Clint Cook, Kathy McCormick selected Mr. Campus, Miss RIT by students

Earl C. Cook (Chem 5) was elected "Mr. Campus" for 1965-66 and Kathy McCormick (Ret 4), was chosen "Miss RIT". The announcement came Saturday evening of Spring Weekend during the formal dance at Midtown Plaza.

Both Cook and Miss McCormick recieved watches and a $100 gift certificate for clothes at Mc-Curdy's of Rochester. Susan Gray, last year's Miss RIT, and Brenda Erdle, were on hand to help present the awards.

During his years at RIT, Cook served as president of Theta Xi fraternity, president of Interfraternity Council, senator in Student Senate, member of Decem Jani, and a member of Alpha Sigma Lambda. Miss McCormick was honored earlier this year as Theta Xi's "Sweetheart." She has been president of Women's Residence Halls Association, vice president of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, a member of the Spring Weekend Committee, Alpha Sigma Lambda, and was selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Dr. Leo Smith announces three new professorships

Three faculty members at RIT have been elevated to the rank of full professor beginning July 1, according to an announcement by Dr. Leo F. Smith, vice president of academic administration.

They are Mrs. Frances Hamblin, College of General Studies, Albert D. Rickmers and Robert Bagby, both of the College of Graphic Arts and Photography.

Dr. Hamblin, who earned her bachelor degree from Wells College and her masters and doctorate from Brown University, began teaching philosophy at RIT in 1962 after several years at the University of Rochester. She is the wife of RIT's Director of Planning, F. Dow Hamblin, former city manager of Rochester.

Rickmers, who has taught in the School of Photography and quality control courses for the Evening College since 1955, is a graduate of Bloomsburg (Pa.) College and received his masters from St. Bonaventure.

Bagby, who also teaches photography, is a graduate of the Illinois College of Photography. He began teaching at the Institute in 1953 after several years in industry and with his own photographic business

Class standings being compiled for draft deferment classification

Class standings of all RIT men students will be computed at the close of the Spring Quarter. They will be reported by the Institute to draft boards for those students who will complete their school year on June 9, but only if the student himself requests it.

Students will have the opportunity to make this request on Wednesday, May 25, in Room E-125, which will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. for that pur-

The Institute will not report class standings of students who do not request that it be done, unless it receives a request for this information from the student's draft board; in which case such information will be sent, unless the student has specifically requested the Institute not to do

Students whose school year does not end until August will not have their grade reports sent to their draft boards until the end of the Summer Quarter.

TICKETS ON SALE FOR CONVOCATION LUNCH

A luncheon will be provided for graduates and their guests immediately following convocation exercises on June 11. Tickets are now on sale at the cashier's office in the Eastman Building. The price is $1.50 for each ticket.

The dinner will be held in the Ritter-Clark Memorial Building.

Phi Sigma Kappa captures Spring Weekend top honors

Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity walked off with first place honors in the Class A overall competition for Showboat, Spring Weekend '66. They tied for first place in the outdoor advertising competition with Theta Xi, and won first place in the carnival with their construction of the Gaslight Room of the Anna Belle Lee.

Second in the overall competition was Theta Xi fraternity, who tied Phi Sig for first in the outdoor display and failed to place in the carnival. Theta Xi, whose theme was "Natchez on

Hanson honored as outstanding senator

Donald Hanson (Elec 3) was awarded the "Outstanding Senator of the Year" award for 1965-66 last night at the Inauguration Banquet. He was selected for the honor by secret ballot at the May 5 meeting of Senate.

A senator for five quarters, recently reelected to a sixth term, Hanson has served as chairman of the Complaints Committee and as a member of the Executive Committee. He recently organized the Faculty-Student Relations Seminar and served as moderator of that event.

Alpha Xi Delta sorority took third place in the overall category with a second place in outdoor and a third place in the carnival. The sorority constructed a Showboat Villain for the outdoor display, and presented a melodrama in their carnival booth.

