Michael Conti, the News Editor for Reporter magazine and a second year photojournalism student, invites Department of Communication students to become writers and reporters for the magazine. He's especially interested in recruiting investigative journalists. And he invites you to attend the Friday afternoon 5 p.m. meetings of the Reporter staff. The meetings take place in the Reporter office, basement of the SAU, across the hall from the model train club.

Publications in the Reporter, of course, should be understood as a valuable component of your professional portfolio.
