

Summer Job Will Earn You Four Credit Hours

Bruce A. Austin baagll@rit.edu

21 May 2009

The College Driver, a company in the RIT Student Business Lab (Simone Center) seeks students with web programming experience to help build a car review website this summer.

The successful applicants will write at least four articles a week on such topics as new automotive technologies and automotive spy shots. Students will occasionally be asked to drive vehicles and write reviews of them.

The nonpaying position offers 4 credit hours that may be used as a business minor or as a free elective. To qualify for the position, students must be already enrolled for RIT summer quarter and must be willing to meet with Business Professor Richard DeMartino one hour a week for lecture. Professor DeMartino will have to hand register interested applicants (rdemartino@cob.rit.edu).

For more information write or call Corey Mack: cbm6197@rit.edu or 336-549-5586

For a link to the course description go to:
<http://register.rit.edu/courseSchedule/0102545>