RING ORDERS TAKEN TODAY

A representative of the Metal Arts Co. will be in the lobby of the West Main Street building today to take new orders, and to distribute rings to the Class of '67. Students may pick up their rings starting at 9 a.m.

Alpha Sigma Lambda reinstated by Senate

Alpha Sigma Lambda, under suspension for not having a set of by-laws on file with the Director of Organizational Affairs, has been reinstated.

The honor fraternity won recognition from Student Senate by presenting a new constitution and by-laws. Earle Wootton ZPr 4), a member of ASL, was present at the May 5 meeting to answer questions.

Applications for membership may be picked up at the Student Union next week. To qualify for Alpha Sigma Lambda a student must be active in at least three distinctive activities, be in the upper third of his class, and hold high elective or appointive office for that office's total term. Students may also be nominated by means of a written letter to ASL. Nominees will then be contacted to fill out an application form.

All applications are to be returned to David Rylance, chairman of Alpha Sigma Lambda.

Protests mark Spring Weekend outdoor advertisement competition

In the midst of protests from civil rights groups and other individuals in the community, one of the outdoor advertisements for Spring Weekend '66 was modified and another was removed from its site.

The two displays, by Phi Sigma Kappa and Theta Xi fraternities, were particularly graphic in their portrayal of Negroes during the Showboat era, and protests were registered from a number of sources calling the displays "in bad taste" and typical of the stereotype image of the showboat for their display, and included a figure of a young Negro boy eating watermelon. The figure was removed from the display by the fraternity on May 11, returned for the judging on the following day, and removed again that evening.

Theta Xi fraternity depicted four Negro dock workers, three playing musical instruments and another fishing from the wharf. Their intent was to credit the Negro with the inception of jazz music during the showboat era. They removed their display in its entirety after the judging on Thursday evening, May 12. Dr. James B. Theta Xi fraternity then decided to remove their display even though they had the choice of leaving it up. According to TX's president, the action was taken as "a precautionary meas-ure" and "in the best interests of safety for the Institute, its students, and the general com-munity."

a fine weekend—almost

A weekend of mature and sophisticated events, Spring Weekend '66 gave RIT the sort of entertainment for which it can be proud. Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday morning and evening provided social activity of the highest order. The entire weekend was a smashing success-almost.

In a weekend that was tasteful and sophisticated, the concert on Sunday afternoon had some glaring qualities that made it noticeably out of step with the overall quality of the weekend.

RIT, in hitting the big time again in entertainment at the Eastman Theater, scored another "bomb." The presentation of the Ramsey Lewis Trio was less professional than our own amateur talent show on Friday afternoon. No discredit to Ramsey Lewis. On the contrary, his music was nothing short of sensational. It was the unprofessional presentation of quality entertainment that made 2,000 people shift uneasily in their seats for 45 minutes. It was the inexcusable delay, and the low-grade humor accompanying the assembly of a set of drums on stage that made RIT look incapable of professionalism and good taste.

This is the second time RIT has invited the public to the Eastman, and it is the second time the Institute has been embarrassed publicly as the audience waited impatiently for the show to begin. Perhaps the delay Sunday was unavoidable, but certainly the audience did not need to be humiliated by gag jokes from the audience while stage hands puttered about on the stage. The curtains should have been closed, and someone should have made an announcement in a mature manner that the show would be delayed. Even at 2:45, when the show finally did begin, not a word of apology or explanation was given.

If RIT cannot do a reasonably adequate job in presenting top talent, then it is time we put away our illusions, saving the Institute from public ridicule.

a dangerous minority

Last week two RIT fraternities complied, in effect, with the demands of our Negro neighbors and several civil rights groups. The outdoor advertisements constructed by these fraternities were protested because they included Negro figures from the Showboat era. (See story on page one.)

One fraternity removed the figure from their display and the other removed the display entirely, in what seemed a condescension to the dissenting groups. The question is not whether or not the fraternities "gave in" to the resistance; the real question involves the nature of the protest itself.

