

Exciting Career-Focused Summer Program Offered for High School Juniors who are Deaf or Hard of Hearing

May 5, 2003

The National Technical Institute for the Deaf at Rochester Institute of Technology is offering a summer program that gives deaf or hard-of-hearing high school juniors the opportunity to experience college life, and try out aspects of technical and professional careers that will help them focus on career possibilities.

The Explore Your Future (EYF) Program is a week-long program designed to help high school juniors who are deaf or hard of hearing plan for life after high school and will offer two sessions, one starting July 19 and one July 26. Parents are invited to attend a workshop that will offer tips to help parents prepare their student for college.

For an application or more information, contact the EYF Program at 585-475-2087 (voice/TTY) or e-mail at ambnes@rit.edu. Application deadline is June 1.
