Nathaniel Rochester Hall.

The Genesee Valley Figure Skating Club presented excellent intermission entertainment. Irving Van Slyke, president of the Alumni Association, presented the Outstanding Alumni awards to Peter Turner '56, photographic illustrator, and Norman J. Collier '29, president of K-D-I Corp.

Van Slyke and Dave Rylance (Pr 3), chairman of the weekend, both expressed their appreciation to everyone who helped to make the weekend the success it was,

'Comment'

Every four years our great nation preoccupies itself with the task of choosing a president. Well, it's that time again, and as the campaigns come to a close, the candidates are bracing themselves for the election results. What will the outcome be? No predictions from this column, thank you. But I will say that it will be a closer race than most people care to admit.

Johnson in a landslide? Maybe . . . but just maybe not. As Rochester is tucked neatly away in the corner of the northeast, we hear little about the clamor caused by that man from Arizona. The fact is, though, that from the Mississippi westward, there is quite a to-do over Senator Goldwater. He isn't saying much in New York and the east, but rumor has it that people are actually going to vote for him in California.

As voters, we have a decision to make; but in view of all the name - calling and mud-slinging that has characterized this campaign, it seems that our choice is between two evils. Our only hope and salvation lies in choosing the lesser evil, if we believe all that we read. Goldwater is commonly called a "warmonger" while Johnson has been accused of an active part in Bobby Baker's scandalous activities.

Each man is calling the other unfit for office. Who is right? If they both are right, we're really in trouble. If neither of them are right, then why are they telling all those lies? And if they are telling lies, then what kind of men do we have running?

The point is, campaign-wise, it's been a pretty poor show. The emphasis has been on mud-slinging, and I suppose each candidate is trying to come out of it a little less dirty than the other. Unfortunately for the American public, this name-calling has taken the place of what should properly be a serious discussion of the issues. Instead of hearing what the candidates stand for through active debate, we are told by the candidates that the opponent is a no-good so-and-so. This is largely due to the irresponsibility of the various news media.

In contrast to the informative television debates and the careful examination of the issues which characterized the 1960 elections, we are being pumped daily with the latest smear against one candidate or the other.

Newspapers, television, and radio coverage seems to delight in the opportunity to sensationalize anything; and now, it seems that even the presidential election isn't exempt.

Our views, then, are subject to distortion, and our choice may possibly be influenced by erroneous, exaggerated statements.

And this is all the more reason why it is the voter's responsibility to inform himself by reading and examining very carefully. I hope America can overcome the injustice it has suffered at the hands of the press and the communications media, and that voters will go to the polls with a justifiable sense of confidence that comes from knowing the facts. Let's not be taken in by believing everything we read.

J.F.C. Greek Talk

by Hal O'Rourke

Greeks are stereotyped; they are poured from the same mold! This was one of the common opinions here at RIT 1 as t year. The other day I overheard a couple of freshmen talking and it seems that it is becoming a general belief this year also.

For those new to RIT and those exposed to a Greek system of any kind for the first time, this seems to be tthe case. In essence it is. If wearing the same pin that associates us with our brothers at RIT and at other colleges all over the country is being stereotyped, then we are. If having a common respect for which it stands is being stereotyped, then we are. If going to the same others company comes from being poured from the same mold, then we are. We are all proud of our greek affiliations, thus we wear the same sweatshirt, and in the same respect we are all alike.

However, in many other important ways we keep our individuality. Each separate organization is made up of vary different p eo p l e who have a common interest, that of gaining more from our college days than we can learn from a book. On this ground we are sterotyped.

A whole is the sum of its parts. This also holds true for greek organizations as well as and new students owes it to himself to look into the whole of the greek organizations. Each one is different, each has a different personality due to the individuality of its members. We hope you will at least give us a chance to show you that our "sterotyped" organizations can off e r you something you can't get anywhere else at RIT. It's something you can't see or measure we call it Brotherhood.

Dates to remember:
Nov. 6,7,8. Fall Weekend (Open to all)
Nov. 13 Night of Sin (Open to Greeks)

ASTME To Tour Farrel

The RIT Student Chapter of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers will conduct a tour of Farrel Corp. on Monday, Nov. 2, at 7:30 p.m. The tour is open to all students.

Free transportation will be available in front of the gym at 7 p.m.

Farrel Corp. is a leader in the production of large machine tools throughout the world.

Farrel is a long-time employer of RIT co-op students and employees on an average of five students per year. Their plant is at the corner of Winton and Blossom Roads.

Letters to the Editor

by David Gregory

Dear Editor:

As residents of Perkins Hall, 71 girls, all total, we have a problem.

Upon intermingling with the student body during classes, our observations were that very few, if any, knew where Perkins Hall is and what relation it has to RIT. Here is a classic example:

Boy: Where are you staying?

Girl: Perkins Hall.

Boy: Oh, Perkins Hall, isn't that near Perkinsville?

Quaint, isn't it!!!

All over our concrete campus, one finds Tiger Prints to the Pastime. So here are a few guide points to reach the destination of Perkins Hall. Really, it is only a jaunt farther down the road.

Once you get yourself past the PT proceed on the same street. Our never - fearing Pinkerton men are there on every corner to help you find the rest of the campus.

Let's put Perkins Hall on the campus.