The majority of the people acquainted with the issue have voiced the opinion that there was nothing objectionable about the portrayal of Negroes during the Showboat Era. The displays were honest and straight-forward in their presentation of an historical period in American life.

That protests were registered about such an honest interpretation of our past seems sadly unfortunate; and even more so when RIT's displays were altered because of an oversensitive minority who would prefer not to face a fact about America's heritage, and hence, to deny its very existence.

The Reporter must agree with the fraternities on their decision-not as a condescension to the dissenting minority -but as a safety precaution against that very same minority who, in their short-sightedness would endanger the Institute, its students and the community.

Today I am ashamed to be a member of the RIT "family." As I walked the block from the Library parking lot to the Washington Street corner, and viewed the cliches you students had communicated, I found it hard to believe that college students today could have so revealed their own blindness, ignorance, and stupid-

Having lived through the last six years of racial turmoil, including riots in Rochester, and active demonstrations Negro Americans trying to call the attention of their white fellow citizens to the degradation these stereotypes have perpetuated for them, how could you fail to realize what a monumental insult you were raising right here in the Third Ward neighborhood, which you are still a part? Have you learned nothing? Do you ever think?

It is all too apparent to a "white liberal," whenever relations between whites and Negroes come into discussion, that many white people aren't able or willing to see why Negro Americans abhor the cliches of the happygo-lucky, irresponsible darkey, singing, plucking his banjo, and watermelon, and more like them, or the Old Southplantation — Mississippi Showboat culture-even the birth of the blues. But it is incredible that any group of responsible white college students could commit such cruelty in 1966. should be picketed and your idols smashed, and I hope they are.

An institution that has done immeasurable good for the betterment of relations in the Third Ward is throwing away all progress for the "fun" of a few students.

The theme of Showboat has been permitted under the guise of student freedom, or because of the institution's callous undiscontent in the neighborhood.

These displays only prove what the Negro believes: that regardless to the progress individual Negroes make in achieving the American Dream, the masses of Negroes are viewed as Showboat characters.

The predicted date for locating on RIT's new campus is 1967. This may well be the last Spring Festival put on display here in the city. We are sure that this is not the image of RIT that the administration wishes to perpetuate

OBSERVATIONS OF EXHIBITS

Dear Editor:

I feel compelled to make a few observations about some of the more controversial Spring Weekend exhibits.

I would begin by stating that the students involved in the creation of the river wharf scene and the stern of a paddle-wheeler are to be commended for their skill and ingenuity.

However, I am forced to add that at this juncture of American history the depiction of Negro slaves under such circumstances was inappropriate. Let us hope that it was not provocative. I doubt this myself.

Almost any caricature of the enslaved Negro outside of the brutal realities of slavery as it really existed not only distorts the facts of history, but tends to perpetuate a demeaning stereotype one that the American Negro desperately wants to leave behind. The notion that Negroes were (and still are) music - loving, watermelon - eating vagrants obscures, indeed harms, the contemporary Negro quest for justice and acceptance.

What is especially needed today is an informed sensitivity about the racial issue. Sociologists tell us that Negroes need a racial pride if ever they are to build a viable cultural future. Let us not remind them of their (and out) shame.

FRATERNITY MEMBERS DEFEND WEEKEND DISPLAYS Dear Editor:

The brothers of Theta Xi fraternity deeply regret the necessity for removing their outdoor advertising display from the RIT campus. Although the decision was left entirely to us by the administration, there was virtually no choice. We simply did what we had to do in consideration of the best interests of all concerned.

Our action was in no way an admittance that we were wrong in our approach for the "Showboat" theme. We do not believe our interpretation was in bad taste, and we feel only sympathy for those who were offended by an honest portrayal of their own cultural tradition.

We strongly believe in the principle behind our theme, and the removal of our outdoor display was solely a safety precaution. In this instance we felt a responsibility to place common sense above principle, and we committed ourselves to uphold the general welfare of other RIT students, the Institute, and the general community. The circumtance which caused us to take this action is, indeed, a sad commentary on our community.

