Recently we heard from two Professional & Technical Communication (PTC) alums who accepted new professional positions.

Rich Hutchins (PTC '93) is Senior Systems Analyst at Frontier supporting the internal customer relationship management software as well as the public-facing shopfrontier.com site. Rich is responsible for working with various business units within the company to understand what they want the software to do and then documenting software requirements.

Brandon Borgna (PTC '06), also an RIT MBA graduate, began his position as Communications Manager with the American Trucking Association in Arlington, VA.