Think-then Vote

This Tuesday is Election day. All the ranting and raving, the campaign hoopla, and all the claims and promises will be ended.The choice is up to the voters — it istheirday.

This presidential campaign seems to have been one of the dulllest in American History ; and it is fast becoming the most frightening indictment of the American political scene. Increasingly hroughout the campaign voter sentiment has come to regard the election as a choice between the lesser of two evils.

It seems incongruous that such an attitude could develop. On January 20, 1965 one of the two men will assume the awesome responsibilities of President of the United States — presumably he will be the lesser evil!

Since this is no longer idle talk, it should be of grave concern to every American. It should make him more aware of the kind of man he wants to fill the office. It should make him shake his air of complacency — complacency which shows only 60 per cent of the eligible voters exercising their franchise; complacency with respect to the future of the country.

The Reporter is not going to endorse any candidate; that choice is left to you. However, take your vote seriously; carefully consider the qualifications of the candidates; evaluate their philosophies; then make your choice. But, by all means, VOTE!

Un-i-ty for R-I-T

It has been said many times in the past few years that the student body of RIT lacks unity.

Miss Janet Prock came to RIT this year to take over the Women's Athletic Department and she too detected this lack of unity. Along with her cheerleaders, she initiated Operation Spirit which she hopes will unite RIT—that it will instill a new birth of spirit.

The first chapter of Operation Spirit was presented over Homecoming. Weekend and was received with overwhelming enthusiasm by the student body. The vast majority of the student body is clearly 100 per cent behind Operation Spirit.

However, to our dismay, the president of one of the social fraternities on campus expressed his feelings that Operation Spirit was ridiculous, and that a trophy should never have been offered to his brothers to compete in cheering contests. He also stated that it would be too great an expense for his organization to undertake and that he would see to it that IFC put a stop to Operation Spirit.

The Reporter is behind Operation Spirit all the way and can not possibly see how school spirit can be too costly.

Thanks, Dave

The signs and the strange faces that were here have left, and the alumni that came back to see their school have gone home. But, they had a good Homecoming. RIT showed its grads a face that has changed since they walked the concrete campus.

These weekends don't just happen though. They require a lot of planning. Lots of time and work. RIT had some good men on the job.

For all of RIT, the Reporter wants to say "Thanks, and well done" to Dave Rylance and everyone who worked with him to make Homecoming a success.

Students Sound Off On Platforms of Candidates

Next Tuesday, Nov. 3, the voters of America go to the polls to elect a president. The Reporter feels that it is the responsibility of every citizen to seriously weigh the qualifications and weaknesses of each of the two major candidates — Republican Barry M. Goldwater and Democrat Lyndon B. Johnson — and decide for themselves who they want to hold the highest office in the land.

Two RIT students, Steve Rimer (Pr 4)

by Steven L. Rimer

Do you want to elect a president of the United States who, in addition to not receiving the full support of his own party, advocates, among other things, discrimination in hiring, voluntary Social Security, and that federal aid to education should be held to an extreme minimum? Well then, elect Goldwater!

If not, I believe it is the civic responsibility of every voter in the United States to take note of the current presidential campaign and elect Lyndon B. Johnson as President. Johnson is already a good president and therefore he deserves to remain in office. In the little over 11 months that he has served as President, I think he has undoubtedly shown the citizens of the United States and of the world that he is capable of being our chief executive.

After all, it must be remembered that he was elected vice president of the United States in 1960 and in a matter of a few hours on November 22, 1963 he became our President.

In addition to looking at the qualifications of President Johnson, a careful investigation should be conducted to see if Goldwater has any qualifications other than those prescribed by the Constitution. He is a natural born citizen over the minimum age of 35 years. Goldwater has resided in the United States for 14 years. Consequently, he does meet with those qualifications, but where else does he qualify? How can you expect a man to become a good president who in 11 years as a senator is, in my opinion, far from being a good senator?

I'm still looking for a piece of sensible legislation that he has initiated. They are pretty few and far between. Every time this man opens his mouth he says something contradictory to what he said the day before. I don't think he knows what he is doing!

It is difficult for me to comprehend that there are people who feel he is qualified enough to become our next president.

Remember, weigh all considerations carefully and you will see, as I do, that Lyndon B. Johnson is the only man for us to elect to the office of President at this time.

* * *

by Henry Kuhn

How does Barry Goldwater agree with you and with Henry Kuhn?

Yes, this is the major question, "How does your candidate support you and your ideas?"

Foreign Policy

Do you want the United States to be pushed around? I do not. Here Barry Goldwater agrees with me. His policies and philosophy agree with me. I want no and Henry Kuhn (Pr 4), have done this and have come out strongly in favor of one or the other of the candidates. The Reporter has asked them to submit for publication the reasons they feel that their candidate should be elected President of the United States.

Kuhn is president of the Young Republican Club at RIT and Rimer holds the same office in the Young Democrats.

more than what is mine—for me—for my family—for my associates for my country. A free and undivided Germany is mine—not because I say so but because Russia and the other world powers agree to it. A free and uncontrolled Cuba is mine because the Western Hemisphere and the rest of the world acknowledged the Monroe Doctrine. Outmoded you say—is the constitution obsolete? the Bill of Rights? the Declaration of Independence? —are these too outmoded and obsolete? To me they guarantee my rights today as they did those in young America.