HAVE STUDENTS ASKED?

Dear Editor:

It was with distress that I read the editorial in the May 6th issue of the Reporter entitled "The Halls of Ivy." I wonder if HWO and his sophomore friend have taken the time to really find out about the architecture on the new campus: or the amount of student planning and participation that has gone into all phases of the new campus.

The Institute has nationally recognized architects working on the design of the campus. Dan Kiley, site planner, has been responsible for such building projects such as Dulles International Airport and the Air Force Academy in Colorado. Harry Weese, responsible for the Library and

College of General Studies, and Kevin Roche, designer of the administration building, Student Union, gymnasium and College & Business were given special mention in the January 1966 issue of Fortune. These and the others working on the new campus are highly respected in their fields. We have put our faith in them and believe our new campus will not be sterile, or lack character and individuality; but rather will be a campus of which to be proud.

As for students not being allowed to help build the new campus . . . quite emphatically they were and still are playing important role in this phase of the campus. There has been a student on every planning committee established. In the earlier phases questionna i r e s were used. Students are still actively planning the Union facilities, but one must remember that the plans are made first. Many of you may not have been en-rolled in the school when the first student opinions were solicitated. Any plan must eventually be put to work and that is the stage we are in now. We are beyond the planning stage. Our dreams are (visible) in the steel and concrete which is evident on the site.

The administration is very anxto let the students know what is being planned. I am sure any department director or member of the faculty and staff would be glad to share with you all he knows - have you asked? I know the doors of my office are - you are welcome to come in and share my enthusiasm.

Incentive Fund campaign progresses

Nine five-man teams of Rochester area alumni started the first formal contact work on the Incentive Fund Campaign by placing 403 long distance telephone calls to alumni in sections of New York and surrounding states last month. Of the total calls, 298 were answered by alumni and 203 volunteered to personally contact

Co-chairmen of the Incentive Fund. Robert Flaherty and Alfred Vragel, commented after the long distance calls on the interest and willingness of those alumni contacted. "In the first attempt of anything like this we did not know how things would work out, and had expected a good return would be 50 per cent," they said, "but it was extremely gratifying to see that two out of every three contacted offered to help."

alumni in their immediate area.

James R. Carey and Glenn Curtis, director and assistant director, respectively, have been traveling to neighboring states to visit alumni and explain their role in the campaign effort. David S. Cook, of the Development staff, has visited New York State alumni in a similar fashion. When the staff visits are concluded, it is anticipated that the project will be brought to over 1,000 alumni who were unable to support the New Campus effort in 1964.

Pledges received by the campaigners will be matched on a two-for-three basis by an anonymous alum who has established a $200,000 Incentive Fund. If the entire fund is received, alumni of the Institute will have given over $1,000,000 toward the establishment of the new campus. The latest figures show the total alumni gift to be over $570,000.

Senate passes union constitution, by-laws; WITR suspension proposed

The College Union constitution and by-laws, which will govern the new campus Union building, were passed by Student Senate at the May 16 meeting.
Dr. James B. Campbell, vice president of Student Personnel Services, spoke briefly urging senators to pass the document. Tom Staab (Pr 2), chairman of the Union Planning Board, presented the constitution and by-laws which were ratified following one amendment.

Amended, the constitution grants Student Senate the right to ratify further amendments to the constitution through the Fall Quarter of 1966-67. After that period, Senate will have no control over the constitution. The College Union Board of Directors will answer to the Institute Board of Trustees.

The Union, whose purpose is to promote better recreational, social, cultural, and educational services for the college community, will have as its active memall full-time day students who have paid their active Union fee. The fee will be attached, with the Student Activities fee, to the first quarter tuition bill.

