14 July 2008

Congratulations to Sam Brown (Professional & Technical Communication, 2008) who recently accepted and began full-time professional responsibilities as a Technical Writer at Medmark, Inc., located just outside of Pittsburgh, PA. Sam writes: “In my work I create training documents, release notes, and online help files for the proprietary software on which Medmark and other Walgreens specialty pharmacies rely to conduct business. Adjusting to this new job has been very easy for me, for which I must give credit to the education I received in the department.”