Rimer

Kuhn

A free Viet Nam is mine too. I promised freedom to those people when my country signed a pact with them. Also my freedom depends on their freedom. The more free people there are today the safer my freedom is. Viet Nam is close to me—only a few hours by jet, minutes by rocket, seconds by phone. These people are my kind of people. They love freedom as I love freedom, I have agreed to help them keep theirs if they would help me keep mine.

Freedom is valuable. Many lives have been given for my freedom and I will give mine for the freedom of my children if I must.

Our pacts with other countries will mean nothing if this pact means nothing. Have we become a chicken-hearted America with pacts that mean as much to us as those Russia makes mean to her?

I too, love a free peace and so does Goldwater, I am sure. Russia too wants peace. Every year she gains more land. She needs no war. We stood up to her in the Cuban Crisis and she listened. We must remember, however, there comes a time when war is the lesser evil for which we must be prepared. There will be no Alamo, no Maine, no Pearl Harbor. There is only the sly whisper that says we will sacrifice one half the world for the other to be communistic. What are you, the American, willing to do, to pay, to give. Freedom is expensive.

Johnson also wants freedom but fails to stand up for it.

Foreign Aid

Do you feel that one billion dollars should be given to Tito? $25 per tax paying family. I do not want to give enemies my money nor does Goldwater. Do you believe that friends can be bought instead of helped? Technical assistance, private industry investment, training and education would seem to make better, more permanent friends.

I would—build an economically sound market for our products to be used and enjoyed by our friends. Bolivia gets foreign aid from the U.S. and subsidizes gasoline. Gas sells in Bolivia for less than it costs. Only about one per cent of the people in Bolivia have cars and the roads are poor to non-existent.

I am for controlled foreign aid which builds up a country and does not make it a parasite. I even prefer private investment which helps the people of our own country as it helps the people of the foreign nations. No one else is thinking about the good old U.S.A. so we had better start.

The United Nations

I support the U.N. in theory and in principle. So does Goldwater. The ideas upon which it was founded are not those on which it is operated. Do you feel that the U.S. should foot the bill for Russia? Should Russia have four votes instead of one as does the U.S.? If each state is separate in Russia, then the U.S. should have 50 votes. The U.S. must be returned to the straight and narrow path.

Domestic Policy

Should money be taken from those who produce and work and be given to those who refuse to work and add to our country's economy? Training—yes, education—yes, but parasites? Why is there such a guilt complex in the U.S. that we must ask the government to make up for the wrongs that each of us has imposed upon our neighbors. Have we become a country looking for handouts from the government? If 15 per cent of the people were dropped out of the Social Security program, I have been told, the program would be in the red in no time flat. Why should 15 per cent of the people pay the living expenses of those who do not produce? Are you part of that 15 per cent? What happened to the country of people who planned and took care of themselves?

Does the government know you well enough to tell you when to save, how much to save, when to get it back, how much at a time you should get back? I can make more on interest in the bank and have the money when I want it.

Who is to say Uncle Sam knows me better than I do?

Does Goldwater agree with you? If so — think for yourself and support him.

Miller Visits Rochester; Whistlestops Thru State

RIT students had a chance to hear the Republican vice presidential candidate, William E. Miller, when he made a whistle stop speech here Saturday, Oct. 24.

From a platform at the New York Central Railroad station, Miller spoke to a crowd of about 300 persons. He got enthusiastic response from the crowd at almost every pause.

The candidate started by boosting the two Republican incumbents, Senator Kenneth Keating and Congressman Frank Horton.

Miller's 40-minute speech was highlighted by what he called the major issue of the campaign — "Character versus corruption." "You can't expect young people to have respect for law and order when they see corruption covered up in the highest councils of government," he said.

The Lockport congressman cited as an example of this the fact that President Johnson tried recently to cover up his association with Bobby Baker by claiming that he barely knew the man. Miller quoted from a 1957 senate speech in which Johnson referred to Baker as the "top member of the Senate staff" and as "the last person I see at night and the first person I see in the morning."

Miller gave a rundown of what he termed administration failures over the last four years and ended up by saying, "and now we have Bobby Baker, Billie Sol Estes, and Walter Jenkins."

The crowd reacted with a "We want Barry" chant.

Miller pointed out that Norman Thomas, head of the Socialist Party, is campaigning for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket. "No wonder we don't hear any more about extremists," he said.

The remainder of his speech was devoted to Goldwater's foreign policy. Miller claimed "the war in South Viet Nam is never going to be ended and is never going to be won until Barry Goldwater is elected."

He wound up with reference to Walter Jenkins and contended that "no man can say definitely that there had been no security leak."

"The American people would still like to hear from the President himself the complete story of the Walter Jenkins episode," he declared.

Spring Vacation Proposed; Cigarette Issue Rises Again

At the October 22 meeting of Student Senate, Steven L. Rimer, outspoken proponent of students' rights, presented two resolutions that would have immediate and far reaching effects on the entire student body at the Institute.

Both resolutions took the form of recommendations to administration. The first concerned spring vacation. The present school calendar does not provide for such a respite between the winter and spring quarters. Last year's student council managed to work with the administration to schedule a vacation period in the spring and it is hoped that a similar arrangement may be made this year. The holidays would extend for ten days and include March 24, 25, and 26. Classes would be made up on the three following Saturdays: April 3, 10, and 17. There was a considerable amount of debate concerning these Saturday make-up classes. Some senators felt that the vacation should be free and clear without the Saturday classes. Others pointed out the fact that the administration probably would not even consider the proposal if the classes were not made up. Thus the motion passed 19 to 5 to present to the administration the vacation plan with Saturday classes.