LeMoyne hands Tigers seventh loss, 3-1

Le Moyne handed RIT their seventh loss in nine outings Saturday at Genesee Valley. The 3-1 defeat spoiled a strong six-hit pitching performance by Greg Zimmer

The Tigers took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when leadoff man Rick Urquhart tripled and scored on a passed ball. A walk and two errors resulted in an unearned LeMoyne run in the fifth frame to tie the score.

The Dolph ns tallied the winning run in the eighth on a pair of walks and a single. A walk. an error, and a passed ball netted LeMoyne an insurance run in the ninth.

John Serth joined Urguhart with two each to pace RIT.

Catcher Vern Loveless suffered torn ligaments in his knee after blasting a triple in the fourth and trying to get back to third base.

who will be the 1966 outstanding athlete?

On Monday, May 23, RIT's athletic committee will hold the 1966 Annual Awards Dinner at Logan's. This year's dinner will feature as guest speaker Bob Feller, the former great pitcher of the Cleveland Indians. Awards will be presented to athletes who participated in intercollegiate sports, but the most important award will be the Outstanding Athlete Award.

The recipiant will be chosen by the athletic committee and it appears to be between four men. Basketball players Jim Robinson, Bob Finkler and John Serth, and wrestler John VanderVeen have the best shots at the award.

Robinson, a 6'2" forward from Dunellen, N. J., shot the basketball team to an 18-9 record. He netted a 21.2 scoring average to pace the varsity. He set two school marks during the previous campaign. The man totaled 529 points for 25 games, breaking Kenny Hale's record of 520 marks. Robinson also notched a new school mark for consecutive free throws, pouring in 33 straight from the foul line before missing in the Alfred game. Topping off the season he was named "Sophomore of the Year" by the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Bob Finkler and John Serth, playing under the shadow of Robinson, are stars. Finkler, a 6'3" center from Binghamton, was the most consistent shooter on the Tiger basketball team. The transfer from Broome Tech was a strong, rugged rebounder for Coach Lou Alexander Jr. With big men such as Robinson and Serth on the team getting the "headlines," it is not easy to overlook a guy like Finkler. He, if anyone, was the man responsible for the 18-9 record because of one tremendous trait—he was consistent.

John "Stache" Serth is the man that rises to the occassion—the man who thrives on pressure. In the big games the 6'2" forward was always the high scorer. If anybody was inspirational to the team and picked them up when they needed it the most, it was "Stache."

John VanderVeen, assistant captain of the wrestling team, had a 10-2-1 record the past season. The Glen Aubry denizen won two matches and lost one in the 4I tournament. Picked by Coach Earl Fuller as the wrestler who should be outstanding, VanderVeen fulfilled the role. He bounced back from an injury plagued season record of 5-6-2 in 1964-65. One cannot doubt that he had an outstanding record this year.

U of R lacrosse team downs tigers 5-3

The University of Rochester defeated RIT 5 - 3 in overtime May 3 in a lacrosse game at Genesee Valley Park. This marked the third straight defeat suffered by the Tigers in the current season. Their record now stands at 2 - 3.

U of R led most of the game until late in the fourth quarter when the Tigers managed to tie the game, but they were unable to equal U of R's two overtime goals.

Scoring for the Tigers were Bill Linthicum with two goals and Bruce O'Palka with one.

Tigers compete with Brockport, Oswego teams

by James High

On May 10, the varsity track team competed against strong teams from Brockport and Oswego. Point scores proved that Brockport was best with 113 1-2, RIT second with 48, and Oswego third with a score of 19 1-2.

third with a score of 19 1-2.

There was only one double winner for the Tigers. Walt Wilcox, beside taking first places in the 120 high hurdles and the 440 intermediate hurdles, set school records in both events. In the highs, Wilcox erased the old record of 17.1 and established a new one of 16.5 seconds. The new record for the 440 intermediate hurdles that Wilcox established was almost two seconds faster than the previous one. He ran the event in a time of 60.0.

In other events, Wilcox placed third in the 100-yd. dash and the broad jump and ran the first leg of the 440 relay.

