13 August 2008

Dana Marlowe, a 1998 Professional & Technical Communication alumna, is in the news for her work with TecAccess LLC where, as she puts it, “disability advocacy converges with technology.” Dana is pictured on the cover of the 11 August 2008 issue of Washington Technology magazine for the story about “2008 Rising Stars.” Read the story here: http://www.washingtontechnology.com/print/23_13/33288-1.html

Thanks to Communication & Media Technologies graduate Mike Saffran for pointing this out to us.