The second resolution brought up by Rimer was similar to a motion passed last year after the cigarette machines were removed from the Institute buildings. The arguments for this resolution — to ask the administration to return the machines to campus, are based on the theory that the students are mature, thinking citizens who have the right to decide for themselves if smoking is to be part of their lives. Further, the removal of the machines has created a great inconvenience for those already addicted to the habit and their return would not induce people to smoke. This passed 22 to 2.

Dr. Leo F. Smith, vice president of Academic Administration, when questioned by the Reporter stated that the resolution concerning spring vacation would be given every consideration by the administration. He went on to say that his office would first contact the various deans and department heads to obtain their views on last year's experiment in the spring vacation field. Although everything will be done to give the proposal a fair hearing, Dr. Smith pointed out that the spring quarter is already short due to two national holidays and that some schools in the Institute already have regular Saturday classes.

On the question of returning the cigarettes to campus, Vice President Alfred L. Davis told the Reporter that all resolutions sent to the administration from Senate are highly respected and the cigarette sale recommendation will receive their fullest attention.

Senator Humphrey Delivers Speech At War Memorial

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey delivered a major political speech on Oct. 22, just two short blocks from RIT. He spoke on the steps of the War Memorial in his bid for the office of vice president of the U.S. on the Democratic ticket.

A crowd estimated at 2,500 persons, many of them RIT students, were on hand to give the senator a warm welcome on the chilly day. An off-key guitar playing singer sang political songs to keep the audience entertained while waiting for Humphrey to appear.

Humphrey, showing signs of fatigue from the long, hard campaign, first spoke out for the election of local Democratic candidates to office. He especially mentioned Robert Kennedy, who is making a bid for the senatorial seat now held by his opponent, Rochester's Kenneth Keating.

It was not until the second half of his speech that Humphrey got down to seriously attacking the Republican candidate for the highest office in the land, Senator Barry M. Goldwater. He maintained Goldwater to be a radical, pure and simple. "By every standard of American life, Senator Goldwater is a radical — and he preaches and practices the doctrine of radicalism," he said.

He then told his audience what GOP leaders Nixon, Rockefeller, and Scranton had said condemning Goldwater before the Republican Convention in San Francisco. "Gov. Scranton termed Goldwater's view 'a weird parody of Republicanism.'"

Humphrey quoted the words of President Johnson shortly after the assassination of President Kennedy. "Let us put an end to the teaching and the preaching of hate and evil and violence. Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream."

The senator ended his speech by calling for the election of Lyndon B. Johnson as President of the United States next Tuesday.

Cheryl Mihills, Sigma Pi 1963-64 Harvest Moon Queen, will crown her successor at the Harvest Moon Ball next week.

Play Proves Success; Acting Termed Fine

A unique event took place Friday evening in the RIT gym. No, the basketball team didn't win over a strong opponent. In fact, the gym didn't even resemble a sports arena, but took on the more cultured air of a theater in the round.

Responsible for this transformation to thespian interests was a dedicated group of individuals who have proved that even under the most difficult conditions, "the play is the thing" and that. RIT has the talent, creativity, and imagination to present live theater to those seeking a respite from TV and celluloid entertainment.

See How They Run, a comic farce by Phillip King, was an excellent choice for this first production on the RIT campus over a long period of years. As the first official event of Homecoming Weekend, the light comedy established a perfect mood for subsequent activities. The audience, alumni, parents, and students, received the play and the players with warm applause and genuine laughter.

Marian DaBoll, who filled in for Connie Durant in the role of Ida, the maid, and also directed the play, must be congratulated for her fine direction and excellent characterization. Nancy Cole, as Miss Skillon, the love-starved old maid, was great, although a hint of Rochester twang was evident in her laboriously developed British accent.

Barry Nielson as the Rev. Lionel Toop evoked a grin whenever he appeared on stage. His doting manner and superb delivery of lines made one wonder if Barry wasn't really a vicar. Harvey Greenberg played the Rev. Toop's wife's old flame and reminded us of a very young Bob Cummings. The other players did credible jobs in the creation of their characters, but it was James Francis as the bashful Rev. Humphrey who had the best lines and walked off with scene after scene.

In addition to the laurels given above, the entire cast and production staff must be congratulated on the polished, professional presentation. Dick Neidich, who designed and built the set, deserves praise, for each night at rehearsal he would patiently erect the set and afterward carefully take it down so the gym could be used for other activities.

It is hoped that this first production will inspire these talented students to present another play.

Sigma Pi's Fall Weekend Premieres Next Friday

Sigma Pi fraternity will present its annual "Fall Weekend" next week. Highlight of the weekend will be the Harvest Moon Ball on Saturday evening in the main ballroom of the Powers Hotel. At that time the Harvest Moon Queen will be selected from among four candidates.

Candidates are Karen Walker, sponsored by Phi Kappa Tau fraternity; Lorrie Catallo, sponsored by Theta Xi fraternity; Janet Blake, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega fraternity; Carmen Spofford, sponsored by Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. The winner will be crowned by Mrs. Cheryl Mihills, last year's Harvest Moon Queen.