Chuck Bennett took a third place in the high hurdles and placed fourth in the intermediates. The field events gave Bennett fourths in the broad jump and the triple jump.

In the last event of the meet the mile relay team of Bill Fretz, Dick Poole, George Southworth, and Jack Campbell ran in hopes of breaking the school record of 3:34.0. Though the team did not establish a new record they did place first in the event winning by about 100 yards.

Bob Feller to speak at sports awards banquet

Bob Feller, one of the greatest pitchers in the history of baseball, will be guest speaker at the annual Athletic Awards dinner Monday, May 23, at 7 p.m. at Logan's Restaurant.

Born on an Iowa farm in 1918, Feller signed with the Cleveland Indians at the age of 17. He went

Tigers lose sixth consecutive game

RIT dropped a 9-1 contest to powerful Hartwick College on May 6 at Hartwick. Pitcher Bill Beardsley turned in a brilliant effort to send the Tigers to their sixth consecutive loss.

Beardsley yielded only two hits and struck nine Tiger swingers. The lone RIT run came in the second when singles by Mike Krembel, Vern Loveless, a walk, and an error ruined Beardsley's bid for a shutout.

on to win 266 major league games despite four peak years out for World War II service.

Before retiring in 1957, "Rapid Robert" pitched three no-hitters and 11 one-hitters. With his blazing fastball and sweeping curve, he won 20 or more games in six different seasons. He won 27 games in 1940, struck out 18 men in one game, and fanned 348 batters in one season.

Feller was a near-unanimous selection to the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1962, the first year he was eligible for the honor.

Awards for outstanding athletic achievement at RIT will be presented at the banquet, in addition to vareity and freshmen letters.

Baseball team wins second game

RIT recorded their second straight win by outlasting Buffalo State 10-9 Wednesday, May 11, at Genesee Valley Park. Rick Urquhart's single drove in Jay Weatherby in the 10th inning for the victory.

Gene Church, who took the mound in the fifth inning, collected his first win of the season. Church held the Orangemen to two runs over the last six innings.

Capt. John Serth was the big man in the Tiger triumph. He rapped out a double and two singles to pace RIT's 12-hit offense.

The victory was the first on home soil for Coach Bruce Proper's nine.

Track team wins triangular meet

by James High

The varsity track team won its third and fourth victories in a triangular meet against Niagara University and Canisius College on May 14. The score was RIT 110, Niagara 29, and Canisius 17. This makes the Tigers' win-loss record 4 and 1.

RIT's Walt Wilcox outscored the Canisius team single-handedly by taking three first places in the meet, plus a fourth in the broad jump and running on the 440 relay. Wilcx's firsts came in the 100 and 200-yd. dashes and the 120-yd. high hurdles.

The only school record to fall was that of the mile run. The new record is 4:47.6, set by Bill Fretz, who took second in the event. This time takes 5.2 off the old record of 4:52.8 set by Jim High during the indoor season. Fretz also placed second in the 880-3yd. run.

Chuck Bennett took honors in the triple jump with a total distance of 40 feet and ½ inch. He placed second in the 440 intermediate hurdles and the broad jump.

Other first places were taken in the 440 by Pete Kozowyk, in the two-mile run by Fred Franke, in the discus by Joe Frank in the broad jump by Pete Basti, and in the pole vault by Vic Bedzyk. Added to these were first places by the 440 retay team (Wilcox, Dick Hennip, Bob Lauterbach, and Leo Derkowski) and the mile relay team (Pete Kozowyk, George Southworth, Jack Campbell, and Dick Poole).

Other Tigers who scored included High, with a second in the two-mile and thirds in the mile and 880, Lynn Fuller, with seconds in the shot put and discus, Mike DiToro, third in the shot and discus, Bob Franzen, third in the intermediate hurdles and fourth in the highs, Southworth, second in the 440, Hennip, second in the 220, and Ron Sorochin, second in the high jump at a height of 5' 9" to establish a new frosh record for the event,
