The text that is being produced as the presentation. We use the abbreviation system and it has been in use for about 10 years, and the automatic speech recognition. Both provide real-time display of the text.