The weekend will commence on Friday evening with the "Korn Ball" at the RIT gym. This is a combination beer party and gala costume party. Dancing will be to the music of Dick Allen and the Vistas, well-known recording artists.

On Saturday evening the Harvest Moon Ball, a semi-formal, will be held at the Powers Hotel with dancing to the music of Vic Plati and his band.

Sunday afternoon the weekend will come to a close with the "Autumn Afterglow," a cocktail party and dance at the Westminster Park Inn. Music will be provided by the Vic Plati sextet.

'Operation Spirit RIT' Launched At Lettermen's Kickoff Banquet

"Every person at RIT should be able to hear the words spoken here tonight. I wish they could have been taped and played through dorms and through the streets so that all of RIT could be gripped by this revival of spirit. Operation Spirit is the greatest thing that has come to RIT!

These words, spoken with deep emotion by George Glamack, assistant basketball coach, signify the reaction of every soul present at the annual Kickoff Banquet of the Lettermen's Club, after hearing Vernon R. Titus deliver a moving and stirring speech on the new birth of spirit at RIT.

The banquet, held on Thursday, Oct. 22, in the Pioneer Room of Nathaniel Rochester Hall, was held by the Club to build enthusiasm for RIT's athletic program.

Club president, Douglas Drake, introduced Titus, who is Director of the Division of Management of the Evening College and Chairman of the Athletic Committee. He opened his speech by saying that he has been with RIT for 19 years and has held great interest in sports as an excited and sometimes frustrated spectator, as an official, and as a member of the Athletic Committee.

"Operation Spirit is a wonderful thing," he said. "It has tremendous possibilities."

"What is school spirit?" he asked. "How do you get it? How do you promote it? How do you keep it once you believe you have it? Tough questions, aren't they? The answers are not simple.

"Webster says, 'spirit is a vigorous sense of membership in a group.' Notice then that spirit is a feeling — an emotional response. Since it is emotional in nature, spirit must be fed by such stimuli as will bring the appropriate response desired. Notice too, that the kind of spirit we are talking about is positive in nature. We know what people mean when we hear 'team' or 'school' spirit. Therefore the kind of stimuli we are talking about are those which produce pleasant or rewarding responses or experiences.

"What then are some of the ingredients which when fed into the stimulus-response program will tend to produce spirit of a pleasant and positive nature? What can you do as an athlete to promote school spirit?

"1. Win games and contests. Spirit is easy to promote if you have winning teams. But winning doesn't come easy and is difficult to achieve. You must pay the price, which is dedication, hard work, self-denial, isolation, positive thinking, a willingness to listen and to learn, extreme concentration, cooperation with team mates and coaches, belief in yourself and your team, and control of yourself. With this you can promote winners.

"2. Take pride in yourself and your educational institution. You must believe in what your institution is trying to accomplish. It is hard to promote spirit if you are not loyal to your school.

"3. Be willing to be of help, whatever the task may be.

"4. Take pride in being an athlete. An athlete is a tremendous individual. You must observe training rules and stay in shape.

You must live and think like an athlete while keeping in mind your educational objectives and staying eligible. Don't let yourself and teammates down by getting into academic trouble.

"5. Think positive. For over 100 years it was said that RIT would never grant degrees. But positive thinking led to the eventual granting of them. When the ice rink was built it was said that RIT would never play intercollegiate hockey. Today, through positive thinking we have one of the best hockey teams in America.

"6. Keep in mind a sense of the history and tradition of your institution. RIT has an overall winning record in sports. We have had many great teams.

"7. Keep a sense of progress. A few years back RIT had a basketball team with a 17-0 record. This will come again but it takes time to bring about. It takes leadership more than anything else. Leadership must come from the students and players.

"It is very appropriate and timely that we think about 1967. Make no mistake about it, RIT is on the move. The athletic plans for the new campus are sensational. They range from bowling alleys to swimming pools. You know the slogan for the new campus fund drive, 'Reinvest for Tomorrow'. What do you individually have to invest?

"1. A willingness to participate in sports. To get out there and play!

"2. A willingness to encourage others to do so.

"3. A willingness to talk positively about RIT — its programs and policies.

"What do you collectively have to invest?

"1. A willingness to help promote the Tech Basketball Tourney which comes up the first part of December. It has been moved up from the holidays so that we can fill the gym with students.

"2. A willingness to exert leadership. Now is the time to lay the foundation to get the job done that we want done. Let's start now!"

Miss Janet Prock, founder of Operation Spirit and Women's Athletic Director, then made a short speech in which she gave her recipe for spirit.

"S," she said, "stands for students, RIT students, who, along with the faculty and administration, are needed to initiate spirit.

"P stands for participants in Operation Spirit and in athletic events. Spirit works in a circle as it is transferred from the cheerleaders to the students to the players and then back to the cheerleaders.

"I stands for integrity of the RIT students.

"RIT stands for Rochester Institute of Technology which is the best school in the country."

Earl Fuller, varsity wrestling coach, spoke and said he hopes Miss Prock's enthusiasm is transferred to all the rest of RIT and that "her cup runneth over." He called for the students to get behind her in this Operation Spirit and make it something we have never seen before at the Institute.

President Reports Institute's Growth

Dr. Mark Ellingson recently announced a record high growth in total Institute assets in his annual report to the Board of Trustees.

Institute assets have climbed to a new high of $34,684,012 during the past fiscal year, showing an increase of $1,344,965 over the previous year's total of $33,339,047. RIT's endowment also reached a new high of $16,539,129 as compared to last year's figure of $16,064,794. The figures are for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964.

The Institute's total budget for 1963-64 was $6,242,791 of which $5,277,526 was for operating expenses with an additional $965,265 expended for operation of the Institute's food services, bookstore, and auxiliary expenses. RIT operated on a balanced budget for the 27th consecutive year.

Total enrollment figures for '63-'64 were announced with a grand total reported of 10,417 students enrolled last year — a new Institute high. Some 2,606 attended day school courses, with 7,811 attending Evening College and summer courses. The day school enrollment figure is composed of about 77 per cent from New York state with the remaining 23 per cent from 38 other states and 16 foreign countries.

Looking ahead to the newly begun academic year of 1964-65, Dr. Ellingson told the Board that approximately 975 freshmen and transfer students began classes in September, bringing the overall Institute day school enrollment figure to about 2,744, a new record high.

He also indicated an anticipated continual growth in the Evening College with approximately 8,500 adults expected to attend classes at RIT this year.

Business College Promotes Green

Howard C. Green, 2228 Hudson Ave., has been promoted from instructor to assistant professor in the College of Business.

Green has been on a year's leave of absence from the Institute to study for his master of science degree in institutional management which he received this summer from Michigan State University.

He was awarded his bachelor of science degree from RIT in 1960. He is a member of the Rochester Food Service Executives Association and the Genesee Dietetic Association.

U.S. Coast Guard Offers Fulfillment of Military Duty

College seniors or graduate students can fulfill their military obligation as officers in the U. S. Coast Guard, the active peacetime service. Qualified applicants will be notified of selection for officer candidate school before they enlist.

Classes convene in September and February at the Coast Guard Reserve Training Center in his-tonic Yorktown, Virginia. The carefully selected college graduates receive 17 weeks of intensive, highly specialized training. Successful applicants are tendered commissions as ensigns and serve on active duty for three years.

Coast Guard officers are paid at the same rate as officers of other branches of the Armed Forces and receive the same benefits. These include 30 days of annual leave as well as free medical and dental care. They also have an opportunity to qualify for flight training. Peacetime duties of the Coast Guard include law enforcement, search and rescue, oceanographic research, ocean station patrols, and the maintenance of many types of aids to navigation.

For further information on the U. S. Coast Guard Officer Candidate School, write: Commandant (PTP-2), U. S. Coast Guard Headquarters, 1300 "E" Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., 20226.

Britisher Visits Institute Observes School of Printing

William II. Pope of Twickerham College of Technology, England, visited the School of Printing last week. Connected with a competitive exchange program, he was here to observe the various methods used to teach printing students at RIT.

In England printers learn the trade by working as apprentices four days of the week and going to school one day. Pope pointed out the difficulties of such a program, that a student might be taught something he already knows and is using or may be taught methods that he won't be using for his employer for several weeks or months.

He cited the number of courses taught at Twickerham, Building, Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, and Printing, as being about the same in number as taught at RIT. He said that RIT is well known internationally and that he had read several articles about it in trade magazines in England, especially about the New Campus.

NRH 8th Floor Wins Skits-o-Froshia Contest

The eighth floor residents of Nathaniel Rochester Hall took top honors in the third annual Skits-o-Froshia, held Friday, Oct. 16, in the Ritter-Clark gymnasium.

They won over a field of eight entries which represented the freshmen of NRH and Kent Hall. Coeds from Kate Gleason and Perkins Halls were employed by the men to liven up the skits.

The 10th floor of NRH came in second and the third floor was third. Free movie passes were awarded to the best male and female actors.

An appreciative, yet at times impatient, crowd was on hand to see the program which was 15 minutes late getting started. It was held up throughout by technical difficulties.

The eighth floor's winning skit was introduced and narrated by Joe Evard, who noted that they had gone to the library in search of material for their skit and had run across some old films depicting RIT in the 1920's when it was known as Mechanic's Institute.

With the use of sound effects, music, and some admirable acting, the freshmen presented the different aspects of the Mechanics Institute as they paralleled the present RIT. They poked fun at the traffic jams, the housing situation, the late at night fire drills and the cafeteria service. They also presented to the audience their versions of the typical students of the different departments which make up RIT.

Bob Fischer, head resident of NRH, and Tony Puskarz, head resident of Kent Hall, were judges.

Third Educational Film Will Feature 'The City'

History, according to Lewis Mumford, has shown that cities thrive best when they live in harmony and balance with the countryside around them. The featured film in the third presentation in the current series of "Educational Film Previews" dealing with "The City" will examine the problem of how this balance can be maintained or restored in today's sprawling metropolitan regions.

The City and Its Region is one of six films based on Mumford's book "The City in History," which are included in the film previews which run through December 2. Part of the films' commentary is by Mumford, whose life-long study of the growth and decay of cities has made him internationally famous. The films were produced by the National Film Board of Canada.

The program to be shown on Wednesday, Nov. 4, includes a second film Brasilia, described as a glimpse of Brazil's new capital; a contemporary city planned for aesthetic beauty as well as functional need.

The program will be presented in Room M-219 of the Audiovisual Center at 50 Main Street West. Showings are scheduled at 12 noon and again at 3 p.m. (rather than at the usual 4 p.m.) The program is open to the general public as well as faculty, staff, and students. There is no admission charge.

"Educational Film Previews" are jointly sponsored by the Office of Educational Research and the Instructional Resources Laboratory and are presented through the cooperation of the Reynold Audiovisual Division of Rochester Public Library and the RIT Library.

Choraliers Under New Director; To 'Really Make Some Noise'

Dr. John A. White, a charming Englishman, has recently come to the Institute to direct the RIT Choraliers.

Nearly all of the group's 20 members are men and thus, there are openings for women. Dr. White would like to raise the number of feminine voices as well as recruit as many students as possible "to really make some noise."

The group will not specialize in their type of songs this season, but will have as great a variety as possible. Pianist Jack Wilson will be accompanist.

Dr. White has planned to construct a social program for members which will include dances, parties, etc.

For those interested, meetings will be at 6 p.m. every Monday at the Student Activities Center on Clarissa St. The time is designed especially to accommodate students on work block.

Cronin Is Named Purchasing Agent

John J. Cronin, 218 Simpson Rd., has been named purchasing agent for RIT. The appointment was announced by Robert H. Tollerton, business manager.

Cronin, who was awarded his bachelor of science degree from the University of Missouri, was associated with Consolidated Vacuum Corp. before joining RIT. Prior to that, he was in the purchasing department of General Dynamics Electronics,

Talisman To Show Halloween Thriller

The Talisman Film Festival will present a special Halloween double shock program Saturday, Oct. 31 in the Student Activities Center Little Theater at 7:10 and 9:50 p.m.

The movies, which are part of the Festival's series of significant films, are The Fall of the House of Usher and Alfred Hitchcock's Psycho.

Psycho, which was made in 1961 by the master of suspense and twisted endings, is a milestone in the director's career. Instead of a logical plot with a fantastic surprise at the ending, Psycho develops as a dream — a nightmare. As a film to watch on a cold Halloween night, tomorrow's feature is guaranteed to grow goosepimples on your goosepimples and send you home with the true spirit of this ghoulish season.

The short, which has been calculated to set the mood for Hitchcock's murder and madness, is an early experimental film made by James Sibley Watson in 1928. In this version of The Fall of the House of Usher, we are presented with an abstract, impressionistic view of the famous Poe story.

Consider how much cold water has been poured on the world's ideals through the spout of these words: "You can't change human nature."

Greeks Meet Freshmen

The first Greek Week is over and according to Dick Dacey, president of Interfraternity Council, "It was a great success."

The smokers held in Nathaniel Rochester Hall and Kent Hall were not well attended but gave interested men their first look at fraternity life. Introduced by Dacey, each president of the five chapters on campus gave a talk on one of the basic benefits that fraternal life has to offer its members.

These benefits ranged from social benefits to scholastic achievement. Socially, good parties are produced by a group effort. Yet this was referred to by Ron Mihills of Sigma Pi as being "the frosting on the cake." Greek men are at college for one main purpose, to learn. Inspired by his brothers, he maintains good marks and tries to raise them so that his fraternity will be on top scholastically as well as socially.

The house itself was referred to as a "home away from home." This is where the men live and eat. It serves as the social headquarters and focal point of all fraternity activities. The future at the new campus looks promising with a planned fraternity row around the corner from the sororities.

It was pointed out that the majority of leaders on campus are greeks. Services performed by members range from leading students to taking people to ball games who otherwise couldn't go.

A short slide presentation by each house ended the smokers.

A "Meet the Greeks in the RIT-skeller" program was set up to answer questions and explain more about the greeks. The most frequent questions were: "What is it going to cost me? What kind of marks do I have to have to rush?, How big are the fraternities on campus?, and what are the social events like?"

Open houses were held to meet the brothers and see what the houses are like.

The ten cent draft day at the Pastime provided a different atmosphere in which the freshmen could meet the brothers and talk about greek life.

The week's goals were accomplished according to Dacey. Freshmen who took advantage of the week's activities became better acquainted with the fraternal system and the advantages it offers.

Deadline Is Set For Symposium

An independent student magazine is being published on campus. You have seen one issue, published last Winter Quarter; this year the editors are attempting one issue per quarter. The lack of material submitted makes this a difficult undertaking.

Anyone interested in submitting photos, poetry, line art work, essays, or short stories for publication may contact Robert G. Koch, advisor, at M-100, Stephen Cooper, (Photo 3) Editor, or D. W. Michaud (Pr 1) Assistant Editor.

Deadline for submission of articles for the next issue is Oct. 31.

Pitchmen Win Two; Trounce Utica 9-0

The RIT Tigers scored their second win of the season last Tuesday by edging Roberts Wesleyan 2 - 1. The game was played on the North Chili campus.

The Tigers outshot Roberts in the first quarter of play but could not score. In the second quarter a Tiger error led to a penalty kick awarded to Roberts. They capitalized on this and scored. At halftime Roberts was on top 1 - 0.

The Tigers came out to even the score in the third quarter when Doug Mantegna scored from 30 yards out.

In the last quarter of play, the Tigers completely outplayed their opponents. Late in the quarter the Tigers were awarded a penalty kick which Rudy Siciliano promptly converted to give the Tigers ahead. From there 8 - 0 lead.

On the Tigers played a defensive game which gave them their bench second straight win.

The Tigers chose Homecoming Weekend to make it three in a record for most goals scored in row and trounced Utica College one game by a Tiger pitchman. 9 - 0.

The team wasted no time in getting on the scoreboard. With minutes gone in the first quarter, the field against Geneseo State Jorge Rivas scored to put the Minutes later Frank Ferruzza scored to give the Tigers a 2 - 0 lead.

During the second. quarter, Rivas scored his second goal to make it 3 - 0 for the Tigers. The Tigers then took to ball control which they kept until late in the quarter when Rivas scored his third goal and the first hat-trick of the season for the Tigers. At the end of the half the score stood RIT 4, Utica 0.

In the third quarter the Tigers broke loose for four tallies. Rudy Siciliano slipped past the Utica defense and scored the Tiger's fifth goal of the game. Minutes later Al Nazzaro broke afternoon. The Tigers were now loose for the sixth goal of the game. With seconds to go in the third quarter, Siciliano scored his second goal to give the Tigers an 8 - 0 lead.

In the fourth and final quarter, Coach Jim Dickie cleared the bench. With five minutes remaining in the game, Rivas scored his fourth goal and the first hat-trick of the season for the Tigers. The final score read RIT 9, Utica 0.

ONE FOR US — Al Nazzaro readies for goal against Utica last Saturday at the New Campus. (McCallister)

Athlete of the Week

Jorge Rivas

Jorge A. G. Rivas is a sophomore printer from south of the border "Down Mexico Way," where they learn to play soccer before they walk and we can be mighty glad of it.

So far this year, Jorge has boot-ed home seven goals, including four against Utica last Saturday which tied the school record for the most goals scored by one man in a single game. He scored twice against Potsdam in the season's first win and once against St. John Fisher in the opener. With four games remaining, Jorge has a good shot at the single season scoring record.

Rivas not only plays the game of soccer well but also can write about it and the soccer story on this page is a sample of this ability. Besides working on the Reporter staff, Jorge is an active brother in Theta Xi fraternity.

Harriers Drop Meet to RW

The powerful Roberts Wesleyan runners shut out the Tigers at the New Campus last Saturday and in doing so, posted their 19th straight victory in dual and triangular meets.

Herb Allenson of Roberts set a new course record of 23 minutes, 55 seconds around the 4.5 mile course.

The first Tiger to finish was Dan Gersey, in sixth. Harald Lorentzen, Fred Franks, James Hartsig, and Ron Sinack finished 9, 10, 11, and 12 to complete the scoring for the harriers.

The loss left Coach Bill Salmi's squad with a 2-7 record for the season. The team will compete tomorrow in the Canisius Invitational.

Smith Attends ACU Meeting

Dr. Leo F. Smith, Vice President of Academic Administration, recently attended the annual meeting of the Association of Colleges and Universities of New York State held at Union College. In attendance were college presidents, or their representatives, and members of the State Education Department.

Dr. Smith learned that president, Dr. Mark Ellingson, has served longer than any other college president in New York State.

Students gathered in groups in front of the dorms and as the torchlight parade passed, the members of each group joined in and together they marched through the streets of the campus to the bonfire.

There the mascot of the next day's opponent hung in effigy over a pile of lumber and as the students cheered, the fire was lit and the dummy disappeared among a shower of sparks. Several pretty cheerleaders clapped and jumped in perfect unison as they led the students in cheers. They were assisted by energetic yell leaders who moved back and forth in front of the crowd urging them to cheer just a little bit harder and louder.

A band struck up a tune and the students raised their voices to sing the school's fight song. As they finished the last verse, the students joined hands and circled the bonfire singing and cheering as the Victory Bell, as large as the Liberty Bell itself, rang out loud and clear across the campus. Sparks shot out of the bonfire in wildly dancing columns as firecrackers exploded in the bonfire.

Where did this scene take place this last weekend? Ohio State? Notre Dame? U.C.L.A.? The 2300 of you who for one reason or another weren't there Friday night might be interested to know that it happened right here at RIT.

Operation Spirit was begun and it was a success in itself, but it was also a failure in that not all the students participated in the festivities. It's too bad, but we're not crying. The 200 of us will continue to have a good time and support the teams that represent us. And by the way you are invited to join us. The only requirement is the desire to help generate a little school spirit and offer a little support to the men wearing our school's colors. Operation Spirit is just beginning and there is plenty of room for everyone.

HIGHLIGHTS

A few new events took place this weekend —

- (1 ) The new school colors are officially brown, orange, and white. The cheerleaders already have the new colors in their uniforms and the basketball team will be wearing new uniforms this winter.
- (2) The Victory Bell was purchased by the brothers of Alpha Phi Omega who drove all the way to Albany and back on Thursday night to have it here for the rally. Mr. Walls had seen it on a trip over that way and decided the school should have something like that so he persuaded the A Phi O's to buy it.
- (3) The fight song was written by a relative of Miss Prock's and is sung to the tune that is easy to learn. It's a cinch to catch on a little better than the seldom heard Alma Mater.

Due to some errors in calculations, the Football Questionnaire wasn't quite as big as originally planned. Therefore, we are making it a little bigger this week and wish that a few more of you will fill it out and leave it in one of the boxes provided in Nathaniel Rochester Hall, across from E-125, or in the basement of the Clark building outside the Reporter office.
